

Bobby Kittrell, Asa Hardee Win; Mrs. Marbury Is Ladies Champ

Jimmy Cooper, Frank Legg Begin Championship Play

J. C. Cooper, Sr., and J. T. Cheatham Battle It Out For Second Flight Honors

Bobby Kittrell defeated his father, R. G. Kittrell, 3 and 2 yesterday for third flight honors in West End Country club's annual golf championship tournament, and Asa Hardee came through with a 2-up decision over E. H. Dixon, Jr. for fourth flight honors.

Staving off a thrilling rally of Mrs. Elizabeth Cooper-Waddill, Mrs. Lee Marbury yesterday scored a 1-up triumph to win the ladies golfing title at the club.

Mrs. Waddill's rally was nothing short of phenomenal, being five down at the beginning of the final nine holes, and missed two putts on the 18th, sinking of either of them would have given her a tie, forcing the match into extra holes.

Jimmy Cooper and Frank Legg teed-off this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the first 18 holes of their 36-hole battle for the club championship, the final 18 holes being played tomorrow afternoon.

Yesterday, Frank Legg, Jr. won the low medal qualifying prize from Lee Averette in a play-off, both players being tied with a 76. The match ended on the 18th when Averette failed to sink a long putt for a par three. Legg was down in four.

Joel T. Cheatham eliminated J. W. Jenkins, Sr. yesterday, and went into the finals this afternoon with J. C. Cooper, Jr. In the second flight, this battle for the club championship, the final 18 holes were to be gotten off this afternoon.

The tournament committee, J. H. Brodie, O. T. Kirkland and N. P. Strause, will accompany the championship contestants around the course as they battle for the coveted honor, and the general public is cordially invited to turn out and witness the match.

Both Cooper and Legg are long drivers and ace golfers, they had to be to overcome the competition both have faced coming through to the finals.

In previous years, large galleries have turned out and even a larger one is expected tomorrow for the final 18-holes. The lads begin play at 2 o'clock, and this flight, together with the second flight, will use the permanent greens.

The odds as to which will win are about even, with Cooper having one more day of rest from tourney play than Legg, who had 18holes yesterday against Averette.

BANKERS SHUT OUT THE LIONS 9 TO 0

Civic Club Team Errors Chances Away For Tie For Softball Top

The Bankers combined a few hits with many Lion errors yesterday afternoon to tighten the lead over the city softball field, winning 9 to 0 in the second shut-out game of the season.

Williams pitched the victory for the Bankers, being ably assisted by his mates afield. Pritchard, hit for the circuit for the winners.

Dodd opened on the mound for the losers, but soon gave away to Marbury, who twirled the remainder of the route.

The game had been billed as what should have been the best in the circuit, but the Lions failed to come through with the brand of ball fans thought them capable of playing.

Weldon did the catching for the Bankers, with William Royster catching for the Lions.

WILD CATS CLAW OUT 12 TO 7 WIN

The North Henderson "Wild Cats" a girls' softball club under the management of Rufus Strange, defeated a club managed by F. Miller yesterday afternoon 12 to 7.

The game was fast, and both teams showed fine playing. The girls continue to improve at softball, and fine games are expected.

Caralie Moore hurled a fine game for the winners, while Miss Williams hurried for the losers.

Huffman and After were behind the plate for the winners, while Miss O. Williams worked for the losers.

The Wild Cats will soon meet the Red Raiders of North Henderson.

Young's Protest To Clean Records

other reason than that it has centered the attention of the State on election morality.

There were found in Johnston enough instances of abuse of the absentee ballot to make opponents of that kind of voting sit up and begin to yell again; but in general the Johnston case has pointed the finger at need for better observance of existing laws rather than at any crying need for reform of the laws themselves.

The loser in the recount of State Senate ballots, J. B. Benton, of Benson, is coming in for quite a bit of praise from political figures here for the fine spirit in which he accepted the result. Through his attorney, Norman Shepherd, Mr. Benton was first to congratulate Mr. Wellons and wish him success in the general election.

is on terms of such bitter hostility. Still, with his record as a conciliator, I think he might bridge even that gap.

However, McGrady is a radio executive today. It probably would be a Dickens of a financial sacrifice to him to accept a government appointment.

He is the kind of chap to make sacrifices for the general good—but there are limits with all of us.

Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York also is suggested.
Wagner would fill the bill from united labor's standpoint. And I surmise that capital might endorse him—not enthusiastically, but so-so.
The drawback to Wagner is that, in order to become wage-hour administrator, he would have to retire from the Senate. One would suppose that he would have better judgment than to relinquish a comparatively peaceful Senate seat for so awful-promising a place as that of wage-hour administrator.

When It Rains, It Is Still Dry

You may believe this or not, but Frank Gupton, Middleburg constable vouches for it, and here's his story:

On I. J. Jackson's farm at Middleburg, there is a spot about 20 feet square, where, after all of the big rains had here recently, one may still kick up dust in the field Gupton said, in fact, one could mire through the field to the spot, then get his feet dusty walking across it. The plot has been in the field for sometime, according to Constable Gupton.

MRS. LOU PARRISH DIES IN FORENOON

Mrs. Lou Parrish, 82, of Haw River, died at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the home of a son, W. P. Parrish, at South Henderson, following a five weeks illness that began with a stroke of paralysis. She became ill while here on a visit to Mr. Parrish, having come from Haw River about two months ago.

Mrs. Parrish was a native of Guilford county, but had lived at Haw River about forty years. Her husband died 26 years ago.

Although the stroke five weeks ago had been rather mild, Mrs. Parrish had been confined to her bed during that time, and slowly lost her strength. She became worse Friday and died in mid-morning today.

The body was taken this afternoon to Haw River to be prepared for burial. Funeral arrangements had not been completed, but services are expected to be held at Haw River Sunday afternoon, with interment in the town cemetery.

Surviving, in addition to the son at whose home she died, are four other sons, G. R. and G. C. Parrish, of Henderson, and E. S. Parrish, of Haw River; also two daughters, Mrs. Roy Black, of Graham, and Mrs. John Cox of Waco, Texas. One brother, Lunn Self, of Greensboro, also survives.

GRANGE MASTER FOR TRANSFER OF FARM

Daily Dispatch Bureau. In the Six Water Hotel, Raleigh, June 18.—Harry E. Caldwell, of Greensboro, master of the North Carolina State Grange, termed the proposed transfer of the State Prison farm property near City to the N. C. Experimental Station for research purposes "one of the immediate needs of an agricultural state that is shamefully lacking in dairy cows and livestock generally."

Backing the executive committee of the Grange, which unanimously went on record favoring the transfer of the prison property near State College "for dairy and livestock research," Caldwell said that "Tar Heel Farmers have taken losses on cotton and other crops too long, and with the diversification that is virtually mandatory under the present crop control program, it is essential that we look for other fields for farm revenues," adding that probably our best field is livestock.

Praising research leaders for the progress already made in promotion of livestock, the Grange master said that "the fact that North Carolina ranks 38th in cash income from livestock and livestock products still confronts agricultural leaders as a challenge and the appropriation of further research lands will assist materially in finding an answer to this economic problem."

Reiterating his stand in favor of the land transfer, Caldwell said that "this property is ideally located, adjacent to the Central Experiment Station property and in walking distance for dairy and research workers," adding that "the returns the state will receive, if this property is given to research, is inestimable."

"Crop control measures and other assistance for farmers is still regarded as 'emergency' legislation," he said, "but if North Carolina hopes to become more independent, research and livestock promotion must be further encouraged."
