PAGE SIX

Light Fiction Among New Books At Perry Library

summer days still aheal predominates and a shrewd humor. The book is a in the new books at the library, contribution to the history of Amerithough the list includes three biogra- can medicine, authentic as well as phies and a fascinating book of travel. | amusing. Probably the most useful book on the list is a new book on landscape gard- nique and Cost of Being Beautiful," ening by Louis Van De Boe called by Margaretta Byers is what its title "Planning and Planting Your Own implies-a gay little handbook ad-Place" In it are chapters on grading, dressed to every woman who wishes drainage, the making and upkeep of to make the most of her appearance. different types of walls, drives and It is not a book about current fashlawns; planting in relation to the type ions, but is designed to give aid in of house, the treatment of trees and choosing the most suitable from any ment. shrubs, and the general upkeep of year's fashions. Those delightful char grounds, and the care of plants. The acters that made up the "Gay Fambook will be highly useful to the be- ily" are back again in "Ballade in G. ginner or to the man or woman long Minor" by Ethel Boileau. It is a novel experienced in a garden who needs a of English family life. fresh point of view on planning and planting.

Land" brings to light an almost un- attentions are concentrated on her known part of this country in a com- prettier sister, Kathie has been allowbination of history ,legend, nature ed a free and nappy childhood, bu' Germany-perhaps going far beyond study and fine descriptive writing. It she finds it hard to grow up when any previous intimations of British tells anecdotes of Stephen Foster she marries. whose monument stands on the lowe" reaches of the Suwanee River.

Oscar Odd McIntyre was the best known and the least known man in a Maine farm in 1817. Her awareness his field. Through his writings he of nature, her lonely life with the was familiar to almost everyone in animals, the farm and the forest and the United States. But his private life finally of a happy romance will be enand lovable personality were known joyed by nature lovers McIntyre." The book is illustrated fully mirrors the manners and cusand has a forword by Major Edward Bowes.

In "My Sister Eileen", Ruth Mc-Kenney tells of the appalling experi- during the years following the Civil be ready for duty, if necessary. tempting to implant culture. These life through the generations, rich in of "international difficulties of these hilarious chapters were published ori- substance and detail. Readers of crucial days." ginally as separate stories in the New | "Gone With the Wind" will enjoy this novel. Yorker.

"The Horse and Buggy Doctor," by Arthur E Eertzler consists of un- know Dr. Thorndyke is not to know supplies and munitions for 60 days of conventional, entertaining reminis rerhaps the most carefully established service, the army checked up on its library. Light fiction suitable for the warm cences with genuine human appeal In "The Doctor of Lonesome River" Edison Marshall has written a story of Alaska and those who seek their fortune there.

"Destry Rides Again" by Max Brand: "Sixgun Melody" by William "Designing Woman: The Art, Tech-Colt MacDonald and "Buchy Follows a Cold Trail" by William MacLeod Raine are stories of Western Alventure. In addition to these adult titles a number of new books have recently been added to the children's depart-Britain May Again

A small town in Louisiana is the scene of "This is Me, Kathie" by Julia "Suwanee River, Strange Green Truitt Yenni. Because the family's macy to convince Germany she would Coatsworth is the story of young pared. Margaret Winslow's life and work on

"Lady Anna," by Anthony Troilope toms of the times.

"And Tell of Time" by Laura Krey

ences which she and her sister sur- War, 1865-1890. Full of thrill and workers disclosed they were ordered vived in the process of growing up, memorable scenes, it remains at the worekrs disclosed they were or lered while conscientious relatives were at- bottom a realistic picture of family to remain near their posts, in view

> French Atlantic fleet hurried back to Christopher Morley says, "Not 1) their warships, which were loading crime savant since Sherlock Holmes." defenses of the Pyrennes frontie:, opposite insurgent Spain. S. S. Van Dine calls Dr. Thorndyke General Alfred Fagalde, commander the mostc onvincing and competent of of the 16th Corps Area, completed a all the scientific literary detectives. detailed survey of the frontier, west of Two Dr. Thorndyke detective stories, "Death at the Inn", and "For the De-Andorra, saying particular attention to anti-aircraft defenses. fense, Dr. Thorndyke" by R. Austin

Freeman have just been added to the Gordon Grey To Be Named Youth Head

(Continued from Page One.)

