

Duke-Davidson Ready For Tomorrow's Game

Durham, Sept. 30—Duke's Blue Devils and Davidson's Wildcats square off in Duke stadium here tomorrow afternoon in an important Southern conference and North Carolina Big Five engagement. The clash will get under way at 2:30 o'clock.

While in this, the 17th annual meeting of grid teams of the two institutions, Davidson is hardly expected to make any headway through the Duke line, the Wildcats are armed to the hilt in aerial warfare and in that way may make the going tough for the boys of Wallace Wade.

In Ned Iverson, basketball captain-elect who knows how to handle the ball, and Bob Benfield, the Wildcat ends, Davidson has a pair of excellent pass-receivers and in little Bill Davis they have a boy who can flip 'em. Davis passed to Iverson, Benfield and Fred Stair, quarterback, in making a sustained 67-yard aerial drive for their lone touchdown against N. C. State last week-end and then to complete matters tossed one to Benfield for the extra point.

Tomorrow's game looms as a real test for Duke's pass defense. In the opener last week, V. P. I. threw only five passes at the Blue Devils, two of which were completed, two intercepted and one knocked down. That showing was considered fairly good but the Gobblers did not have the air onslaught the Davidson will throw here tomorrow.

Duke will be looking to a pair of veteran ball-carriers in tomorrow's contest. Bob O'Mara, fullback whose 176 yards from scrimmage against V. P. I. Saturday night was more than half the yardage he amassed during the entire 1937 campaign, should be ready for another fine performance and Eric Tipton, the Blue Devils' veteran triple-threat, held out of most of the opener, is slated to see plenty of work against the Wildcats. Coach Wallace Wade will also be watching Bobby Spangler, the ex-blocking back now turned runner who made such a fine debut against the Gobblers last week. Should Spangler make a good showing tomorrow, the coaches should feel a bit better for those major games with Colgate and Georgia Tech which come the following two weeks.

Tomorrow's clash will be Duke's first home game of the year. The following week they go to Buffalo, N. Y., to meet Colgate's Red Raiders and then will be at home on October 15 in the Homecoming Day special with Georgia Tech.

Carolina's Husky Tackles

Gates Kimball and Steve Maronic are the big and rugged tackles on the Carolina team which locks horns with N. C. State in the Wolfpack's Homecoming Day game at Raleigh Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Kimball and Maronic were well-nigh impregnable in the Wake Forest game. They stopped the fast Deacon backs frequently for losses. Both are keen diagnosticians, are fast covering punts and are highly capable at leading interference. Maronic, at 215 is the heaviest man in the Carolina line. Kimball weighs 192.

YOUR THE GUY WANT

Raleigh, Sept. 30—There hasn't been much said about him, but Mickey Sullivan, 195 pounds of N. C. State end was one of the first lads to clinch a berth on Doc Newton's 1933 edition

Sullivan is the only one of five letter ends Newton produced last year who is back in the Wolfpack camp. He played a lot of end in '37 and when the wily football doctor counted his Wolves this year he definitely put Sullivan down as the starting right wingman.

Mickey was one of two linemen of that great State Frosh team of 1936 to win his monogram in his sophomore year. Other members of that team scattered to the four corners of the football globe to University of West Virginia, Marquette, University of Dayton for example.

And as a sophomore he won acclaim as one of the headiest young pads in the business.

He learned his first football at Staten Island, N. Y., his home. Dr. Bob Warren, present varsity backfield coach at State, gave him his freshman lessons, and under the guidance of Warren, Newton, and Herman Hickman the handsome Irishman

POLICE COURT HAS JUST ONE CHARGE

Only one defendant was tried in police court today. Sara Carroll, colored, was charged with an assault, but was adjudged not guilty by Mayor Protem Fred B. Hight, who presided in the absence of Mayor Henry T. Powell, who was out of the city.

The sports editor says Czechoslovakia is getting to be like an American prizefighter, with everybody owning a "piece."
