

Lawrenceville To Test Bulldogs Here Friday

Defeated in their first three starts, Henderson high school Bulldogs began preparations this afternoon for Lawrenceville, Va., high school here this Friday.

Coach Bing Miller is keenly disappointed in the showing his team has made this season, most of the material being green and inexperienced in the art of playing winning football.

Lawrenceville will bring a strong team, this same school whipped Henderson last year 7 to 6, and reports from the Virginia school indicate this year's team is just as strong, if not stronger than last year's. Friday's game with South Hill saw Billy Candler at his best as a passer. The boys heaved them almost into the pockets of his receivers, only to have them muffed. South Hill players all had praise for the passing of Candler, saying it was the best they had hit in high school circles thus far in the season.

Coach Miller is depending on this boy's arm to do lots of work in the Lawrenceville game, and the Bulldog attack will be polished off during the week, with the idea of victory strongly in the minds of the players.

DEACS' SOPHOMORES LOOKING TO DUKE

Gallovich, Edwards, Mayberry Are Stella Ball Carriers for Baptists

Wake Forest, Oct. 17.—Wake Forest Demon Deacon football team, the surprise club of the Southern Conference this fall, is certainly not the strongest eleven in the loop, but it ranks along with any other when it comes to providing thrills for the spectators and to playing hard football.

The Deacons have been using practically a sophomore club throughout the five games already played, and these youngsters have presented such a sensational brand of ball, in winning three of these five tilt when the pre-season dopsters didn't give them a vote for more than one victory, that there are some who are considering the possibility of an upset in their game Saturday afternoon with Duke University's strong Blue Devils, which is to be played in Winston-Salem's new Bowman Gray Memorial Stadium as the dedicatory feature.

Tony Gallovich, Marshall Edwards, No. 1 halfbacks, Red Mayberry, who shares the quarterbacking and does the punting, Jimmy Ringgold, a fine blocking back, not to mention halfbacks Irvin Byrd, Melvin Layton, and Freddie Welch, are the sophs in the Wake Forest backfield.

The two first string halves are in a class by themselves, although the second stringers keep them busy hustling to hold their places.

Captain George Wirtz, Dave Fuller, Bill Eustler, and Joe Kuchinski are the only lettermen in the backfield corps. Captain Wirtz divides time with Soph Red Mayberry at the quarterback position. Fuller is the team's best passer and Eustler understudies Gallovich and Kuchinski subs for Ringgold. John and Jim Pittman senior reserves, round out the backfield.

Five of the regulars in the Deacon forward wall are sophomores. They are Ends John Jett and Bill Vanden Dries; Guards Louis Trunzo and Tom Tingle; Center John Pendergrast.

Probably the outstanding linemen for Wake Forest are the two old men at the tackle positions. They are Rupert Pate, 195 pounder, and Allen Powers, 210 pounder. Both these boys played excellent ball in every contest to date.

No. 2 forwards for Wake Forest are Paul Waivers and Eddie Woolbert, ends; Clem Crabtree and Larry Pivoc, tackles; Tony Balionis and Vernon Spruill, guards, and Butch Clark, center. Roy Evans works in at guard. Waivers, Pivoc, Balionis, and Clark are sophs.

DUKE BEATS TECH, HEELS, STATE WIN

Golden Tornado Whipped 6-0; Carolina Beats N. Y. U. 7-0; Deacs Lose 19-7

Saturday was a great day for North Carolina teams against sectional foes, with the mighty Blue Devils of Duke defeating Ga. Tech's Ramblin' Wreck 6 to 0 as a feature of Homecoming Day at Duke. North Carolina took the New York Violets 7 to 0 in Yankee stadium as Georgie Strinweiss treated the Gotham fans to some fancy forward passing.

N. C. State College's Wolfpack flashed a bit of power in downing the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest under the lights in Raleigh by 19 to 7 score.

The Deacons were not as much outclassed in the contest as the score might indicate. They gave the Wolfpack plenty of scares, and showed plenty of power, but were weak on reserve strength.

After making six yards against Georgia Tech at Durham, N. C., Fullback Robert O'Mara of Duke was brought down by a lockjaw tackle. Note the hand of the Yellow Jacket tackler on O'Mara's face. Others shown are Center Dan Hill (35) of Duke, Tackle C. R. Wood (53) of Tech. Duke won, 6-to-0.

STATE CAN PRODUCE NATIVE BEEF WELL

College Station, Raleigh, Oct. 17.—Despite a contrary opinion, native beef as fine as that grown anywhere in the West can be produced in North Carolina, according to L. I. Case, extension animal husbandman at State College.

"Western meats have become more highly regarded than our native meats. This has been due to the superior curing process which the out-of-state packers use. "If North Carolina produced meats from some of our better animals were allowed to ripen in the same way as the Western beves, the same high quality and tenderness would prevail."

Leaf Quota Transfer Limited

College Station, Raleigh, Oct. 17.—The amount of flue-cured tobacco marketing quota which can be retransferred to another farm has been limited by the AAA to ten percent of the quota established on a particular farm, according to H. A. Patten, acting AAA executive officer at State College.

Big Doings At State For Furman Game Saturday

Raleigh, Oct. 17.—N. C. State college will celebrate homecoming and Dad's Williams (Doc) Newton will be principal speaker at an alumni luncheon. The football game in the afternoon will be followed by open house in dormitories and fraternity houses and the two-day celebration will be brought to a close with a dance in Frank Thompson gymnasium.

The Raleigh Junior Chamber of Commerce, which has taken an active part in assisting with State college programs this year, is cooperating with merchants, who are decorating downtown streets and otherwise extending the hand of welcome to alumni and other visitors.

State and Furman have enjoyed a healthy, though spirited, rivalry for a number of years. They resumed annual relations in 1926, when State turned in a handy victory. But last year, the Purple House of Magic played the Pack to a 7-7 standstill.

Contest Headlines Davidson Homecoming Program; 36th Meeting of Teams

Chapel Hill, Oct. 17.—North Carolina's football squad today began to prepare for the third defense this season of its State and Southern Conference titles—the Davidson game at Davidson next Saturday.

The contest, 36th between the two institutions since the rivalry was inaugurated 40 years ago, headlines Davidson's annual Homecoming program. History shows that the Tar Heels have won a big majority of the games although most of the contests have been decided by one and two touchdown margins.

Carolina successfully got past the first defenses of its two titles. Wake Forest was defeated 14-6 in a hard-fought engagement. N. C. State was beaten 21-0 in another closely contested affair. The game was much closer than the score indicates.

Davidson's 1938 football edition, comparatively light but possessing a great deal of scrap and determination has played good ball this season despite losing three of four contests. The Wildcats routed Erskine 33 to 0. Losses have come at the hands of N. C. State, Duke, and South Carolina.

The Presbyterians will present one of the best passing teams in the Southern Conference. In four games they have completed nearly 50 per cent of their passes. The figures show 25 hits in 52 attempts for a total gain of 324 yards. The net rushing total for their four games shows 559 yards.

In Bill Davis, triple-threat halfback, Davidson will offer one of the South's best passers. Davis, head man in the Cats air circus, has tossed two direct touchdown passes and his pitches have been indirectly responsible for four other scores.
