CHAPTER SIXTEEN NOTHING was said as Anette Verrazano and the two producers drove toward the Blackstone hotel. Anette hoped she might be going to get off without further punishment.

"How long have you been doing a turn at the State-Lake?" "Instead of answering, the girl asked seriously, 'What on earth were you doing there?'"

"He's fine, but I didn't have dinner with Larry. I had dinner with Louis Lyndon. I ate mine. She drank hers."

"I didn't know I was on display," she began in a shrill voice. "Verrazano waited until the waiter placed seafood cocktails on the table, before asking, 'Why else did you think you'd be alone in a box with a spotlight on you?'"

Navy Offers Trade Ratings

Raleigh, March 11—North Carolina workers will have another opportunity on March 18 and 19 to interview a Bureau of Yards and Docks officer for naval reserve rates in the Navy's new construction program.

Construction program, being organized by the Navy at bases outside the continental limits of the United States, is composed of skilled and unskilled workers who carry on their trade or work as diagnosticians in the naval reserve. Appointments are being made in ratings up to and including chief petty officer, depending upon the age, experience and other qualifications of the applicants.

In addition to the base pay of the various ratings, which ranges up to $99 per month, men accepted for the program will be entitled to all the incidentals which other enlisted men receive, including housing, food, clothing, transportation, medical and dental care. Cash allowances for quarters are provided for married men with ratings of petty officers second class or above.

Enlistments for the program have been heavy in North Carolina, reported Lt. Comdr. McFarland W. Wood, officer-in-charge of Navy recruiting in the state, but numerous vacancies still exist for most trades and an unlimited number of unskilled workers are being enlisted as laborers.
