Amendments Passed For Security

Tax on Industry Frozen to Present Level for Three Years, With Saving of $1,710,000,000 Annually; Base of Act Broadened.

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a far-reaching series of amendments to the social security law designed to increase its benefits and lighten the burden it imposed on business.

Final passage came after the House shouted down a Republican attempt to send the measure back to the House Ways and Means Committee. The motion to recommit was offered by Representative Carlson, Republican, Kansas. Chairman Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, demanded a roll call vote on passage.

The amendments would freeze the present payroll tax rates for old age tax payments at one percent for the next three years. It previously was scheduled to increase one to one and a half percent next January 1. Benefits of the law would be extended to cover employees of national banks, G-men, seamen and employed persons over 65 years of age, adding a total of about 1,100,000 to the rolls.

Officials estimated the the freezing of the tax rates and other changes offered potential savings to employers and others of about $1,710,000,000.

Meantime, reports that President Roosevelt plans tentatively to go to the San Francisco World's Fair the last week in July spurred congressional opponents of neutrality revision to fresh activity. They pressed their campaign for Senate signers of a round robin condemning the administration's neutrality stand contending that if the President is considering a westward trip before adjournment he does not expect revision of the law at this session.

Hitler Is Reported Planning New Panacea for World Peace

Proposals Would Be Submitted to Britain, France, United States; No Confirmation Had and Berlin Denies Knowledge of Story

Paris, June 10.—(AP)—Reports reached Paris from usually well informed sources in Berlin today to the effect that Adolf Hitler was preparing specific propositions to France, Britain and the United States for settlement of the problems which are causing world war fears.

The reports, which received no open and official confirmation, said that Hitler was expected to make the proposals in a speech during the early part of July at the launching of a new German warship. He is now working on them, the report said, but there has been no hint of their nature.

Some diplomatic circles recalled the House of Lords speech of Viscount Halifax, British foreign minister, Thursday night, in which he told of Britain's willingness to examine such proposals at the conference table, if Germany would renounce any threat of force. Diplomats said that this speech might have been the key to the reichfuhrer's reported decision.

Diplomats in Paris said they were unable to reconcile reports of Hitler's plans with continuing German press attacks against the British foreign secretary's speech.

Berlin sources profess ignorance over reports. Berlin, June 10.—(AP)—Sources close to Chancellor Hitler today described as a "surprise to us" the reports in Paris that the reichfuhrer was planning specific peace proposals. These sources said that, as far as they knew, the chancellor had no such plan in mind.

Mrs. Rubens Might Start Home Tonight

Moscow, June 10.—(AP)—Ruth Marie Rubens, for 18 months Red Russia's mystery prisoner, may start for the United States tonight to shed light on investigation of passport frauds alleged there. Soviet authorities promised to release her sometime today following a quick trial yesterday in which she acknowledged entering Russia on a false passport. She was sentenced to 18 months in prison, which, with today, she already has served.

American Embassy officials declined to confirm whether she would be taken to New York as a witness in the investigations there. Although Soviet newspapers seven months ago referred to her and her husband as "spies," the court asked no questions along the lines of espionage.

G. O. P. Is Jubilant Over Split Among Democrats

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist Washington, June 10.—To Republican ears there could be no sweeter music than the discord created by the jowling and counter-jowling between supporters of John N. Garner's Democratic presidential nomination next year and proponents of a third nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

As G. O. P. politicians see it, it doesn't make much difference whether or not the present White House tenant does or does not want another term, Leading New Dealers evidently want another one for him and will be furious if he isn't named again. The anti-New Dealers seemingly will be equally sore if the convention does select him. Even supposing that Roosevelt actually prefers not to run again, but the convention chooses an aspirant as per his endorsement—the "antis" still will be violently disgruntled. Roosevelt or some one he picks! Or Garner! Either way (or any one of the three ways), the Republicans argue that the Democrats will be split right down the middle. It's easy to see that this will promise duck soup to the Republican candidate.

