PEONY.

A mighty bush, the peony,
Is bound, so long as it exists,
To give up blossoms just like this,
This white, this red, this white-red mix.
And healy as the blossoms are,
And glad as beauties as they grow,
Believe me, they have traveled far,
They are not made up of a cloud
That drifted, broke, and fell apart
Then here retain a murky glow
Like moonlight on a cap of snow,
And in the leaves here is the stain
Of many waters, as if the rain
Fluctuated in the sea
And come back in the peony
And those of us who itch to pick
A blossom, we can bear the tick
Where those like clockwork in the blown
Chalk off another June,

Miss Katherine Turner Weds Graham Cornelius

The marriage of Miss Katherine Harriet Turner, of this city, and Hugh Graham Cornelius, of Mooresville and Wilmington, was solemnized in a simple ceremony Sunday morning at 9 o'clock in the First Baptist church. The pastor, the Rev. E. Norfleet Gardner, officiated, using the double ring ceremony. Prior to the ceremony Mrs. James Connell, organist, played "To A Wild Rose," McDowell, "Ave Maria," Gounod, and "Liebestraum," Liszt. The traditional wedding marches of Wagner and Mendelssohn were played for the professional and recessional.

The ushers were W. R. Turner, brother of the bride, and H. M. Turner, of Oxford, a cousin of the bride. The couple entered the church together. The bride wore a dress of powder blue crepe with dark blue accents. At her shoulder she wore a veil.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius left on a wedding trip to an unannounced destination. Upon their return they will be at home in Wilmington.

Mrs. Cornelius is the daughter of Mrs. Richard S. Turner and the late Mr. Turner, of Henderson. She graduated from Woman's college of the University of North Carolina and for the past several years has been a member of the faculty of the Fayetteville school.

Mr. Cornelius is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George O. Cornelius, of Mooresville. He is connected with the office of United States engineers in Wilmington.

Saturday evening following the rehearsal Mrs. Richard S. Turner and Mrs. W. R. Turner entertained at an informal cake-cutting at the bride's home for the wedding party, out of town guests, and a few friends.

West End Country Club Plans Beach Club Party

Attractive arrangements of an entertainment at West End Country Club Friday evening, June 26, from 9 to 12 o'clock have been issued club members, and a gala occasion is planned. The announcement follows:

"A very sporty beach club has opened at West End.

Wear anything you please, but we hope you will attend.

From 9 to 12 we'll dance and dine or sit out on the grass.

And mingling with our friends the time most happily will pass.

The rolling surf is far away and since we cannot roam,

We can enjoy the West End Beach most pleasantly at home.

Friday, June 26, 1942."

The entertainment committee and the house committee are jointly in charge of arrangements, with the pool committee and the dance committee cooperating.

Attractive decorations and refreshments are promised to all who attend. The club is anxious that there be a good attendance of the members to support the program of club activities planned by the new president, D. Boyd Kimball.

Revelation Subject For Baptist Talk

The pastor of the First Baptist church, E. Norfleet Gardner, preached on "Revelation of Revelation" at the eleven o'clock war lip hour Sunday. The book of Revelation is filled with truths for all times. Some of these were discussed in the message.

Great blessing will be received by the good reader, he said. "Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep these things, which are written therein." Fortunate is the man who seeks good material for his reading matter. More fortunate is the one who keeps an attentive mind while he reads, or listens to what is read of the word of God. Most highly to be blessed is he who treasures the truths from the word of God learned in his reading and listening, and puts them into practice.

Blessing upon those who die as "Christians." "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth. Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

Likewise, blessing is conferred for those invited to the supper of the Lamb. This is the gift of salvation. "Blessed are they which are called unto the marriage supper of the Lamb." There is no greater blessing for man than this.

Blessing upon him who stands ready. "Behold, I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, so that he may not find his door open." "Watch, therefore, for ye know not what hour. Frequent communion is a placed upon selfishness in the Bible. There is need of keeping in readiness for the assaults of Satan come unexpectedly. One must be watchful in order to be ready to accept the challenge and answer the call that come to Christians for immediate service.

Blessing upon the obedient. "Blessed is he that keepeth the sayings of the prophecy of this book." Obedience assures eternal life and opens the gates into heaven.

Training Course To Be Given Here

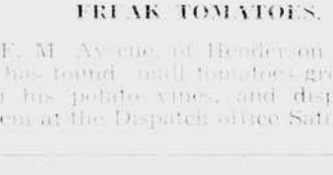

New employment claims procedures will be the subject of a three-day training course to be given for the benefit of the personnel of the Employment Office in Henderson on June 29 and 30 and July 1, by R. B. Billings, claims deputy, for the North Carolina Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Mr. Billings comes here from Raleigh where he has been taking part in a general conference on claims procedures. Similar training courses are being held this week and next in all the 47 local employment offices throughout the state.

The Raleigh conference on claims procedures met at the headquarters of the Unemployment Compensation Commission on June 15, 16, and 17, for the purpose of planning methods to help the commission's agents in handling the insurance claims of North Carolina workers who lose their jobs. Special topics considered by the group and as to which the Employment Office staff will be instructed, include procedures for handling claims for total and for partial unemployment, the handling of contested and inter-state claims, preparation of determinations, prosecution and appeal problems, the scope of coverage in liability cases, and Commission policies.
