Objectives in the Philippines

This map shows the principal objectives of Japanese raiders in the Philippines. Manila has already been subjected to heavy air attacks, particularly on the Fort McKinley and Nichols airfields. Fort Stotsenburg, Clark Field, Camp John Hay and Baguio have also been hit by the raiders. Davao, on the Island of Mindanao, has been bombed, with a U. S. aircraft carrier reported attacked in Davao Gulf. Japanese troops were reported to have landed on Lubang Island, off the north-western tip of Mindoro.
