

Henderson Journeys To Roxboro Tonight For 2 Games

Captain Turner Resigns From Bulldogs' Quint

"School Policy" Reason of Center For Quitting; Nelson Also Off Boys' Squad; Girls In Top Condition For Contest.

Henderson high school's undefeated girls' and unpredictable boys' basketball teams journey to Roxboro tonight for a doubleheader with the strong Person county high teams.

The Blue and White Lassies are riding high on a crest of victories with power that has swept everything before them this season, carrying one of the best records in many years for girls' basketball at Henderson high. The team is undefeated in two years against high school competition.

Again, Miss Mary Florence Houghtaling is expected to back the Henderson attack, although just year when the teams met in Roxboro, that role was assumed by Miss Mary Gene Fallmer, who led the scoring that night. Backing up Miss Houghtaling is Miss Hazel Finch, who has made rapid strides towards perfection as a goal shooter.

On the defensive side, there is a host of crack guards, all constantly improving, led by Miss Charlotte Knight, Miss David Dennis, Miss Strother and Miss Winfrey. The reserves are rapidly improving, with the "soph" forward showing real ability, and the guards, notably Miss Helen Hewitt, capable to impress Bob Harrison, member on the aggregation.

Captain Turner gave his resignation to leave the team "the school's policy". When interviewed, Coach Kilpatrick said the school had adopted a policy of not sending meals to basketball teams on trips. This was done as an economy measure, he said.

In addition to Turner, Nelson, a reserve forward, who was a starter at the beginning of the season, is off the squad. Nelson failed to show Coach Kilpatrick he had the ability. All is not so dark in the Bulldogs camp. Preston Powers, at center, one of the most improved lads on the squad, continues his fine play, and the brother act of Glenn and Preston Powers, both crack cagers, is expected to continue to add power to the quint. Walter Alton, a newcomer up from the squad ranks, has been impressing the mentor with the way he handles a guard position, and it is expected to improve. G. Powers will be moved from a guard position to forward, thus adding more strength.

There, there is Paul Blake and J. W. Neal, two steady players that would contribute to any high school's team.

The teams were expected to leave here late today for the Person capital, all fired with the winning desire, and return to the city late tonight with two wins tucked under their belts.

Nelson Wins Texas Open

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 12.—(AP)—National Open Champion Byron Nelson shot his first round of golf out of the 60s in two years of the Texas open, but his play was good enough to beat out Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., by a stroke in the 1940 title play off at Brackenridge park Monday.

They just didn't have the touch that had wound them up in a tie at the end of the regular 72-hole play at 271, 13 strokes under par and the same score as Dutch Harrison's record of the previous year.

The victory gave Nelson the $1,500 first prize money and left Hogan with $750 for second.

U. N. C.-Duke Teams Meet For Two Titles

By TOM BOST, Jr.

Chapel Hill, Feb. 13.—State championship in boxing and swimming will be determined during the next 10 days with Carolina and Duke, arch rivals, battling to win both crowns.

The title-setting boxing meet will be staged here Saturday night in Woollen Gymnasium with freshmen boxing contests at 7:15 and 8:15 o'clock, respectively. In their only Big Five meets to date Carolina beat N. C. State 7 to 1 and Duke beat the Teds 4 1-2 to 3 1-2.

Following the Duke match Coach Mike Roman charges will be busy engaged getting ready for the Southern Conference tournament at Columbia, S. C., February 23 and 24. Last year the Tar Heels pulled the biggest surprise of the tourney by pushing Maryland's favored Terps all the way before losing by a scant point, 15-14. Carolina upset Maryland 5 1-2 to 2 1-2 Friday night to stamp itself as the dark horse for the 1940 tournament.

Carolina's undefeated swimming team, pace-setter in the Southern Conference this season, faces its strongest foe here Friday afternoon when the Tar Heel mermen entangle with the University of Florida's kings of the Southeastern Conference. On a three-day invasion of this state, the Gators meet Duke Thursday and conclude the trip Saturday against N. C. State at Raleigh.

