

Entire Presidential Family Coming to John's Wedding

Anne Clark and John Roosevelt—a story-book romance.

$50,000 dream castle—a gift from the bride's mother.

At their own new pool.

Nahant church, wedding scene.

Among the guests—the president's mother, who is giving Anne and John a six weeks' honeymoon, President and Mrs. Roosevelt and son-in-law John Boettiger from Seattle as well as Mrs. Boettiger and other members of the Roosevelt family.

Wedding of John Roosevelt, youngest and only unmarried son of a new rose-colored $50,000 dream castle, the gift of Miss President and Mrs. Roosevelt, and Anne Lindsay Clark, socialite, Clark's mother, overlooking the Atlantic, following the honeymoon at Nahant, Mass., June 18, draws the entire presidential family moon. Mrs. James Roosevelt, the president's mother, is provided to this smallest Massachusetts town. The young couple will live for the honeymoon trip.

Double Thrill

William Kelley and Mary Ames

It was a double thrill for William Kelley, of Gloucester City, N. J., on graduation day at the U. S. Military academy, at West Point, N. Y. For besides graduating to a second lieutenant rank and receiving the Gen. John J. Pershing sword as regimental commander of the cadet corps, Kelley received a kiss from his bride-to-be of the next day. Miss Ames also is from Gloucester City.

To remove rust from painted surfaces use sandpaper. Don't try to cover rust spots with new paint. They will show through.

For Johnnie's Wedding

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, is shown at Arnold Constable's, New York, in the dress she had selected to wear at her son, John's, wedding. It is a picturesque period gown fashioned of navy blue net atop a soft blue crepe slip. Scalloped medallions of chantilly lace outline the neckline. Soft blue lilies of the valley fasten over the narrow blue belt. The picture hat is of hand-blocked navy net, banded with navy velvet and grosgrain. Soft navy shoes and long navy gloves complete the wedding ensemble.

DAISIES.
I walked down by the woodlands,
I plucked a daisy white;
I pressed it closely to my heart
And kissed it with all my might.

Its stems were very long and slender,
And leaves were surely green,
They both fit close together
Just like a tiny seam.

A hundred little daisies
All rounded in a row;
I never think of tiny drifts
Of pure white falling snow.

President Garfield's Children Celebrate

On June 14, 1888, Mary Garfield and her brother, Harry A., children of James A. Garfield, martyred twentieth President of the United States, had a double wedding at the Garfield home in Mentor, Ohio. Here they are shown celebrating their joint golden wedding at Duxbury, Mass., where they entertained fifty guests at luncheon. President and Mrs. Roosevelt sent their felicitations. Left to right: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stanley-Brown (she was Mary Garfield) and Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Garfield.