Marine Harris 1

HENDERSON, (N. C.) DAILY DISPATCH FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1938

vass of the State personally and through his friends, and his sufficient votes pledged to assure his election. The Gray forces claimed a good margin of victory. Mrs. White was still in the fight this afternoon, but was rumored as considering seeking the post of national committeewoman instead. Others mentioned in the contest for the committee job were Miss Hope Buck, of Bald Mountain, and falling. Miss Sara Ruth Posey, of Murphy, who made the response to the speech Warn Herr Hitler of welcome.

BOB THOMPSON APPEALS FOR DEMOCRAT HARMONY

Durham, Sept. 9 (AP)--Robert L. fight if Czechoslovakia were invaded. secretary to Governor Some Britons believed a warning to Thompson, Hoey, and keynoter for the North Carolina Young Democrati onvention, urged today that "Democrats retain liberality and tolerane within our own ranks" in order to "continue in the rule of the liberal party."

He proposed a "party purge" not of individuals but "of the poison of in-

Thompson contended that the Demo cratic party has room for and need of Senator George, of Georgia, as wel: as Senator Wagner of New York. It is not incongruous to find Smith, of South Carolina, and Minton, of In- than on June 1. Many people insist in unit volume it is running along senatorial chamber."

bers of the group against whom Pres-ident Roosevelt has expressed oppo-May and June, less goods were being for this fall. Prices of goods are at-consumed. Production had to start up to buy them. Aggressive merchants and the Georgia primary is next week and it was purely coincidence that should have one of the best autumn "We are becoming contentious over the turn came just as the WPA and on record. Salesmen should have petty opinions and overly jealous concerning personal power," said the keynoter. "To me it seems that the spending will be one of the strong in-Between new vertising linage Wave in their ad. fluences on business. Between now vertising linage. Wage workers can one thing in the way of continue! fluences on business. Detriet dol-and February first a torrent of dol-workers have builting of them workers head from work. Salary American progress today is factionalism and intolerance within the and February first a billion of them- workers need fear no furth. Salan will pour, out of the United States cuts. Security holders should see the Democratic party."

Babson Produces Proof Business Is Improving; Sure Of Big Fall Trade

(Continued from Page One.)

season.. Private construction doing its part in this improvement. 3. Banking: Debits only 10 per cent below 1937 level. Deposits up $2,000,-000,0000 since New Year's. Loans to bountiful crops is an important one. business reviving. Business failures I estimate that farm buying power will be off only about 10 per cent from a year ago, despite the heartbreaking crash in farm prices. We are having climbing. Retail prices eight per cent bumper harvests. Those extra bushels of wheat, bales of cotton, and pounds of butter will help to offset lower prices. Also the dollars they bring in lina by the plaintiff to obtain an ab. 5. Light Industries: Textile activity will purchase more goods today than. Shoe output has jumped 50 per cent they would have purchased a year since spring. Lumber "cut" up 30 per ago. The farmer's 1938 dollar will buy cent more than normal since Easter. as much as $1.06 would have bought 6. Other Barometers: Weekly car- in 1937. Another bullish factor is more this fall.

more per week is now flowing into After reading these figures-based pay envelopes than three months ago. on actual statistics on my desk-can Much of this money is being used to any one doubt that the upswing is clear up back bills, but it will soon be real? Putting these facts all together flowing into new sales. Retail trade in my Babsonchart Index, I find gen- right now is less than 10 per cent beeral business is 11 per cent higher low a year ago in dollar volume, while diana, sitting on the same side of the that public spending is the sole rea- stride-for-stride with last Labor Day. son why business is better. I do not Heavy Retail Trade Expected. Hence, I am bullish on business in sition. Smith has been renominated, produced than were being sold and tractive and people will have the cash the most of the opportunities ahead. powreful effect on trade and industry IN THE SUPERIOR COURT, Farmer's Dollar Buys More. March Term 1929. There are other factors that will give business a real impetus in the State of North Carolina The County of Vance: months ahead. Cash receipts from Viola Wilson Beard, Plaintiff.

CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

From now on, however, public months of the spring. Newspapers

Treasury. Every thirty days now for prices of selected issues steady to the next five months Uncle Sam will higher. Investors should receive months hand out half a billion dollars in an- generous dividend payments later + other spectacular attempt to spend fall.

the nation back to prosperity. Such a huge stream of dollars will have a

VS. William Beard, Defendant, The defendant William Beard will

So my advice is: Get busy and make opportunity to make up for the lear take notice: That an action as above entitled has been commenced in the Superior Court of Vance County, North Caro.

solute divorce from the defendant on the grounds of two years separation. That summons was issued on the 7th day of September 1938. The defendant will further take notice that he is required to appear at the office of the Clerk of the Su perior Court of Vance County in the Courthouse in Henderson, N. the 11th day of October 1938 and answer or demur to the complaint in said action, or the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint This the 9th day of September A D., 1938. E. O. FALKNER.

Clerk of the Superior Court Vance County. Pittman, Bridgers & Hicks, Attorneys.

NOTICE. In The Superior Court. North Carolina:

Vance County Hazel Burwell Hargrove.

Needham Hargrove.

The defendant, Needham Hargrove will take notice: That an action entitled as above has been commenced in the Superior Court of Vance County, North Carolina, to secure an absolute divorce from the defendant.

The said defendant will further take notice that he is required to appear at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of said County in the courthouse in Henderson, N. C. on the 26th day of September, 1938, and answer or demur to the complaint in said action, or the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

This 25th day of August, 1938. E. O. FALKNER, Clerk Superior Court. Vance County.

NOTICE.

Having qualified as Executrix of the Estate of R. H. Craig, deceased, late of Vance County, North Carolina, this is to notify all persons having claims against the Estate of said deceased to exhibit them to the undersigned, or to her Attorneys at Henderson, N. C., on or before the 26th day of August, 1939, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery. All persons indebted to this Estate will please make immediate settlement. This the 26th day of August, 1938. ELMER CORDELIA CRAIG Executrix of the Estate of R. H. Craig, Deceased. Gholson & Gholson, Attorneys.

READ THIS FIRST: Judy Rogers, New York heiress, ob-tains a job as a model shortly after afinancial crash. The same day she learns that Craig Denby, the man she learns that Craig Denby, the man she of marriage, Jsdy had put him off ore too often. Her father goes west with her stepmother, her own mother, remarried, is abroad and Judy moves to a small hotel. She finds solace in the company of Ronald Birrell, bril-liant young attorney from Tennessee who has just joined the firm of her father's lawyers. When Judy calls her father's lawyers. When Judy calls her father's lawyers to the wholesale house where she is modeling. When another employe steals them, she appeals to mail for advice. MOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 10 THE FRIENDLY spirit in which intervention in the event of a cen-"Here I Stay," by Elizabeth Jane tral European conflict-was being pre ALL LEAVES OF ABSENCE IN FRANCE ARE RECALLED

Paris, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Leaves of tolerance" in preparation for the 1940 employees in the governments owned campaign. communications system were cancelled by Premier-Defense Minister Dalo-Charles B. Driscoll, his friend and is written against the backgrour.d of dier today, extending similar precaueditor, has written "The Life of O. O. England in the seventies, and faith- tionary measures already applied to the army, navy and air corps since the Czech-German crisis arose.

(Continued from Page One.)

Naval reserve officers in Paris reis an absorbing, epic story of Texas ceived notices today advising them to

While officers and sailors of the Senator George and Smith are mem agree. I think that the improvement

HELEN WELSHIMER

4. Prices: Security prices up 40 per cent from lows. Commodity prices below last September and holding steady 33 per cent above three months ago.

loadings up 100,000 cars, or 20 per cent, since Memorial Day. Power con- money for wage earners. Rising indussumption 19 per cent above June low. trial activity has already lifted the Auto retail sales prospects for Sep- buying power of mill towns and factember most hopeful in a year. tory cities. I estimate that $25,000,000

Upswing A "Natural".

Judy Rogers had come to Ronald Birrell evaporated as she heard his voice saying:

"I've been expecting you." She did not comment on his statement until she was in his private office. Then she faced him and spoke slowly:

"Why were you expecting me?" "Won't you sit down? I'd like to, and I can't while you stand, you know."

She dropped into a chair. It was deliciously soft and deep after the hard-bottomed chairs and benches of the wholesale house. Ronald sat down at his desk, long legs bright head, and grinned.

