He then returned a club, with the hope of getting West in to cash his remaining spades, but South refused the chance to finesse. Treat Disease Early, Dr. Clendening Warns

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D. THE CHINESE, according to tradition, pay their doctors to keep them well and stop paying them only if they get sick. This plan has recently been advocated by the distinguished English surgeon, Lord Moynihan, who said in London address that there would be far less sickness if all people would consult doctors regularly while they are in health instead of waiting until they are ill.

He believes that hospitals and universities should establish special professorships the duty of which would be to study people who are well and endeavor to formulate a method of examination which would detect diseases in their incipency before the patient is aware of any change. At present most diseases are detected first by the patient's own sensory system.

many people are anxious to meddle with what is better left alone, what with innumerable operations and unproved treatments, I am not sure but what more harm than good would be done by universal examination of those who think themselves well. I do believe, however, that it is very important to see a doctor as soon as symptoms of any kind make their appearance. All too often the doctor is called in in the last stages of a disease when he can do nothing, whereas he stages, but until the time when his might have been able to do much in the incipency. As Lord Moynihan says, the average physician never is called in until nature's battle against disease has been almost lost. He is in the position of a military commander who is never sent for until the army he is to command is virtually defeated already and fighting in the last ditch.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: 'Three Weeks' Reducing Diet', 'Indigestion and Constipation', 'Reducing and Gaining', 'Infant Feeding', 'Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes', 'Feminine Hygiene', and 'The Care of the Hair and Skin'.
