FAULTY CARD READING

SOME otherwise fair players find fault with their partner's leads, declaring they cannot be read. In many such cases, the reason they are not read is a lack of card reading ability.

♠ J 6 4
♥ Q 10 7 5
♦ A K Q
♣ 9 6 4

After South's opening bid of 1-No Trump, North jumped to 3-No Trumps and West's opening lead was the spade 8. On this dummy played the 4, East the Q and South the A.

East criticized West for not leading the spade 10, contending that the lead of the 8 was difficult for him to read. West's retort was that if the 8 was a fourth best lead, South held only one higher than it and East should not have played the Q.

If East allows the spade 8 to ride, the contract is set, as the opponents get three spades and two hearts instead of the two spades to which they were limited by the play of the Q.

New Research in Disease Of Skin—Fever Blisters

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D. A YOUNG DOCTOR in one of our western cities was bothered with recurrent crops of fever blisters. A few years ago he had a charge of a smallpox epidemic in his community which lasted a year and six months.

He looked the matter up and found that smallpox vaccine had been used to prevent recurrence of fever blisters quite extensively in Europe. One or two features of his experience should be noted.

Two Diseases Differ There is, however, a considerable difference between herpes simplex and herpes zoster. In the first place, fever blisters (herpes simplex) are likely to recur over and over again with barely a week between attacks.

All of these conditions are classified as virus diseases. Fever blisters are spread by carriers, and it is estimated that between 50 and 75 per cent of all human beings are carriers.

In a series of 35 cases which were treated by smallpox vaccination, only five of them had recurrences, and these at such long periods of time as a year in between. In 30 of the cases the condition cleared up and no recurrence has occurred for over two years.