"I'm sorry, Judy Rogers, but doing fine." there are no dividends to amount to anything to report. I'm having Miss Martin prepare a check for you, for what it's worth." 'You mean that there is some money for me?" Judy gasped. "A little. Isn't that why you came?"

Judy's eyes flamed with red I came for some advice. I"

more moment she would cry, and he would laugh again.

In a quick stride Ronald crossed the floor, took her hands into his strong tanned ones, and looked into the tear-flooded brown eyes.

helping you?"

ing on an income and being demo-cratic about a job. I didn't know it was this bad."

"Oh, I'm all right. The rent's paid for another month, I have a dozen cans of soup and some chocolate bars laid by, and money to last a few weeks."

"I'm keeping that as a secret."

"If anything should develop about your argument with the wholesale house, where shall I con-

"Where are you staying?"

tact you, then?"

"Judy, I'm sorry. I didn't mean to hurt you. I thought you came She has a lot of expense. They to collect. And I hated to think bought a new villa on the Riviera, so, and took a coward's way out. you see. I'm 21. I ought to be I tried to hurt you. Judy, will you able to make a living. I'll get by forgive me?"

'Why do you care if I borrow or collect? You hate me, and my aprons!" kind.'

He dropped her hands. "No, Judy. I don't. That's the trouble, you see. Now what was it that brought you here?" She told him briefly. He walked back and forth across the deeply carpeted office twice when she finished. Then he said:

"You're sure you haven't a paper, a sketch, anything?"

"Nothing. I've searched everywhere."

"The double-crossing scoundrels! They should be dragged into court and brought to terms. Or maybe we could arbitrate. But Judy-Miss Rogers, we must have some spread out, hands back of his my own. If there is any money, rejoice. You can sketch other give it to my father, please. I'm dresses, can't you?"

"Judy, give up. It's not a girl's racket."

"Of course."

Ronald put his hands on her shoulders and his gray eyes scanned hers. "You're mighty frocks some day." plucky, but you shouldn't have to When Judy left the office, she go through this. Judy, give up. felt happier than she had for sev-It's not a girl's racket." eral days. She wondered why Ronald had not taken her to lunch. She drew away. "Give up? But you got me into it. I mean you suggested that I couldn't fight life." Ronald had not taken her to lunch. She was oddly disappointed, let down, when she thought of it. He lights, and she stood up. "No! I thought we were bankrupt. I don't see how there could be any money." He groaned. "Don't I know it? And haven't I been cursing myself for seven kinds of a fool ever came for some advice. I..." since? I was a conceited kanga-found something attractive in it. sonce moment she would cry, and "And starve?" found something attractive in it. "And starve?" to search for a new job. Here was a place . . . the place that Ronald had once taken her. He glanced at her quickly. "Is it as bad as that?" "You know the family finances."

"But your mother-isn't she She sat down at a table along the wall, ordered a tuna fish sandwich on toast and a pot of tea. "She thinks I'm with my father.

She was half through her luncheon when Ronald entered. There was a girl with him. A girl with yellow hair. Miss Martin, of somehow-and I'll be a designer, course, Judy decided in that first too. It may be only kitchen swift glance. Then the girl turned her head. It wasn't Miss Martin. It was someone much prettier, "Sure you will! Judy, I owe you an apology. I thought you were doing the smart society gag-livmuch more self-confident.

The girl was looking up at Ronald, and as they passed the table at which she sat, Judy noted how purple and wide the girl's eyes were, how well the slim black suit fitted her lithe body. She looked expensive.

"And she is as out of place in this eating place as I was the day he brought me here," Judy commented inwardly. She didn't want any more of the sandwich. She drank the tea quickly, without sugar or cream. She told herself that she was up-set over the sketches, her loss of a ince to gets, we must have some proof. I believe you, but a judge wouldn't." "Then there is nothing I can do?" "Tm afraid not. But I'll not give up. Maybe I can frighten them into confessing. Mind if I try?" "Of course not. I think you are being fine. I can't pay you, you see, for a long time." "I don't want to be paid. We still handle your father's affairs. We hope to be busy with them some day again. This is something "I don't want to be paid. We still handle your father's affairs. We hope to be busy with them some day again. This is something personal Fm doing for you." It was a check for $100 that Miss Martin brought in presently, and Ronald handed to Judy. She took it, folded it, and passed it back to him. "I'm strictly on because the names and the faces were so familiar. It was strange to be living in this world which was so near the one that had been her home, and yet so far removed

