SUNSET IN THE CITY.

I saw their faces looking up
To where the sky and stone should meet.
I stood alone on the dull street
And looked to see what distant planes passed by.
What new excitement filled the evening sky.
But all I saw and all they saw
Were pink clouds floating in the blue
Such clouds as move above a country-land.
Where evening is forever bright and new.
Like feathers from some legendary bird.
They drifted slowly through the upper air.
I saw one woman lift her faded
hand.
As though to push aside the narrow frame.
Or some that kept the other sky
away.
The wind blew—and sunset was once more a name.
Murmured in wonder at the end of day.

Library Receives Current Biography

Personal life stories of 991 people who are a part of today's news are now available to local readers in Current Biography 1941, a new 947-page book just received at the H. L. Perry Memorial Library. Mrs. Perry, librarian, announced today.

More than 160 important international and domestic government figures, 26 military leaders including General Douglas MacArthur, and 26 diplomats are included among the personalities of 24 professions whose biographies and photographs appear in this publication of The H. W. Wilson Company of New York City.

Current Biography is particularly recommended to two classes of library patrons, the librarian explained. Accurate and precise, the life sketches are valuable to many war-hardened people who have no extra time for research and who appreciate the editors' conscientious study of 144 current magazines and 3 newspapers for the past year. The human interest value plus the interesting editorial style make the sketches an entertaining reading for many people who particularly now are interested in knowing the real backgrounds of men and women making tomorrow's history.

Among the little-known facts which are brought to light in this second annual volume of Current Biography are such items as Yvonne Makino, Japanese foreign minister, was graduated from the University of Oregon in 1900; "Cowboy" Gary Cooper is actually the son of a former English lawyer; General Douglas MacArthur, sued two leading Washington columnists for libel several years ago; Lily Dache, French-born hat designer, daily closes her whole New York establishment for an hour so she can lunch undisturbed with her husband; Co-mo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury, became converted to the church the night before taking his bar examinations; United States Sen. for Wagner from New York, said to have placed in the books "legislative" more important and more far-reaching than any American in history; was born in Germany; before Carmen Miranda, South American "ambassador" of good will, was "discovered" in America she had already toured the South American continent nine times.

Birth of Son.

Mr. and Mrs. Wil on S. Hoyte announce the birth of a son, William Smith Hoyte, Jr., at Mary Parham Hospital on June 20. Mrs. Hoyte was formerly Miss Alexine Barnes, of New Oxford.

Miss Margaret Wilson Weds William Glover

Of widespread social interest was the marriage on Saturday, June 20, at 5:30 o'clock of Miss Margaret Emma Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Wilson, of Williamsboro, and Hayden William Glover, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Glover, of Daney. The impressive ring ceremony was used and the vows were spoken before the Rev. G. Vann Stephens, of Warsaw, who was assisted by the Rev. J. Marshall Walker, pastor of Island Creek Baptist church, in which the wedding took place.

The church decorations were most effective, figured candles in conical arrangement and a glowing glow over a profusion of autumn leaf fern, white gladiolus and lily's breath in large white baskets formed an artistic setting for the wedding which was outstanding in its simplicity and beauty.

A program of musical music was rendered by Mrs. Aiyun P. Barnes, of Henderson, at the piano, and Mrs. J. Vann Stephens, of Warsaw, sang. The numbers included "And Sweet Mystery of Life," Victor Herbert; "Indian Love Call," Frank; "The Sweetest Thing Ever Told," Stutz; "Will you remember," Bonanzini; "Mrs. Stephens sang I Love you Truly Carrie J. Cook, and "Because," D'Hardelot. During the ceremony "Drink to me Only With Thine Eyes" was softly played, and traditional wedding marches were used for professional and recessional.

The bride was escorted by her father, S. E. Wilson, by whom she was given in marriage. Her gown, of ivory satin, was fashioned along simple lines, with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves pointed over her hands, and court train. A full-length veil of white net was held in place by a tiera of pleated ruffles, interspersed with gardenias. Her bouquet was fashioned from gardenias and baby's breath centered with a single white orchid.

She chose for her maid of honor her sister, Miss Frances Wilson. Her dress was of orchid lace and net made along full lines with sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves, and she wore short lace mittens with net ruffles.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. E. M. Blackstone, of Petersburg, Va., sister of the groom and Miss Anne Marshall Leamy, cousin of the bride. Their dresses were of pink lace net. Miss Anne Leigh Tippet, cousin of the bride, and Miss Bertha Evans Wilson, the bride's sister, were junior bridesmaids, and wore dresses of blue lace and net. The dresses of all bridesmaids were identical with that of the maid of honor. They carried arm bouquets of gladioli, and their hats were matching net catfishes.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina Teachers college, in Greenville. She was a member of Sigma Chi Alpha, honorary French Institute, Lanier literary society, Y. W. C. A., English club, music club, and Ki Phi Players. For the past three years she has taught English and French in Daney high school.

The groom attended Wake Forest college where he was a student of medicine. He later attended State college where he prepared for defense work, and is now stationed in Huntsville, Alabama, in that capacity.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding reception was held in the Wilson home. Mrs. Wilson greeted guests at the door and presented them to the receiving line, composed of the bride's party and parents of the groom.

The home was beautifully decorated with a profusion of summer flowers. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white snapdragons and baby's breath. Silver candlesticks held lighted white tapers. Mrs. Aiyun P. Barnes poured punch and bridal teas and cakes were served by Misses Virginia Bullock, Edith Tippet, Mary Anne Bullock, and Ann Tillison. Mrs. C. S. Tippet, aunt of the bride, registered the guests. About 150 guests called during the afternoon.

