SEPTEMBER BEACH.

Where the beach stretch sunny
and alive
with people, and the salts blew past
the reef.
The sound perturbs the water's booming drive
from the coast. Lonely beyond belief the blue shells broken at the flood-tide's mark.
The crisp weed and the driftwood
white with rime,
the drip of surf upon the rock, the dark
under cloud, the gulls hat
stroke and climb
the summer, and wind furious up
the land.
How long, I must not think, feeling
the frost
already, and the winter's icy hand,
before what has been once and now
is lost
to mine again, seeing salt on the arm
from the last time, and sand poured from the palm.

Ruth Lois Simons.

Miss Ann Rose Had Birthday Party

Miss Ann Rose entertained a number of her friends yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Rose, Jr., on Garnett street, celebrating her eleventh birthday.

Bingo was played, and moving pictures were enjoyed. There was a fortune teller who told some of the children's fortunes.

Ice cream, little individual cakes, nuts and mints were served to about sixty guests.

Meeting Friday of Vance C. E. Union

The Vance County Christian Endeavor Union held a meeting Friday evening at the Congregational Christian church. Three of the four churches were represented. Rev. T. J. Whitehead had charge of the devotionals. Miss Effie Lassiter made a short talk on "Better Christian Endeavors," then Edwin Beekham spoke on "Building with Christ."

E. M. Powell presided in the absence of the president. The Union voted to have a broadcast over W. P. T. F. in Raleigh, if time could be had. The programs aim to promote Christian Endeavor.

Officers for the coming year were elected: president, Miss Elizabeth Fox; first vice-president, Mrs. T. J. Whitehead; second vice-president, R. H. Ayscue, Jr.; secretary, Miss Sue Dunn; treasurer, Miss Lucile Baskett; reporter, Miss Josephine Langston.

Following the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed.

Instruction School On September 30

The Vance County Council of P.-T. A. will sponsor a School of Instruction on September 30 instead of September 28 as previously announced. It was said today. It will take place at 3:30 o'clock in the High School library, and will be a supper meeting. The time from 3:30 to 6:00 o'clock will be given over to group discussions. Various district leaders, including Mrs. N. L. Walker, of Raleigh, district president, have been invited to attend the night session.

All members of the Parent-Teacher Association of the county are invited to attend, but the council is particularly anxious for the committee chairman from the various schools to be present, since they will receive valuable information. All phases of the work will be discussed.

A complete program of the school will be published soon.

Cokesbury News

By MRS. ERNEST GILL
The people in our community were very proud indeed last Tuesday when our line was completed and the lights turned on. So everybody could have bright lights and all other conveniences that go with electricity.

We wish to thank every one who helped in any way, and especially Mr. Cannon, who worked as faithfully with not only one, but all of us in making the line a success. I think rural electrification is one of the greatest things F. D. R. has ever sponsored, and we are very happy to be among the ones served.

Mrs. Alma Harris from Richmond, Va., was the week-end guest of her sister here, Mrs. John Buchanan.

Mrs. McCann and little son, Tommy, from Richmond, Va., were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Vaughan.

Several of the teachers from Aycock school were very pleasant visitors in a number of our homes Monday afternoon.

Please remember the parents and friends of the Aycock school are giving a picnic supper at the Washout Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock complimentary to the Aycock faculty. This has been a regular social and get acquainted affair with our school for the last several years and a very satisfactory one.

Ollie Buchanan, Jimmie Tucker, Bol Parrish, Walter Harris and Brodie Gupton were some of our boys to return to their respective homes here, from Canada last week. They all report a pleasant trip, and inform us the Canadian weed is of a very good quality this time.

Miss Eunice Bartholomew from Henderson, spent Wednesday night with Mrs. Nat Faulkner.

A lion sat behind his bars
And watched the folk go by.
Some tall, some short,
Some fat, some thin—
He heaved a gentle sigh;
"Quaver looking things," he
chuckled low,
"On their hind legs walking
round,
They wear such funny colored

Make such a squeaky sound!"

capture of the conspiracy leaders among the 200 new jailed. The insurgent sympathizers involved in the scheme were said officially to number 7,500.

The groups made up this anti-government "army" within the former Capital, a government communique explained.

TERRIFIC BOMBARDMENT IS HURLED INTO OVIEDO
Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 25 (AP)—Spanish government artillery hurled a terrific bombardment into insurgent Oviedo in northern Spain today.

The government troops apparently sought to force surrender by the Oviedo garrison, under siege for 14 months, before insurgent reinforcements could reach the city.

An insurgent column is moving swiftly toward Oviedo and today was reported less than 25 miles to the south of the Asturian capital. As government guns unleashed their thunder, Asturian troops fell back before an insurgent advance toward Lena, 20 miles south of Oviedo.

Three Garr Slayers To Wait Trial of the trio, said he was going to his home near Cincinnati.

Judge Walter's decision to grant the brothers bail was cheered wildly by the crowd that had jammed the courtroom all day and heard Roy Garr, 46-year-old farmer, assume the blame for the killing of Brigadier General Henry Denhart, who was to go on trial for the killing of his fiance, Mrs. Verna Taylor, 40, baby sister of the Garrs.