READ THIS FIRST: Judy Rogers, New York heress, ob-fains a job as a model shortly after her father loses his fortune in a learns that Craig Denby, the man she over, has married another girl. Afraid once too often. Her father goes west with her stepmother, her own mother, remarried, is abroad and Judy moves to a small hotel. She finds solace in her company of Ronald Birrell, bril-liant young attorney from Tennessee who has just joined the firm of her hest friend, Marjorie Barton, Craig where she is modeling. When another where she is modeling. When another where she is modeling. When another gives up her job and appeals to Ronald maploye steals them, she has a dispute, give on the steal of the storex: "MANDED 11

CHAPTER 11 DURING THE next few days

Judy Rogers searched again for a job. It rained. It grew colder, and there was a snow flurry. She scanned want ad columns. She relaxed and read the society pages,

She had arranged for her mail to be held for her at the postoffice. An occasional letter from her mother came. She was sympathetic, not too worried. In her own luxury she did not grasp the eco-nomic upheaval which had taken place in her former husband's household.

If her father wrote to her, Judy did not know it. His mail would go to France, and her mother's secretary would forward it on to Judy, so it would be late in coming. True, there was a chance that her mother might see a letter and wonder. Not likely, though. She never troubled herself with details. It seemed to Judy on a particu-larly cold evening that all the girls her, hurrying, trying to make the agencies first, that they might ask for any available jobs. Judy wanted to laugh. She wanted to tell them that they might as well go home, if they had homes. There were no jobs. In one employment agency she had met a girl who had been at-sands of jobs," she moaned. "The City of Tomorrow, they call the fair. It held promise. But every position is gone. Swallowed up."

Judy had waded through debris and machinery and mud in Flushing park meadow, which was a long tide on the subway to present an le on the subway, to present an is a high school teacher. I can get a grade to teach if I want it," ludy's information and the scheme schem Judy's informant went on.

"Do grade, too ?"

"Have you a normal certificate, or your major in education?" the head. The profile was strange. girl asked. "You must have! You Craig had not come. The unfahave your background written all miliar face restored the clarity of over you. Where did you go to her vision. No, she must not over you. school?"

Thoughtlessly Judy named her chool. It was one of the ultra-ashionable, ultra-expensive insti-utions in the east. The school teacher's daughter The school teacher's daughter school. It fashionable, ded.

out a year or two of normal train-

"Here, take this, and cry it out."

alto voice. She could row, ride, you should accept it or leave it." swim, golf, play tennis, drive a car. She had been leading lady in "No doubt you're right."

car. She had been leading lady in her class play, and starred a time aloofness. "How did you locate or two in a Junior league play. But she did not know the things me?" "You aren't a very astute young in Manhattan walked with her-young, slim, eager-eyed, tired, dis-couraged. She felt them pressing that were necessary to obtain a job. She smiled, remembering that she had forgotten one qualification. He had it." "Of course I'm stupid. I can't

"Of course. I'm stupid. I can't She could wear clothes, and design All this had happened an hour efore. Now Judy was on her way teach school or work on the fair "Here, take this, and cry it out." before. Now Judy was on her way home. She saw tall shoulders in Ronald pushed a big white linen the crowd before her, and caught handkerchief into her hands. her breath so swiftly that it hurt. "I cry alone—except I don't

"I cry alone-except I don't cry," There was only one person in all Judy told him spiritedly. the world who walked with that "Good! I thought I "Good! I thought I could stop easy, nonchalant grace. Only one you." head that faced the world so fear-lessly. She should have known address?" Judy asked.

that some day she would meet "Certainly not! Give me credit Craig on the street. Paths always for the rudiments of manners, my crossed. Maybe not for a long time. Maybe quite fleetingly. But up traffic. How about calling a always, always there came a mo- truce and going some place to play tonight?

