

Axis Treachery May Help Allies, Stewart Believes

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

Washington, March 20 (AP)—The Japanese are so busy with their own internal problems that they are unable to do anything to help the Axis cause. They are so busy that they are unable to do anything to help the Axis cause. They are so busy that they are unable to do anything to help the Axis cause.

of Africa, and later a crack, in fact, with them, at the whole of the western hemisphere. It is conceivable, though, that the Japanese may question that he can deliver the goods. Furthermore, supposing that, with their assistance, which evidently he operatively needs, he would not be prepared to pay so much for it, he finally is in a position to make delivery will be kept his word. It will be left to hang onto the cables, not forcing the Japanese to fight him in turn to get their hands off him. And that would be a predicament, too. They might not win, of course, any farther than a man could throw a ball by the rules of the game than he traces them.

Now, these things are all things that men and the world are waiting for. The Japanese are so busy that they are unable to do anything to help the Axis cause. They are so busy that they are unable to do anything to help the Axis cause.

That Nippon would be glad to grab Siberia isn't disputed by that it'll be disposed to fight Russia for it, but at its individual convenience—not Hees' Hitler's. It has been doing unpleasantly from the United Nations' standpoint well for itself this far in Burma, Thailand, the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies and down toward Australia. What's the matter? Asks Jap ex-War Minister Shiroto Itagaki (a general and a big name), with consolidating our conquests. A peace made regardless of taking on a lot of fresh commitments in Hitler's behalf.

Mutual Suspicion. President they are suspicious of all it is of anybody else in the immediate future.

These mutual suspicions are a hindrance to the democracies. They don't enter mutually into the equation. By the way, the Japanese are so busy that they are unable to do anything to help the Axis cause.