The Tar Heels also have an important Southern Conference aquatic engagement with Washington and Lee here Saturday. The Generals, who won the Southern Conference title in 1936, 1937, 1938, are reputed to have another strong outfit despite a 43-32 defeat at the hands of William and Mary last week.

On Thursday, February 22, the Carolina and Duke swimmers will clash at Chapel Hill for the State championship.

The annual Southern Conference meet here March 1 and 2 and the Carolina's A. A. U. meet here March 9 will bring the swimming season to a close.

McCrary To Test U. N. C. Tonight

Benefit Affair at Hill Is Only Home Game Of Week; Fans Expect Contest to Give Line on Unpredictable White Phantoms.

By MARION ALEXANDER. Chapel Hill, Feb. 13.—Carolina backers are looking to tonight's game with the strong McCrary Eagles here at 8:30 for some line on what the unpredictable White Phantoms will do on the last lap of their regular season and in the Conference tournament to follow.

The game will be a benefit affair, the profits going to the infantile paralysis fund, and will be preceded by a preliminary at 7 between Lees McRae College and the Carolina freshmen.

In their last start the White Phantoms looked like world beaters for the first 20 minutes. With George Glamack pacing the scoring with 16 points and the whole team playing a fine floor game, they ran up a 31-19 lead on Duke at half. The second period was another story, and Duke won 50-44, and now Carolina backers don't know what to expect.

The McCrary quint should furnish a fine test. Made up of former college stars like Mann of State, Roye of Elon and Holleman of Atlantic Christian, the Eagles are known as one of the strongest independent outfits in the State.

Carolina barely beat them 42-38 in a previous encounter. Glamack's 25 points was about all that saved the Tar Heels that night, and if the big pivot ace is not on his game tonight it may be another story.

This will be the White Phantoms' only home appearance of the week and next to their last home game of the regular season. The Tar Heels also play at N. C. State Friday night; entertain Clemson here next Monday, and close at Duke next Thursday night.

Hank Pessar, tall forward, and Bobby Gersten, diminutive guard, stood out in the Duke game for their floorwork, ball-hawking, and defensive play, and will probably start tonight along with Paul Severin, forward; George Glamack, center, and Al Mathes, guard.

Glamack topped the scorers with 21 points, and Severin played another good all-round game, but the reserves did not come through as expected and will be on the spot tonight.

McCrary's probable lineup is Mann and Roye, forwards; Holleman, center, and Harris and Copeland, guards.

State Beats Davidson

BIG FIVE STANDINGS

| Team        | Won | Lost | Pct.  |
|-------------|-----|------|-------|
| Duke        | 5   | 0    | 1.000 |
| Carolina    | 4   | 2    | .667  |
| Wake Forest | 2   | 3    | .400  |
| N. C. State | 2   | 2    | .400  |
| Davidson    | 1   | 6    | .143  |

Raleigh, Feb. 13.—(AP)—N. C. State's basketballers, who hit the comeback trail after losing seven Southern Conference games, last night chalked up their third loop victory by defeating Davidson, 40-27.

State's Conference rally started last week, with the Red Terrors upset William and Mary and Wake Forest. The defeat was Davidson's eighth in the loop, against three wins, and put the Wildcats out of the running for a bid to the conference tournament.

State and Davidson were tied at 20-all at the end of the half, during which the lead changed hands four times and was tied twice. After three minutes of the second period, Red Rollis Sevier, State's captain, dropped in a field goal which gave State the lead, and the Terrors remained in front for the remainder of the game.

Wilson Tops Henderson In Bowling

Wilson bowlers whipped Henderson here last night 1559 to 1500 on the Centre Bowling Alleys, with the match drawing a fair size crowd.

