BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

MECHANICS OF DEALING... small slam can be made. As it happened, the pair that did the worst bidding got the best score. Everybody but one North player started with 2-Spades, that other one with 6-Spades, which West doubled and defeated. In most cases the procedure was North 2-Spades, East 3-Diamonds, South 3-Hearts, North 3-Spades, South either 4-Clubs or 4-Hearts and North 6-Spades, which West doubled and North redoubled. At one table, over East's 3-Diamonds, South passed and North rebid his spades eventually to land in 6-Spades. At another South doubled the 3-Diamonds and North went on with spades to grand slam. The North-South top came where North doubled 3-Diamonds, South left it in and it was beaten two tricks. Tomorrow's Problem: ♠ A 4, ♥ A, ♦ 10 8 6 4 2, ♣ 8 7 5 4 3. ♠ Q J 10 9, ♥ N, ♦ Q 10 8 6, ♣ Q 5 3. ♠ K 6 3, ♥ K 7 2, ♦ A 9 7, ♣ A 9 6 2. ♠ 3 5, ♥ Q 10 8 6, ♦ 5 4 3, ♣ K J 10. Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable. Only one North-South pair got a plus score on this duplicate deal, despite the fact that the cards dealt by the side seem to make a grand slam a certainty. Of course a glimpse at the East-West cards dispels that idea and shows that not even a

TAKES NINE MEDICAL SECTIONS TO STUDY A PATIENT IN 1939

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D. THE PRESIDENT of the American Clinical and Climatological Association made an interesting comment in his presidential address before the record of a sick person in hospital in 1908 and the record of a sick person in his hospital in 1939. In 1908 he had a patient, 51 years of age, who had done heavy work all his life and had indulged liberally in alcoholic beverages. He had no symptoms of infectious diseases which would lead to heart disease, but a short time before admission to the hospital he became short of breath. The symptom became progressively worse and any exertion would cause these paroxysms of shortness of breath. He could not sleep at night because his heart beat so that he could feel it, and he was unable to get out of bed. His ankles became swollen and he developed a cough. The record of his examination, which included the use of the eyes, stethoscope and a sphygmometer, occupies 17 lines of type. The record of his treatment occupies 25 lines. Similar Symptoms The patient in 1939 was 61 years of age and had similar symptoms. The record of his examination by the physician's eyes and stethoscope and sphygmometer, compressed into eight lines. But there follow five pages of records, such as this: "The N.P.N. of the blood was from 92 to 50 mgm. per cent and the plasma C02 61 volumes per cent. The blood cholesterol varied from 194 to 235 mgm. per cent. The total serum protein was 5.7 per cent, the albumin 3.7 per cent and the globulin 2.2 per cent, the fasting blood sugar as 85 mgm. per cent. ... The ventricular rate was 90,
