

Light Selling Cotton Prices In Stock Mart Trend Lower

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Light selling persisted in today's stock market, although air transports, steels and scattered specialties contested the trend.

Industrials wavered at the start in a fair show of activity. Dealings subsequently slowed and losses running to a point were trimmed near the fourth hour or replaced with modest advances.

Big Business of State Is Stinging In Contributions To Demo Campaign Fund

rightly to chip in with so much as a nickel for the national campaign. Mr. Denny says they have been equally skimp-illuminated with the state organization.
Dick finally has induced one member of the Hanes family to contribute to the national campaign. Jim Hanes has agreed to give $250, which is no great sum, but the fact that Jim Hanes is a candidate on the Democratic ticket, running for coun-

...the Hanes, it should be said he claims he has had to donate more than usual to the county organization which is said to be suffering largely because of detection of the "super-crust" around Winston-Salem. The boys with the big money bags in that section are generally regarded as pro-Willkie and their stand is helping the Democrats financially all the way down the line.

Despite the refusal of the richest class to furnish any of the sinews of war, neither Mr. Reynolds nor Mr. Denny is pessimistic over the job of raising a sufficient war chest to carry on to the end of the campaign.

The state chairman, in fact, told your reporter it is his opinion that this year's crop of contributors to the state campaign will contain the names of more business men of the "middle" and "little" groups than ever before in North Carolina's political history.

Among this middle class which Marxists and Communists would disdainfully style the bourgeoisie—enthusiasm for Roosevelt, Broughton and the Democratic party is even more ardent than is ordinarily the case, Mr. Denny said.

Mr. Reynolds dithered the Denny analysis of the situation and appears to be reasonably well satisfied with results of his money raising efforts—not over-enthusiastic by any means but seemingly satisfied that there'll be funds enough to keep the campaign kettle simmering if not actually boiling over and putting out the fire.

Both state and national committee officials feel that there is a peculiar need for money this fall because their task in getting out the full Democratic vote is going to be more difficult than usual on account of the almost complete absence of local contests. The November elections will see the national and state tickets up in the top, with absolutely nothing under them in North Carolina except a few scattered county races for the North Carolina House.

Candidates Court Votes

"With the help of the leaders both of labor and of industry, I want to put an end to this era of bad feeling," Willkie said.
The Republican nominee later announced that he intended to reply to any "political speeches" by President Roosevelt within 48 and probably 24 hours of their delivery. Mr. Roosevelt plans four more such speeches in his third term campaign for the presidency.
Herbert Hoover made his first speech of the campaign at Columbus, Ohio, last night and asserted that the New Deal was treading an economic system which drifts steadily away the precedent in taking an active part in the pre-election campaign. In 1933, he pointed out, the late George McNeill of Fayetteville, then a member of the state board of elections, was named chairman of the Democratic committee of the 7th Congressional district.

Hall said he questioned the propriety of this connection and wrote Chairman R. Gregg Cherry of the state Democratic executive committee, McNeill, however, served as district Democratic chairman.

Capital Gossip

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 25.—Strategy for the home stretch drive of North Carolina Democrats will be planned on Friday night when State Chairman E. B. Denny, his advisory committee and other officials of the organization will sit down for dinner at 7:30 o'clock in the Sir Walter.

Attending will be Mr. Denny, Vice Chairman Mrs. P. P. McCann, Secretary Arch Allen, Publicist Ted Powell, YDC President Ralph Gardner, "Minister-Without-Portfolio" Oscar Pitts; and the advisory committee composed of Monroe M. Redden, Hendersonville; Richard D. Dickson, Edenton; Dr. J. Y. Joyner, LeGrange; D. L. Ward, New Bern; Rimous T. Valentine, Nashville; Victor S. Bryant, Durham; Dickson McLean, Lumberton; Horton Doughton, Statesville; Pat Taylor, Gastonia; and J. Lee Wilson, Lexington, the secretary.

Mr. Denny said he will tell the committee what has been done so far in the campaign, making an account of his stewardship, so to speak; after which he plans to ask the advice of all present as to the conduct of the campaign during its closing stages.

In the report classification, the chairman will have many successful and enthusiastic party rallies in all sections to relate. He will also outline the story of the campaign finances.
There has seldom been a campaign in which the state organization has worked as hard and as steadily. Probably it has been the first time such work has been absolutely essential as it is the first state and national

...that year in which there are no local contests.
Dick Reynolds, scion of one of Winston-Salem's wealthiest families, is an astonishingly outspoken individual in the political field—refreshingly so when compared with many of the wise, cagey oldtimers out of whom there cannot be had an opinion in an omnibus load.
Asked what he thought of Thurmond Chatham and Jim McNair, Conservation and Development Board members who have announced for Willkie, and whether or not they should resign or be ousted he said:
"It seems to me they should look to Mr. McNeill (G. O. P. candidate for governor) for any state appointments they want."

Incidentally there is all sorts of speculation about the political fate of the rich anti-New Dealers who are refusing to give either to national or state Democratic campaigns.
It is recalled that many of these same folks (or at least the group they represent) were among the most ardent purgers of the party after the 1928 Smith debacle in North Carolina.

There is a strong suspicion that the regime of Governor Clyde R. Hoey would tolerate the revolt against Roosevelt, but general opinion is that J. M. Broughton is honestly and sincerely for the President. When he takes over, there will likely be short thrift for the rebels—most of whom were not even for Broughton in the primary, any way.