Billy Powell was the best for Henderson, with 337, while Ellis topped the visitors, with 348.

Henderson will go to Wilson Thursday night, and will entertain Wilson again next Monday night, Archie Boyd, arranger of the contests, said.

Bill Sweel, playing his last year as a member of the Wake Forest college basketball team, is considered one of the finest defensive players in the Southern Conference. He has played two years at guard for the Deacons, is a good ball handler and has plenty of pep. He catches on the baseball nine.

Wake Forest And State Meet Again Wednesday

Ed. Note.—Wake Forest plays host to the up and coming Davidson Wildcats tonight, with Davidson expected to give the Deacons a full evening. In a previous meeting, the Deacons won handsily—48-26.

Wake Forest, Feb. 13.—North Carolina State's Red Terrors, conquerors of Wake Forest cagers last week 42-36 in the biggest upset victory in the conference to-date, will come here Wednesday night to face the Deacons in the final tilt of their basketball series this year. Starting time is 8:30.

A freshman game between the Baby Deacs and State's yearlings will precede the varsity fracas, starting at 7:00 o'clock.

Wake Forest and Davidson are meeting here tonight at 9 o'clock in the first of three games for the Deacons this week. After the State game tomorrow, Duke will come here Thursday P. M.

In last week's Wollpack-Baptist game, the State College varsity five took an early lead and was never headed by the Wakes at any stage of the contest, although the margin was cut to two points several times.

It seemed during that battle that Captain Rollins Sevier, and Roy Cromartie just couldn't miss the hoop on their long shots for the Terrors, as they were accounting for 25 of their club's 42 points.

On the other hand, Wake's Cline, with 13 points and H. O. Barnes with 9 markers came close to matching the Wollpack's Sevier-Cromartie act, but their support was not up to that furnished the State boys. Consequently, the accurate shooting Red Terrors turned on the heat in the minutes and came out with a 13-10 lead. From the stand it was a close floor play. The game was a State's boys were leading 13-10 and the Deacons were leading 13-10.

One of the largest crowds expected to be on hand for the Wake Forest battle, will be in attendance for the tilt, and an interesting sight will be the spectators.

Probably outstanding in the sidelights will be the performance of Deacon Pete Davis, who turned in the best performance against Davidson in a long time, holding the Tar Heels to less than 30 points in the first thirty-three minutes of the contest. On top of this, Deacon led his team in 21 points to lead his team.

But last week, Cromartie completely outplayed Sevier, leading him to three points in the field goal. Davis is a good shooter under the basket, and is an interesting to really watch. Cromartie's method of shooting, throttling Pete.

Students of the rival institutions are so eagerly anticipating a hotly fought freshman game last night, that they went to the Terrors' final playing overtimes contest 37-36. The regulation periods ended at a 44-42 count. Tomorrow's fresh contest will probably decide the Big Five first year titleholder, as Wake and State are by far the outstanding clubs in the loop this season.

Gleanings On Sports Teams At Carolina

Sports fans hereabouts are still talking about that Carolina - Duke game ... and the more important one to follow on the Duke court February 22. Many and varied are the reasons and explanations which are put forth ... But the most logical one is that the White Phantoms just ran their own legs off the first half, and Duke had more reserves and staying power the second.

Whatever it was, the consensus is the Tar Heels looked like world-beaters the first half and Duke the second. And if a team could put two such halves together, it could probably beat any team in the country.

It was probably the queerest game this famous rivalry has ever seen. Carolina raced to a 31-19 lead at half. Duke got the same 31 points the second, but Carolina made only 13. ... George Glamack topped all the individual stars with 21 points. ... But Duke's reserves clearly had the best of their deal with the Carolina subs.

The first of the annual classics surpassed all past interest. Not only was every seat jammed by the capacity audience ... The local telegraph office received wires for the score from as far away as Wyoming. ... and the sportswriters' "filo" of 5099 words afterwards broke all records for a basketball game in this State.

