

Cotton Shows Slight Gains

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened five to nine points higher on trade and foreign buying, with sentiment more helpful on the foreign situation. December reacted from 7.91 to 7.88, leaving the market at net gains of seven to ten points shortly after the first half hour. December at midday was 7.88, with the list six to nine points net higher.

Futures closed three of eight points higher; spot steady, middling 7.85.

Open	Close
October	7.81
December	7.88
January	7.85
March	7.87
May	7.84
July	7.833

Stocks Again Hit Toboggan

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Fresh waves of selling swept over the stock market today, sending prices into another swift decline on reports of clashes between Sudeten Germans and Czech soldiers. Gains of one to three points scored by representatives in the first half hour of trading were converted into losses ranging to around five points before the selling lightened late in the session. Liquidation was the heaviest since last autumn, with transactions about 2,800,000 shares.

American Radiator	13 3/4
American Telephone	185 1/2
American Tob B	32 1/8
Anaconda	30 3/8
Atlantic Coast Line	16 3/4
Atlantic Refining	20 3/4
Bendix Aviation	19 1/4
Bethlehem Steel	53 1/2
Chrysler	66 5/8
Columbia Gas & Elec	5 3/8
Commercial Solvents	8 3/4
Continental Oil Co	4 1/8
Curtiss Wright	4 1/8
DuPont	127
Electric Pow & Light	8 1/4
General Electric	38 3/4
General Motors	43 1/2
Liggett & Myers B	95
Montgomery Ward & Co	43
Reynolds Tob B	40 1/8
Southern Railway	14
Standard Oil Co	51
U S Steel	54 3/4

At Least 40 Are Killed in Fighting

(Continued from Page One.)

Government had been dissolved. As a result, there is a complete breakdown in the efforts to solve the bitter, bloody dispute over the Sudetens' demands for self-rule, there being no machinery on the Sudeten side for further discussions.

Meanwhile, the government, ignoring the Sudetens' ultimatum demanding cessation of martial law in Sudeten regions, commandeered motor buses in Prague to rush fresh troops into the regions under military control. The ultimatum expired early today without immediate results.

The Sudeten party is conducted on the leadership principle—following the Nazi German model—therefore, Henlein, as Führer, alone has authority to discuss anything with the Prague government.

Henlein reported his decision to dissolve his committee to F. T. A. Ashton-Gwatkin, chief lieutenant of Viscount Runciman, and other members of the British mission at a conference at Ash, Henlein's home town, at noon. The Sudeten leader said that in view of acts of violence in the Sudeten region, the party felt that proper atmosphere for negotiations no longer existed.

Meanwhile, martial law was extended over two more Sudeten communities. Soldiers and special police this afternoon were preserving order in ten frontier districts. Reports to the capital indicated they were doing an effective job.

"All quiet throughout the republic," the government radio announced jubilantly at 2 p. m. (8 a. m. eastern standard time).

It was estimated that more than 1,000,000 citizens of Czechoslovakia were subject to the stern regulations of defense of the realm acts (martial law).

King George Rushes Back Into London

(Continued from Page One.)

lowed highly important ministerial conferences last night at No. 10 Downing street, with the active chiefs of the navy, war office and air forces to consider precautionary defense measure.

Downing Street was cleared of crowds as the ministers went into Prime Minister Chamberlain's official residence to start the session.

The last time a British king broke a holiday in Scotland because of an emergency situation was when the late King George V came to London in 1931 in the midst of an economic crisis.

Roosevelt's Purge Faces Newest Test

(Continued from Page One.)

Cummings, but oppose in a convention by Representative Herman Kempman and two other aspirants. New Deal policies threatened to become an issue in the race.

They did not enter in any marked degree, however, in the seven senatorial selections made yesterday. In four states, Democratic incumbents were unopposed. They were Senators Fred Brown, of New Hampshire; Herbert Thomas, of Utah; John Overton, of Louisiana; and Alva Adams, of Colorado.