The young lawyer's face was eager and kind and the banter was She wondered if her nose was gone from his voice now. One sole was thin. The

"An eight-hour truce," he said solemnly, but his eyes twinkled. "Then you may cuss me out for the next 80 years. You need some fun and so do L" She had avoided Ronald, at first,

Judy knew he had been working hard. She had read about sor cases in the newspapers. He had Then the tall man turned his een heralded as a coming genius in the legal world. Society was discovering him, too, but he had no time for it, one columnist exher vision. No, she must not watch for him. She must not see plained. The names of a girl or two who found him attractive had accompanied that comment.

"We'll go places where no one knows us," Ronald was saying, Judy was ready to accept. Now she hesitated. He had said:

she hesitated. He had said: "Where no one knows US." Not: The school teacher's taughter anged her frank approach. "Oh! Then you wouldn't want teach. You belong to a different ivironment. I should have intervent there is long legs looked seri-

I don't! I mean, that's small for his long legs looked seri-i want to teach school—in ous when he saw her. He came to "It's important i ous when he saw her. He came to her quickly. "Mr. Birrell!" Judy made her go home and get into a tux, will "Mr. Birrell!" Judy made her voice cool. "How nice of you to disregard my desires and locate me. I suppose you want me to say I'm glad to see you? I'm not, you know." go home and get into a tux, will you promise not to vanish until I get back?" Why not enjoy one evening? Maybe some place—oh, just maybe she would catch a climpse of

-she would catch a glimpse of

"I promise," she answered. (To Be Continued)

FORECLOSURE SALE. By virtue of authority vested in the undersigned as trustee in a certain deed of trust executed by George Edwards and wife Madie Reed Edwards, recorded in Book 140, Page 363, Register of Deeds office of Vance County, default having been made in the payment of the debt therein secured, and the holder thereof having requested a sale of the security, I will offer for sale at the courthouse door in Henderson on Tuesday the 4th day of October, 1938, at 12 o'clock by public auction, the following described real estate: Begin at a stake 150 feet N 17 3-4 W from Wm. Merriman's corner on Eastern edge of Rockspring street, thence N 72 1-4 E, 100 feet to a stone. thence N 17 3-4 W. 50 feet to a stake; thence S 72 1-4 W, 100 feet to edge of Rockspring street; thence along said street S 17 3-4 E, 50 feet to beginning, see book 13, page 254, register of deeds office of Vance County, North Carolina.

This 2nd day of September, 1938. A. A. BUNN, Trustee.

NOTICE OF SUMMONS BY PUB-LICATION SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS. In Superior Court Before The Clerk. State of North Carolina:

County of Vance: Help Barnett, Petitioner.

VS.

Frank Barnett and wife, Pollie Barnett, Anderson Marrow, single, Demosthenes Marrow, single, Kirkpatric Marrow and wife, Loretta Marrow, Gladys Marrow, single, Enor Marrow Van Devere and husband, Clifford Van Devere, Adolphus Marrow, single, Randolph Marrow and wife, Edith Marrow, Mildred Marrow Rowe and husband, Floyd Rowe, Herman Marrow, single, Ellsworth Marrow, Roy Kenton and wife, Fannie Kenton, Frank H. Kenton, Marshall Kenton, Nathaniel Kenton, Jesse Kenton, Ida Kenton, Addie Downing, Drewery Downing and Corenlius Downing, Respondents. The respondents Frank Barnett and wife, Pollie Barnett, Addie Downing, Drewery Downing and Cornelius Downing will take notice that an action entitled as above has been commenced in the Superior Court of Vance County, North Carolina, to sell lands for division in which they are nterested; and the said respondents. will further take notice that they are required to appear at the office of the Clerk of Superior Court of Vance County at the courthouse in Hender-con, N. C., on the 3rd day of October. 1938, and answer or demur to the petition in said action or the petitioner will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said petition. This the 2nd day of September, 1983. E. O. FALKNER, Vance Clerk Superior Court.

"Where do you live?" The girl named a town in Iowa. size had avoided round, at first, girl named a town in Iowa. you think I could teach a too?"

environment.

The girl spoke slowly. "I think you do. But boarding schools don't prepare people for teaching. I'm afraid you couldn't do it with-

"I suppose so." Judy could eak French fluently. She could ay the piano well. She could in think much of this place." "I pro-"Since you south it is the super state of the set o tracted to New York by the com-ing world's fair. "I thought there would be thou-

"Yes, I know. I've been there."

shiny. "I think I'll go home. My father