What Do You Know About North Carolina?

By FRED H. MAY

1. How has the much talked of State highway surplus been accumulated?
2. When did the per diem of the members of the legislature amount to more than all other State expense?
3. How many children between the ages of ten and thirteen years are gainfully occupied in North Carolina?
4. Who was the slave born North Carolina Negro that became congressman from Alabama?
5. What was the usual prelude to the acts of the assemblies under the Lords Proprietors?
6. What was the first county seat of Surry county?

ANSWERS.

1. Through increased revenues receipts and above estimates the reduction of maintenance allowances, and the suspension of new road construction.
2. This was the case up to about 1835. There were no public schools, or institutions, except the University, and no appropriations were made for that.
3. The census of 1930 reported a total of 305,755.
4. Benjamin Sterling Turner, born in Halifax county, March 7, 1825. During reconstruction he was collector of taxes in Dallas county, Alabama councilman of the city of Selma in 1869 and congressman in 1871-73.
5. The prelude used in the acts of these assemblies usually read, "Be it Enacted, by his Excellency the Palatine, and the rest of the true and absolute Lords Proprietors of Carolina by and with the advice and consent of the rest of the members of the General Assembly now met at... and it is hereby Enacted...."
6. When the county was erected in 1771 the act provided that court should be held at the home of Gideon Wright who had given aid to the governor in the fight against the Regulators.

OTHERS VIEWS

SENDING JEWS TO ETHIOPIA

To the Editor:

It seems to me that Americans are not practicing what they so ardently preach, the golden rule: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." For instance, if you were being exiled from the United States, and you considered England your friend, and England would say: "We will not admit you into our country; but we will negotiate terms with Russia and see if we can enable you to gain a residence in frigid Siberia. If you were exiled from America, would you be content as a resident of Ethiopia?"

Now, it seems to me that America certainly has ample room for an additional 12,500 inhabitants. It better have, considering the present birth and death rates in America.

On the other hand, England could take in 6,250 and America the other 6,250; or, better still, it could be made purely optional as to which country the refugees desire to enter, America or England. Free transportation could be furnished. We fed Belgium, didn't we?

FRANK L. FAULKNER, Henderson.

OFFER COURSE TO TOBACCO GROWERS

Four-Day Study Program Begins Tomorrow At State College, Raleigh

College Station, Raleigh, Jan. 9.—A four-day short course for tobacco growers will start tomorrow morning in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at State College. Registration will begin at 9 o'clock, and Colonel J. W. Harrelson, administrative dean, and Dr. I. O. Schaub, dean of agriculture, will welcome the growers to State College at 10:30 o'clock.

Other features of the Tuesday program will be a talk on "The 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program," by E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer; a discussion of "The Tobacco Outlook," by W. G. Finn, assistant director of the East Central Division of the AAA; and advice on tobacco beds, production problems, and practical uses of fertilizers, by Floyd and L. T. Weeks, assistant tobacco specialist of the State College Extension Service.

Speakers Wednesday will include E. G. Moss, senior agronomist and assistant director in charge of the Oxford Tobacco Station; Dr. J. F. Lutz, associate professor of soils at State College; and W. D. Lee, extension soil conservationist. The Thursday program will include discussions led by Floyd, James F. Bullock, assistant in tobacco investigations, U. S. Department of Agriculture; and J. O. Rowell, extension entomologist.

Before adjournment at noon Friday, "Tobacco Diseases and Their Control" will be discussed by Dr. Luther Shaw, extension plant pathologist; Dr. R. F. Poole, professor of plant pathology at State College; and L. J. Shaw, agent of the division of tobacco and peanut nutrition of the U. S. D. A.

Demonstrations in grading and sorting tobacco will be conducted Wednesday and Thursday afternoons by Dr. J. B. Cotner, professor of farm crops at State College; and H. W. Taylor, marketing specialist of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. D. A.

Dan M. Paul, director of agricultural short courses at State College, is in charge of arrangements for the event.

