JOHN M. HUGHES

J. M. HUGHES, JR.

Hughes Is Old Furniture Firm

The Hughes Furniture Store, corner of Garnett and Montgomery streets, stocks one of the most complete and attractive lines of furniture to be found in this territory, and has been for many years one of the established and reliable firms of the Henderson business section. John M. Hughes, head of the business, is perhaps the oldest furniture merchant in this part of the state, having been in this field for nearly a third of a century in Henderson. Recently, he has been joined in the operation of the business by his son, John M. Hughes, Jr., who came to the store following his graduation from The Citadel, the military college of South Carolina. The younger member of the firm is already establishing himself as a valuable aide to his father, and is showing himself to be an important addition to the young businessmen of the city. New stocks of merchandise have been arriving for some time at the store in anticipation of fall business and Mr. Hughes states that the offerings is the most complete and attractive that has been shown in many years. Complete furnishings for all rooms of the home are augmented by full lines of new ranges, heaters, cook stoves, oil stoves and ranges, and oil burning heaters which are featured in the fall sales campaign. Electric refrigerators and radios are carried in important departments of the store.

recognition were Mrs. Bell C. Bodie, of Oxford, who conducted a private art class in the high school last year; Dr. A. D. Gregg, county health officer; Mrs. Ellen Cooper, who for many years carried on social work in North Henderson before P. T. A. was organized here. Two ladies who had charge of adult education work last year were recognized, these being Mrs. Winnie Askew at South Henderson, and Miss Mamie Lee Collins at North Henderson. Mr. Rollins closed the meeting by expressing thanks and appreciation to all who had a hand in making the day a success.

Miss Beaseley And George Boyd Marry

Of much interest to friends here is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Sarah Elizabeth Beaseley, of Franklin, Tenn., to George Venable Boyd, II, made by the bride's mother, Mrs. William Max Beaseley, of Franklin. The marriage took place there on Monday, September 2, 1940. Mr. Boyd, the son of Mrs. George Venable Boyd and the late Mr. Boyd, of Henderson, is a graduate of Henderson high school. He completed his education at Maxton college, in Maxton. Mrs. Boyd is the attractive daughter of Mrs. Beaseley and the late Mr. Beaseley, of Franklin. The couple are taking a bridal trip through the Great Smoky mountains, and after October 1 will be at home in Gallatin, Tenn., where Mr. Boyd will be manager of the newly opened Draper and Darwin store.

Junior Red Cross Is Formed Here

The Henderson chapter of the Junior American Red Cross was organized on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. D. Wall and plans are already under way for a very active season for the club. Officers chosen at the meeting included: president, Dick Wall; vice-president, Jean Candler; secretary and treasurer, Vesta Wester; membership chairman, M. W. Wester; chairman of home nursing and first aid, Jean Candler; chairman foreign correspondence, Helen Houtt, who will serve with David Mangum, Kenneth Isley, and Viola Hoyle as members of her committee; chairman of entertainment, Helen Teiser, with Charlie Blackburn and M. W. Wester; chairman of knitting committee, Catherine Bunn; and chairman of the sewing committee, Jackie Wester. The latter group will work out a program of sewing in the home economic classes of the school, according to plans made. Various projects for the coming year were discussed during the meeting, and at the close of the business a social hour was enjoyed, during which the hostess served delicious refreshments. Monthly meetings will be held hereafter.

Company C Needs Some 45 More Men

Company C, local unit of the 120th Infantry of the North Carolina National Guard, will require about 45 new men to bring its personnel to full strength of 129 needed for active duty, to which it has already been called. Captain C. B. Sturges, in command, said today. Along with all other local and State units of the National Guard, this organization will mobilize next Monday at the Armory here. The soldiers will be held here for a week or two to allow time to recruit their full strength. Captain Sturges said his company would lose about ten men through the provision that permits those with dependents to retire. He has on hand some 28 applications for enlistment, but recruiting will not begin until next Monday, following mobilization. He is hopeful that there will be a sufficient response on the part of Henderson and Vance county men during the time the unit is quartered here to fill out the full quota before departure for Camp Jackson, where National Guard companies of the State have been ordered for a year of training. Addition of a number of new men has virtually recruited the Service Company of the Medical Regiment to its newly authorized and required strength of 50-odd. With the draft measure almost certain to be enacted this week in Congress, many local young men are joining with guard units stationed in this city so as to be assigned to duty with men they know and with whom they have been associated.

Marian Martin Pattern

A SLIM PANELED HOUSEFROCK Marian Martin PATTERN 9519

This trim housefrock would make you feel "at home" anywhere... it's so figure-flattering. Marian Martin has planned Pattern 9519 especially for the larger-sized women, and every detail really slims. For instance, that long front panel goes all the way from shoulders to hem in a flowing, unbroken line. And the bias-cut side bodice sections are made in low points for a slender long-waisted effect. Notice the double skirt panels at each side-front—they give becoming lines and extra ease through the skirt. The whole back of the frock is in just two simple pieces. Make this long or short-sleeved style in a jiffy with the Sew Chart for aid. Pattern 9519 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 4 yards 39 inch material. Send fifteen cents in coins for each Marian Martin pattern. Thirty cents (30c) for both. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and style number. Send your order to Henderson Daily Dispatch, Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th Street, New York, N. Y.

SUDDEN SHOWER.
Low in the West a band of saffron light
Showed how the sunset still went out in flame;
And, standing there upon the edge of night,
We saw the darkness gather, saw it claim
All earth and sky, feeling the sultry air
Press warm against us; and the husk that fell
Needed no answer, far away the flare
Of lightning brought the thunder's deepening swell.
And then a great wind came and in its wake
A rush of rain that jubilantly beat
Upon us, who were thankful to partake
Of all that freshness, after summer heat.
Not long before the dripping leaves would shake
Down starlight on a world grown cool and sweet!
Leslie Nelson Jennings.

544 Enrolled At Henderson High School

First day enrollment for the 1940-41 term of Henderson high school was announced today by W. D. Payne, high school principal, as a total of 544 students, and indications were that this number would be increased tomorrow when definite figures are available. Enrollment by classes today was 109 seniors, 125 juniors, 143 seniors and 137 freshmen, with 15 or more students transferred to Henderson from other schools and not yet classified, and approximately 15 post graduate students enrolled. All students in the high school met this morning at 9 o'clock in the high school auditorium for the opening assembly of the year, at which Rev. B. C. Reavis, pastor of the First Methodist church, was the principal speaker. Greetings to the freshmen and to the student body were brought by the various class and organization officers and by Principal Payne, and the high school band played several numbers. Rev. Mr. Reavis told the students not to be frightened by "scarecrow" which they may see in their high school studies, but to develop their talents and to follow the example of the Good Samaritan in helping other students. Following the assembly the students went to home rooms and then through a shortened class schedule, with dismissal for the day at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The same schedule is to be followed tomorrow, with assembly at 9 o'clock, when Rev. E. Norfleet Gardner, pastor of the First Baptist church, will address the students. Regular class schedules are to begin Monday morning.
