REDOUBLED INTO GAME
IF YOU HAVE bid a major suit, the first opponent doubled and your partner redoubled, your side is in a game contract. If the second opponent now passes, there is no need to raise your own bid. Making redoubled overtricks would be a fine gift from the foe. By all means pass in this situation. The opponent doesn't dare leave it in, and maybe he will have to bid something which your partner can double for a penalty worth much more than a game. If he doesn't, your partner can carry on with his own bidding.

striving for. To South's dismay North passed this bid. Four was easily made, with the loss of one spade, one diamond and one club. North should have passed the redouble, as had East allowed it to play there game would have been scored. The correct bidding should have been 1-Heart by North, double by East, redouble by South, pass by North, 2-Diamonds by East, 2-Hearts by South, 3-Hearts by North and 4-Hearts by South. But East, with two biddable 4-carders, ought not double. He should, after 1-Heart, bid 2-Diamonds, intending later to show clubs if possible, but would be shut out by South's 2-Hearts, North's 3-Hearts, then South's 4-Hearts.

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)
On this deal, East doubled North's 1-Heart bid and South redoubled. After West passed, North bid 2-Hearts. After a pass by East, South went to 3-Hearts, wondering just what North was (Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

What is the proper bidding on this deal?

Boils Should Be Treated Only by a Physician

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
A CORRESPONDENT asks us to discuss the treatment of boils. Of course he means what is so graphically described in the verbiage as "a crop of boils". A single boil that blooms alone, like one perfect rose, is a cinch; it gets ripe like the rose and then the doctor opens (or plucks, to continue the simile) it and that is all. But when boils come in recurrent crops, things are somewhat different. And in discussing the treatment of them, please notice that above in talking about even the single boil, I said the DOCTOR treated it. Boils that you try to this, vaccines for the specific immunization are often used. Then bacteriophage, that mysterious substance which kills bacteria in their own juice, is also applicable. The endless opening of one after another is a tiresome procedure, but must be done, and is probably the only essential, as it is the most important treatment. Many drugs have been given internally in order to bring the resistance of the body up. Some of these excrete an anti-septic treatment of the pores of the skin, such as calcium sulphide. Sometimes there is luck in their employment, but most doctors are skeptical about them. To abort a boil has been tried with many remedies. Painting it with full strength tincture of iodine is probably the best. Hot and cold compresses, including the old-fashioned flaxseed poultice, is approved by all who ever treated it. I am sure Job's wife discovered the virtues of this remedy in the most famous case on record. The use of Elier's hyperemia, suction, with a rubber bulb attached to a glass cup, over the boil, hastens healing and promotes comfort. Boils, simple as they may seem, include in the mode and history of their development the whole range of the science of pathology. Some day I may return to them again to illustrate this subject.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Feminine Hygiene", and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".
