Court Will Rule On Wachovia Bank

Raleigh, April 12.-(AP)-The Supreme Court took under advisement today the appeal of the Wachovia Bank & Trust Company from a su-perior court ruling that it must pay unemployment compensation taxes. W. P. Sandridge, counsel for the bank argued that its membership in the Federal Reserve System and in the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, as well as its designation by the government as one of its fiscal agents, made it : instrumentality of the federal government. This, he contended, exempted it from the unemployment compensation act.

J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Jr., argued the case for the Unemployment Compensation Commission. He said the State laws under which the bank was organized and operates make it subject to State statutes, such as the State employment law. Membership in the Federal Reserve System, he said, is optional with State banks,

P.-T. A. Meet and such membership should not "nullify and abrogate an authority of the State."
