In Jerusalem the demonstrators formed a procession, eight abreast, behind the chief rabbi, and marched to an open space in the Jewish quarter. The parade was one mile

Rabbis carried sacred scrolls. Other marchers shouted protests or carried placards. Selections from Isaah were read to the multitude when the marchers halted.

Earlier, in this holy city, younger Jews gathered in the main streets, booing British and Arab passersby. Few Arabs appeared, and all non-Jewish traffic was diverted by police from the main streets. A police guard, one of the heaviest in recent times, was on duty at government buildings.
Frequent Arab comment on the
