

HIGH CAGERS ARE NOW SHAPING UP

Jack Mitchell to Manage Boys, Miss Royster Is Manager for Girls

Twenty boys and thirty girls are going through their paces at Henderson high school, fighting for places on the basketball teams that will represent the school during the coming season.

Coach Miller has been devoting his time to teaching fundamentals to his rather green squad, and R. B. Harrison, who will handle the girls this season, is faced with a problem of a large squad, all of them showing plenty of fight and ability.
Prospects are poor for a strong boys team, but the girls seem to be headed towards a good season.
Jack Mitchell has been named manager of the boys, and Miss Helen Royster will manage the girls.
Work on a schedule has already been started, and Coach Miller hopes to bring some of the best high school teams in the east to meet his aggregation.

COMPLIANCE WORK ABOUT COMPLETED

98 Percent of Conservation Program for 1937 Is Now Finished

Cottage Station, Raleigh, Dec. 9.—The work of checking farmers' compliance with the 1937 agricultural conservation program is about 98 percent completed, H. A. Patten, of State College, revealed today.
Some counties have completed all their field work and are now preparing growers' applications for payment for submission to the State office at State College, he said.
As fast as the applications are checked at the State office, they will be authorized for payment. However, Patten said it may be some time yet before checks are mailed out.
A few counties were delayed in their work because the aerial photographs used in checking compliance were not completed as soon as in other counties. These counties expect to complete their checks in two to three weeks, Patten added.
In checking compliance, county committees determine whether growers planted more than their allotted acreage of soil-depleting crops and whether they carried out the prescribed amount of soil-building practices for which payment is offered.
It has been found that with aerial photographs, the areas of farms and different fields can be determined more accurately and with less expense than can be done with ground measurements.

MIDDLEBURG MEETS AYCOCK ON FRIDAY

Aycock and Middleburg high school basketball teams will meet Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in Henderson high school gymnasium.
Both schools has very good teams, and a big crowd is expected to witness the contest.
