Saturday, Sept. 25; Zodiac sign: Libra. Saturn now is an evening star. It is at opposition to the Sun (180 deg.) and therefore at its greatest brilliancy—slightly more brilliant than a standard first-magnitude star. It may be identified by its color, which is a murky red.

ONCE UPON SEPT. 25TH
It has been this column's recurrent theme that American school historians have ignorantly paid too much attention to politicians and generals, and too much attention to politicians and generals, and too little to the men who have had the most effect upon American life.

What school history, for instance, mentions the name of William Le-Baron Jenney, who was born Sept. 25, 1822, at Fairhaven Mass. Jenney was the engineer who, among other things, invented the skyscraper. In 1883 he invented for the Home Insurance office building in Chicago steel skeleton construction, providing for each story—walls, partitions and floors, to be carried independently on the columns. This and the elevator, took the limitations of old buildings heights, and gave America its first distinctive architecture. It brought about larger cities, apartment life and a whole chain of social and economic consequences.

What Do You Know About North Carolina? By FRED H. MAY

- 1. How many wives of Confederate veterans are on North Carolina's pension rolls?
2. How many years did Virginia prohibit North Carolina tobacco from being shipped from her ports?
3. Why was strong fight made in 1835 on changing the legislature from annual to biennial sessions?
4. How many places were courts held in North Carolina in 1786?
5. What North Carolina preacher became superintendent of public instruction for California?
6. What governor reported a log house was to be built in which to confine him?

ANSWERS

- 1. The estimates of the State budget commission for this fiscal year are 2,521. The total number for last year was 2,628.
2. Fifty-two years, from 1670 to 1731. North Carolina did not have any ports that would accommodate ships engaged in foreign trade. Through an embargo on North Carolina tobacco, Virginia hoped to capture the business that might come to North Carolina. The embargo was removed by the Crown in 1731.
3. One claim was advanced that the annual sessions were needed to keep the National government in check and to protect State rights. Another was that North Carolina had no public schools and for this reason the annual sessions were needed as a clearing house for public information.
4. Seven—Halifax, New Bern, Wilmington, Edenton, Hillsboro, Salisbury and Morganton.
5. Oscar, Penn Fitzgerald, born in 1829 in North Carolina, became Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State of California in 1837 and served four years. In 1890 he was selected Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, South. Died 1911.
6. Thomas Miller, deputy governor under Thomas Eastchurch, in an affidavit, January 31, 1879, sent to London authorities, declared that "parliament" had been held in the colony at which it was decreed to build a Loghouse 10 to 11 feet square to inclose ye deponent and to keep him from pen, ink and paper and all accessories of friends."