The G. O. P. is pretty solid. It has its little internal rivalries, but they can be reconciled, at least for campaign purposes. But the conflict between pro and anti-New Deal Democrats is bitterer than the con-

Pageantry At Arrival Of Monarchs

Din Ashore, at Sea, in Air as George and Elizabeth Disembark at Battery; Visit World's Fair and See English Exhibits

New York, June 10.—(AP)—The king and queen of England, regally calm but flushed with pleasure at the mighty ovation that delayed their progress through the city, arrived at the New York World's Fair today for a quick inspection of British exhibits.

Their closely guarded limousine passed through the gate at 2:38 p. m., eastern daylight time, more than a half hour behind schedule.

New York, June 10.—(AP)—Hundreds of thousands of Old World immigrants joined with descendants of the American Revolution today in a lung-bursting welcome to the first reigning British monarchs ever to visit these shores.

Amid a spectacular pageantry ashore, at sea and in the air, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of Britain stepped off the United States destroyer Warrington to climax their epic tour of North America. Their visit to New York, once the headquarters of General George Washington during his fight to shake off the shackles of British rule, was to be brief.

After a formal reception at the Battery, lowermost tip of Manhattan, the royal visitors stepped into bullet-proof limousines for a whirlwind drive to the New York World's Fair to inspect their dominions' exhibits. The batteries of Governor's Island pounded out a 21-gun salute as their majesties rode up the harbor. Vessels of every description tied their whistles down. Fireboats sent great geysers of water into the air. Airplanes wheeled gracefully overhead, and a teeming crowd that had waited hours under a hot sun gave out a mighty roar of welcome.

Martial music filled the air and flags and bunting flashed all downtown New York, with the bright red, white and blue of two nations. The king and queen arrived at 10:15 eastern standard time. After the destroyer, escorted up the bay by coast guard craft and greeted by the deep blasts of whistles of (Continued on Page Four)

Counties Ask Less For Old Age Than Offered

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, June 10.—Requests from various governmental units for less money than is available rank as news in just about the same category as the man who bit the dog, and so the hundred counties of North Carolina probably deserve honorable mention or a grand award, or something, because of the fact that their collective requests for Old Age Assistance expenditures next year are something like $250,000 less than the Division of Public Assistance will have available for spending.

Aggregate requests from all the counties amount to $4,610,130.80, while Nathan Yelton, head of the division, estimates that there will be a total of something like $4,950,000 available for old age assistance grants.

On the score card to dependent children, the counties didn't make quite such an unusual showing, their collective requests for funds of this type running to $1,912,356.80, while there will be available only $1,575,000 unless amendments to the law are adopted by the Federal Congress which might give North Carolina an additional $253,000 for dependent children.

According to the auditor's office of the assistance division, requests for funds for the fiscal year which will begin next month showed no

N. Hampshire Passes Wrong Tobacco Tax

Concord, N. H., June 10.—(AP)—Faced with the knowledge that the legislature had enacted the wrong tobacco tax bill into law, New Hampshire officials studied possible means today of correcting the mistake.

F. Mayland Morse, legislative counsel for Governor Francis Murphy who signed the measure without knowing the error, expressed confidence the legislature itself would act swiftly to remedy the mistake.

Attaches of the governor's office, in the absence of the chief executive, also said the error could be easily corrected by amendments which they added probably would be introduced in the House and Senate next Tuesday. The amendments, they said, would bring the bill "in line with the intent of the governor."

Members of the governor's staff explained that the legislature debated the proper bill, but that the clerk of the ways and means committee sent the wrong bill to the enacting committee.

The act which levies a 15 percent tax on tobacco products sold in the state was not the one which included a section directing that the revenue, estimated at about $1,000,000 a year, be used to reduce real estate taxes by abolishing the annual $1,200,000 state levy.

The management denied, however, that the strikes called Thursday were effective, and R. J. Thomas, president of the rival UAW branch, affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, said they were a complete failure.

Elmer Dowell, head of General Motors activities in the AFL-UAW, declared that, contrary to reports, "the plants in Flint are down, and the plant in Saginaw will be closed down if it tries to operate."

"If negotiations are not started," Dowell added, "a sufficient number of plants will be shut down to see that negotiations are begun."