Voters yesterday showed a general tendency to renominate present House members, but South Carolina was an exception. Representative John Taylor was defeated by Eulalia Faye, and Representative Hayward Mahon by Joseph Bryson, in Democratic run-offs.

South Carolina also supplied the most dramatic election incident of the day when National Guardsmen, under instructions from Governor Johnston, took possession of Charleston county ballot boxes. Wyndham Manning, apparently beaten for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by Mayor Ernest Maybank, of Charleston, had asked for the troops because of reported "irregularities."

The latest South Carolina gubernatorial vote (1,495 of 1,505 precincts): Maybank, 161,474; Manning, 147,774.

$2,250,000 PWA Money Sent State

(Continued from Page One.)

Hoey expressed the opinion it was a "good investment" to hold it to get the Federal money.

STATE PROJECTS PLACED IN NEW FUNDS REVEALED

Washington, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The PWA dished out a lot of its cash today in seven-figure lumps. Today's list, which had 69 projects approved, carried authorization of about $13,600,000 of grants, and $211,000 of loans on projects estimated to cost $30,300,000.

Today's allocations, grants only, unless otherwise specified, included: Johnston county, N. C., schools, $35,460; Hoke county, N. C., sanatorium building, $62,400.

Jonas Claims Chance To Win Over Reynolds

(Continued from Page One.)

off in November.

He admitted there is no way to tell whether the dissension within Democratic ranks can be translated into Republican votes, but it is on this dissension that he bases what hopes he has.

When his attention was called to the fact that even with the aid of religious prejudice, the Republicans could not win for their State ticket in 1928, he replied that the Democratic troubles this year are "family squabbles", which he indicated are usually even more bitter than religious rows.

"At all events, the situation looks better to me now than it did at the same stage in 1928," he said, "in the middle of September, 1928, I did not have the slightest idea I'd be elected to Congress—but I was."

He predicted that John R. Jones will carry the eighth district against whichever of the fighting Democrats—C. B. Deane and W. O. Butler—is finally declared the nominee in that sector. He foresaw at least moderate gains in the Republicans' General Assembly delegation.

In short, the G. O. P. senatorial nominee was in an optimistic, though not enthusiastic, mood. He feels there is a "trend" in his direction and he is confident he can take full advantage of it.

In this connection, even the most hardened Democrats admit that Charles Jonas is no mean opponent, as his election to Congress and his repeated representation of a normally Democratic county in the General Assembly prove.

He does not intend to go about the State raising a great hurrah and hullabaloo from the stump, he said, preferring to rely upon quiet personal contacts and intensive and localized organization efforts. He referred to the fact that in the last senatorial election he led in an "off-year," 1930, the Democratic majority was "less than 115,000." He added that "not even the Lord himself" could have won on the G. O. P. slate in North Carolina either in 1932 or 1936.

While the Lincolnton is obviously bidding for support from many who regard President Franklin D. Roosevelt and the New Deal in the same light as does Josiah W. Bailey, he does not hope for any from the State's senior senator himself—a fact which naturally results from the acrid warfare which has raged between the two.

Back in 1931 or 1932, Senator Bailey prevented Jonas' confirmation as Federal district attorney by resorting to the final weapon of a senator. He declared Jonas "personally obnoxious."

Jonas spoke without seeming bitterness of the incident, with the comment that Bailey resorted to the coup simply because he knew "he couldn't beat me any other way."

Col. Fongalas, of the Swiss Army, Is Pictured Above

(Continued from Page One.)

He is reported to be the budding Duce of Swiss Fascism, is said to wear the Fascist uniform, and his walls are graced with dedicated pictures of Mussolini.

(Central Press)

Opposes Downey

Philip Bancroft . . . in California race

Here is the man who opposes Sheridan Downey, liberal Democratic pension champion, for the California senate seat in November. He is Philip Bancroft, militant farmer and a conservative Republican New Deal critic. Bancroft, critic of administration policies, defeated Ray L. Riley, veteran state official, for the G. O. P. nomination.

