

Capacity Crowd Expected At Conference Games

Chapel Hill, N. C., Feb. 23.—The Woolen Gymnasium will accommodate 700 more spectators for the Southern Conference indoor games Saturday night than could be seated in the Tin Can, but indications are that it will be the same old story of a capacity crowd.

will be room for only 2200 seats. Of these 1906 will be for spectators while the others will be used by the contestants when they are not competing.

The oval shaped track will have 10 laps to the mile, or just a bit longer than the Madison Square Garden track which has 11 laps.

The afternoon program will get underway at 1:30 o'clock in the Tin Can when finals will be run off in the conference broad jump, the conference and non-conference shot put, and the freshman and scholastic high jump.

Beginning at 2:30 o'clock and continuing through 10:15 that night with time out for dinner, of course, all other events will be held in Wollen Gymnasium.

The afternoon events in Wollen Gymnasium will be the finals in the conference and non-conference high jump, trials in all four divisions in 60-yard dash and 70-yard hurdles, trials in the scholastic 1,000 yard run and the conference 440-yard run, trials in the conference low hurdles and trials in the conference and non-conference 880-yard run.

The feature events, which are held over for the night program, will start at 7.

There will be a total of 29 events in the four divisions: 12 in the Southern conference, seven in the non-conference and five each in the scholastic and freshmen divisions. Two events—the shot put and pole vault—are being included on the non-conference program for the first time Saturday.

Coach Fetzer said today that spectators who do not make reservations will have to be turned away in case they arrive after all the seats are filled Saturday night.

death rate." She was particularly impressed by the ethical conditions which surrounded the production and distribution of the picture.

When she was interviewed in Boston upon her commendatory words about the film, she said she was afraid that the public was not aware of this and other restrictions imposed by the Committee, therefore she wished to emphasize them.

PANTHERS DEFEAT SOUTH HILL AGAIN

Overtime Battle Results in 25-23 Verdict for Institute Quint

Henderson Institute Panthers met unexpected opposition in South Hill, Va., yesterday when the Virginians forced an extra period in a basketball contest between the two schools.

At the end of the game, the count was knotted at 23-all. In the extra period, Knight dropped a field goal for the Panthers to provide the winning margin.

Johnson topped the Panther attack with 12 points. Watkins got 14 points for the losers.

The Panthers will hit the road Monday and Tuesday, meeting Durham and Fayetteville teams in return engagements.