SHORT COURSES IN POULTRY PLANNED

College Station, Raleigh, Jan. 9.—A series of 12 one-day district poultry short courses, to be sponsored by the State College Extension Service in January and February, will start January 16 with a meeting at Hartford in Perquimans county.

C. F. Parrish, extension poultry specialist who is in charge of arrangements, explained that poultrymen of several counties will attend each of the meetings. Others scheduled this month include: January 17, at Rocky Mount in Nash county; January 23, at Franklin in Macon county; January 24 at Asheville in Buncombe county; January 30, at Rockingham in Richmond county; and January 31, at Clinton in Sampson county.

SURRY GROWERS TO CUT TOBACCO CROP

Dobson, Jan. 9.—Most Surry county farmers are anxious for some kind of a control program to be worked out in time for the 1939 tobacco crop, reports Farm Agent J. W. Crawford.

If Congress fails to enact new farm legislation to curtail tobacco production, Surry farmers say they will hold their acreage within limits as prescribed by the Agricultural Conservation program. This program is voluntary and pays farmers for carrying out approval soil building and soil conserving practices.

TARZAN GETS PART IN HOLLYWOOD SHORT

Chapel Hill, Jan. 9.—(Lath) Tarzan Morris, well known roofer for Carolina's teams, has signed a contract with a Hollywood movie company to make a feature short as a result of his exhibition in support of Duke at the Rose Bowl game, it has been reported here.

Grits and Gravel....

By T. MOSES JONES

At the last writing, I mentioned the meeting of the Young Men's Business Club but failed to tell how most much I was completely demoralized, embarrassed, and my already poor musical reputation was almost annihilated. "The Star Spangled Banner" was announced to be sung, and I had to acknowledge to President Webb that I could not play said national anthem. Shame on me!

So when I did get back home I banged on the tune of "The Star Spangled Banner" until bed-time, and announced to President Webb early next morning that I had learned the requested tune in some kind of passable manner. If I had been called on to try to play the Cuban national song I could have made a fair excuse at banging away on that. About twenty-five or thirty years ago Uncle Rhodes and Aunt Lula went to Cuba on a vacation. It was the time when Maria and Amparo Treveho, those two beautiful Cuban sisters, attended school at Littleton College. And before them Rosina Morena to that college.

When Aunt Lula returned, she played that song on the piano until I learned it by ear. What do you school children think of our national anthem? There has been lots of talk about it, and also heard famous musicians have discussed it much. Do you, or don't you think it is easy or hard to sing, and what percent of the school children can sing it from memory?

And now let me ask this question, "What four well-known and prominent Henderson ladies were sitting in their car over in Oxford on this past Friday afternoon, eating weenies just as though they had been on a hunger strike for the preceding two weeks?" Well, I'll let you guess.

T. MOSES JONES.

NEW HOME AGENTS IN THREE COUNTIES

College Station, Raleigh, Jan. 9.—Three changes in the personnel of county home agents in the southeast-ern district have been made at the start of the new year, it was announced today by Mrs. Estelle T. Smith, district agent of the State College Extension Service.

Miss Lorna Langley became Sampson county agent on January 1, to succeed Miss Minnie Lee Garrison who was appointed home agent in

Dare county plans vineyard culture
Manteo, Jan. 9.—Dare county, supposedly the original home of the scuppernon grape, may soon turn idle acres and backyards into profitable vineyards, declared C. W. Overman, farm agent.

Like-wise, more people of the county will go into the production of figs. Home canned Dare county fig preserves are now bringing from 75 cents to one dollar a quart, and the demand is far in excess of the supply. A cooperative cannery has been suggested where growers may market their figs at a net profit of from two to three dollars a bushel.

Peach orchards are increasing
College Station, Raleigh, Jan. 9.—An increase in the plantings of small peach orchards, especially in communities distant from the large trading centers of the State, is noted by H. R. Niswonger, horticulturist of the State College Extension Service.

These orchards range in size from one to five acres, and most of them are being planted by cotton farmers who feel there is local demand for this fruit. They also supplement other small orchards in communities, enabling truckers to profitably visit the areas.