Ambassador From China In Protests

Japan earlier this week, protesting against indiscriminate bombing of large non-combatant Chinese populations, Wang condemned the Japanese war machine.

Meanwhile, the navy's Asiatic fleet operated under orders to stand by for the duration of the Sino-Japanese conflict, if necessary, to protect America's 7,500 nationals and its $250,000,000 commercial stake in China.

Other Washington developments: Politicians, particularly those who think President Roosevelt may seek a third term, are watching closely for official word of Postmaster General Farley's future plans.

Some of them would regard his retirement from the cabinet, even though he retained the chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee, as a tip-off the chief executive had made up his mind not to run again, despite any amount of possible urgings.

Propaganda Idea Is "Called Bunk"

journalistic life in countries where censorship prevailed. I know what real censorship is like. We have not any such thing in this country—not by nearly 100 per cent. Our government's press agents may be slightly niffed if their "stuff" is strongly discounted, but that's all.

Sometimes, when a Washington correspondent has broadcast something emphatically anti-administrative, a government press agent will call him up and ask for the privilege of telling him the administration's side of the case; I never knew a case in which any undue pressure was brought to bear upon him. I do, indeed, know of a case in which a National Press club member was expelled from the club for comment concerning the president personally. It was done, however, on the ground that the expelled member had unjustifiably stirred a fellow-member (the president).

I thought it was an improper expulsion at that, and so did plenty of us. We would not have acquiesced in it if we had been members of the board of governors.

Anyway, it was not the administration's action. It was ours—the club members'.

As Stewart Sees It.
Now, a press agent is all right. All big interests have them in Washington—private interests, I mean.

They are a great convenience to newspapermen. Information is readily obtainable from them. The information they give out is biased, of course. Every intelligent newspaperman knows it and makes allowances. Having informed himself from one side's angle, he hurries to obtain the other side's. He balances the two sides, one against the other.

But the press agents are short-cuts respectively.

1930—Adolf Hitler, then on trial for treason, states that a guillotine awaits the makers of the German resolution of 1918 if the Nazis ever get control.

New Fall Books Placed On Perry Library Shelves

A number of the new fall books are being added to the shelves of the H. Leslie Perry Memorial Library. Many of the popular authors have new books.

A. J. Cronin's "The Citadel" will be one of the most widely read books. It is the story of a young doctor's struggles against superstition, prejudice, and unscientific practices in a mining district of South Wales.

The Harper Prize novel is "The Seven Who Flad" by Frederic Prokosch. It relates the story of seven Europeans who were suddenly compelled for political reasons to flee from a city in the center of Chinese Turkestan.

"Recapture—the Moon," is considered by many critics Sylvia Thompson's best novel since "The Hounds of Spring." Two families, one English and the other French, are bound together by the ties of international finance.

Harvey O'Connor has written an absorbing story of the rise of a dynasty in "The Guggenheims." Those who are interested in the Guggenheim fellowships and awards will enjoy reading of how an obscure Philadelphia peddler with the aid of his seven sons made his millions that now make such fellowships possible.

Another name that interests readers is that of Joseph Pulitzer who is responsible for the prize awards in the fields of journalism and letters. These awards were provided for in his will and have been made each year since his death. His recollections written by Alleylene Ireland have been published.

Miss Stevenson's "Miss Buncle's Book" is a novel about an amateur author. Miss Buncle impelled by the distressing failure of dividends wrote a book about her English village.

Since she was lacking in imagination she failed to disguise her characters, which led to disturbing times.

"Shining Headlands" is Sara Ware Bassett's last Cape Cod romance.

Alabama is the setting of Helen Topping Miller's "Storm Over Eden." Mrs. Miller has had North Carolina for the setting of several of her stories.

Mateel H. Farnham's "Ex-Love" and Faith Baldwin Cuthrell's "Twenty-four Hours a Day" are two other new romances.

Mystery and murder stories are up to date in their settings. For the mystery fans there are three new books: "Hongkong Airbase Murders" by Van Wyck Mason, "The Kristiana Killers," by Donald Q. Burleigh and Timothy Brace's "Murder Goes in a Trailer."

Stories of the Missouri hills as told by Mackinlay Kantor will long be remembered. His new novelette "The Romance of Rosy Ridge" will be as popular as his "The Voice of Bugle Ann."

Tracing the long line of tyrants from Old Testament days to the present, E. E. Keltelt in his "The Story of Dictatorship" finds that the methods of obtaining power and holding it have been about the same.

Two historical books that are now on the shelves in book form are "The Lost Colony," by Paul Green and the Williamsburg issue of the Architectural Record. The latter is a magazine presented to the library by Miss Gertrude Harris over a year ago that has been bound and placed on the shelves for circulation.

"Claude" by Genevieve Fauconnier is the novel awarded one of the coveted French prizes—Le Prix Femina. "Claude, the youngest of six daughters, grew up in a small French provincial town. After many years of marriage she sets down her own story."