The big question around the Hill now is what the Tar Heels will do when they meet the Devils at Duke again February 22. And Coach Bill Lange and the Phantoms have already started getting ready. ... Two or three shifts and new combinations are reported in the experimental stage. And the whole team is striving to get in shape to play two halves like they played the first against Duke.

Big home event on Carolina's schedule this week is the Duke boxing match Saturday night. Both have strong teams; and a stamp of class boxes. ... But the chief speculation hinges on how Frank Blue, Duke's new football heavy, will come up with Gates Kinnball. ... Big event following week will be the 11th Conference Indoor Games, when we find Carolina and Maryland holding a star-studded field.

Contests On For Titles In Physical Ed

The physical education inter-squad playoffs at Henderson high school are being held this week by both boys and girls.

The girls began their competition yesterday, and the finals are expected to be completed by tonight.

The boys will begin their championship play Wednesday.

The preliminary rounds of girls' basketball, squad I, led by Ann Perry, defeated Squad M, captained by Annie Knight by 16 to 10 margin. Squad T, whose leader is Dorothy Newton, won over Squad K, Rosalie Watson, the captain, 6 to 6. Squad I and T meet today for the title.

Molly Bugg Ellis won the final in the table tennis division by defeating Rosalie Watson. Miss Ellis eliminated Bessie Dworky, and Miss Watson dropped Joseph Freeman from the running.

Each squad qualified one girl for the high jump, with the lead being narrowed down to four contestants, Mary Jane Parham, Mary Sue Smith, Barbara Patterson and Estelle Hester, who contended for the title today.

Monograms are being offered to each member of the winning team in each event, and the playful drawing enthusiasm and interest from the student body.

Today, shuffleboard and volleyball were play, with the final in basketball and the high jump being run-off.

Louis Is Through, Tony Galento Says

Orange, N. J., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Tony Galento has $10,000 that says he'll ston Joe Louis in five rounds when they meet for the world heavyweight boxing championship this summer.

Jimmey Frain, Galento's trainer, said the beer barrel poker wants to bet Louis, his managers or any of his friends $10,000 the champion will not answer the bell for the sixth round.

Galento said, "He couldn't hurt Arturo Godoy last Friday night. Godoy's ears and mouth were split after our six-round fight on the Louis-Braddock card in Chicago two summers ago. I wasn't even scratched."

Chief among these, of course, is the footnote to Rule 29, Section 1, which makes it illegal to test "the surface especially prepared for putting by roughing or scraping it with a club or otherwise." Henceforth, this will come under the heading of "placing a mark" on the green, and will be subject to the penalty already on the books for such marking: Loss of the hole in match play, a two-stroke penalty in medal play.

When individuals break contracts it is usually; but when nations do it they call it diplomacy.

Duke Takes Clemson, 39-37

Clemson, S. C., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Duke defeated Clemson 39 to 37 in an overtime Southern Conference basketball game last night before 3,800 wildly cheering fans.

In the extra period, Allen, Duke reserve center, put in two field baskets in the first minute and then the Blue Devils froze the ball while holding Clemson to two points, a field goal by Lancaster, in the remaining four minutes. The second half had ended 35-35.

Tigers Take Lead. Clemson, defending Southern Conference titleholder, got off to a 9 to 6 advantage in the first eight minutes, but Duke, current conference leader, pulled ahead at halftime 21 to 17 principally through the brilliant shooting of Mock, a forward.

The Tigers tied the score after five minutes of the second half, but fell behind again when their key man, Center Banks McFadden, fouled out. But the Tigers rallied once more a few minutes later when Lancaster sent through two field goals and a foul, tying the score with seven minutes to go.

Shokes Gets Two. Shokes' two field baskets sent the Durham club in front again. It looked like a Duke victory, but with only 10 second remaining Barney Coyle lifted a high one from mid-court that slashed through to tie the score.