Prettiest Dane

Herbert Sprague, 53 (above), is under arrest in Portsmouth, N. H., in connection with the slaying of Barbara Driscoll, 8, whose battered body was found hidden under a freight shed. The girl had been beaten to death with a rock.

(Central Press)

Wearing the Danish costume of her grandmothers, even to the wooden shoes, Dagmar Petersen, of Santa Barbara, Cal., blonde and beautiful, is shown after she was acclaimed prettiest Danish girl in the United States. Her father's a farmer.

(Central Press)

Without a Country

In his cabin aboard the U. S. liner President Harding is John Dolan, 43, a man without a country destined to remain aboard ship because of technicalities growing out of Versailles treaty. Born in Hatna, then part of Austria, he failed to apply for Rumanian citizenship when Hatna was taken over by the Bucharest government. After 1938 he was no longer eligible to do so.

Swiss Nazi

Col. Fongalas, of the Swiss Army, is pictured above. He is reported to be the budding Duce of Swiss Fascism, is said to wear the Fascist uniform, and his walls are graced with dedicated pictures of Mussolini.

(Central Press)

Held in Slaying

Herbert Sprague, 53 (above), is under arrest in Portsmouth, N. H., in connection with the slaying of Barbara Driscoll, 8, whose battered body was found hidden under a freight shed. The girl had been beaten to death with a rock.

(Central Press)

Bound for the Western Front

New York State commander Eugene Drum (right) and fellow legionnaires get a "Hawaiian" goodbye, as two special trains left Grand Central terminal carrying several hundred of the men to the national convention in Los Angeles, Cal.

Gould Widow Suicide Vanderbilts Attend

Pictured above is Mrs. Harold C. Strotz, who was discovered unconscious on the kitchen floor of her Park Avenue, New York, apartment by her husband, a millionaire broker. Five jets of the gas range were open. Mrs. Strotz, widow of Jay Gould, grandson of the railroad builder, later died.

(Central Press)

The rarely photographed Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt of Newport, R. I., are pictured attending the fashionable wedding of Peggy Seyburn, Michigan socialite, at Manchester, Mass.

A Pretty and a Porker

Farmerette Jerry Clark wanted to do something big in the world, so she raised this porker on her farm near Pomona, Cal. She's shown as she prepared the hog for the Los Angeles County Fair, whence she was ready to bring home the bacon.

(Central Press)

Congratulating a Winner

Marilyn Meseke, of Marion, Ohio, who was chosen "Miss America, 1938," is shown in her hotel room in Atlantic City, N. J., reading some of the many messages of congratulation she received on her victory.

Two More for the Senator

Senator and Mrs. Millard Tydings are pictured casting their ballots in Maryland's much-discussed primary election. Tydings, who incurred displeasure of the Administration through opposition to certain New Deal measures, was opposed by Rep. David J. Lewis, who had the support of President Roosevelt.

Stopped in Hines Case

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, Gotham's famous Racket Buster, appears quite cheerful despite the setback he received when Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora declared the Hines racket case a mistrial.

(Central Press)

Flivver Sub Crosses Lake

Barney Connett crossed Lake Michigan in his home-made submarine, but not before disaster almost halted the trip. Top, the 11-foot flivver undersea boat is shown beginning its trip at Michigan City, Ind. The bottom picture shows Connett inhaling oxygen at Chicago. He reached the latter city in a state bordering collapse.

(Central Press)

Wife Preservers

If you have a larger supply of sour milk on hand than you can use in cooking or baking, you can clean your silver in it. Put silver in the milk and leave about an hour. Then wash and polish.

Wife Preservers

When kitchen tiles get stained from oven heat, wash them with a strong solution of washing soda, followed by bleaching with javelle water.