The couple left on a bridal trip, after which they will be at home in Huntsville, Ala. For traveling the bride wore an ensemble of surf tan and beige. Her shoulder corsage was taken from her bridal bouquet.

Among the out-of-town guests present were: Leon Glover and Miss Betsy Jane Glover, of Wilson; Miss Rachel Lewter, of Apex, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Adams, of Raleigh, Rev. and Mrs. G. Vann Stephens and Miss Frances Stephens, of Warsaw; Miss Mary Bynum Dork and George Fuller of Louisville; Miss Esther F. Royster, of Asbury Park, N. J.; Miss Katherine Shanks, of Dunn, and Miss Nancy Winston, of Youngsville.

Has Appendectomy.

Miss Susie Lee Greenaway underwent an operation for appendicitis at Maria Parham hospital recently, and her condition is said to be satisfactory.

Cross's Column

Overheard at The Army-Navy Relief Show:

"Yeah, some of those boys who were at Pearl Harbor are at the school now. . . One of 'em is in the same barracks with me. . . he says you don't ever forget the sound of those Zeros, once you hear 'em. He says ten minutes is enough to make you remember 'em as long as you live. . . When a Jap comes along in one of those Zeros, it sounds like a V-8 coming down a straight road doing ninety miles an hour. . . when an American plane comes along, boy, he says it sounds like a V-8 coming down a straight road doing ninety-one with the muffler off!"

True Story:

It was a long time ago. . . There were five little Thome sisters, all near the same age, and they lived in one of the oldest of the Thome houses in Halifax county. The sisters all slept in the same room. One night they went up stairs to bed. They flew out the lamp and said their prayers, and climbed into bed. There was quiet for a few minutes. . .

"Do you hear something?" whispered one little girl.

"Hear what?" whispered another.

"I hear it" said a third. "It's somebody breathing." Five girls held their breaths for five seconds. Yes, there was the sound of a sixth person breathing in the room.

The five little girls ran downstairs to tell their father, who was, of course, even stern, kind of man. He was sure the girls were mistaken. No one could have come in without being seen. He talked to them and sent them back to bed.

For the second time the girls climbed into bed. . . and listened. There was someone breathing. And I was in the same room with them. They tumbled down the stairs more scared than ever.

Again their father tried to reassure them, but the girls refused to go back to bed. Father strode up the staircase, lamp in hand, with girls trailing along behind him. He went into the bedroom. He listened, and five pair of anxious ears listened along with him. Even the Father could hear the breathing now, heavy and panting. Beneath one of the beds he found the intruder. . . the most enormous dog any of them had ever seen! The house was miles from the

Each week the Daily Dispatch Raleigh Bureau will answer questions concerning the war's effect on civilians. All answers will be officially verified. Send your question to the Daily Dispatch Raleigh Bureau, P. O. Box 1209, Raleigh, N. C.

Q. I have lost my sugar rationing book, and my local board says I cannot get one for two months. Is that correct?

A. Sorry, ma'am. That's correct.

Q. My beach cottage tenant at Atlantic Beach has taken another family in with him, in violation of our agreement. Does the rent regulation prevent me from raising his rent?

A. No. Carteret county is not yet under compulsory rent regulations. You can raise his rent or evict him. Better put that agreement in writing.

Q. I have gasoline coupons unused during the interim ration period. Will they be good after the permanent rationing plan goes into effect?

A. No. The temporary gas rationing card will not be redeemable for gasoline after July 15.

Q. I sold a carbonated drink in March at my fountain for 5 cents and the same drink was sold in so this for 10 cents. Can the fountain drink now be raised to 10 cents.

A. No. Price regulations provide maximum price shall be the price charged to a customer of the same class.

Q. Can a tailor take a suit and finish it with trouser cuffs?

A. No. An amendment prohibits any person from doing this.

Q. I understand grease and fats are now being salvaged?

A. Not yet. That campaign is due to start in July, to recover material for glycerine.

Q. Are physicians as a class going to be drafted?

A. Don't know. War manpower commission says response of volunteers for medical service is dis-

Miss Elliott To Washington

Greensboro, June 23.—Drafted by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Miss Harriet Elliott, dean of women of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, will today in Washington take over her new duties as director of the women's division in the treasury's bond program.

Miss Elliott left last night for Washington, where she has been twice within the past ten years at the call of Morgenthau. This time she will remain on a temporarily permanent basis—for the summer, at least.

Working in the Treasury Department, Miss Elliott will set up a national committee and a nationwide organization for placing before the women of America their country's bond program.

Being drafted for governmental service is no new experience for the dynamic dean of women of the Woman's College. In May, 1940, President Roosevelt appointed her as the only woman member of the National Defense Commission, and when the commission was reorganized she became associate administrator in charge of the consumer division. From this post she resigned last November to return to the college and resume fulltime her responsibilities as dean of women. Since then she has, however, continued to serve the consumer division in an advisory capacity, which has necessitated monthly trips to Washington.

Q. I understand grease and fats are now being salvaged?

A. Not yet. That campaign is due to start in July, to recover material for glycerine.

Q. Are physicians as a class going to be drafted?

A. Don't know. War manpower commission says response of volunteers for medical service is dis-

WITH OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

Here for Week-End.

Sgt. Wm. J. Vaughan of Philadelphia spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Vaughan, on Glendon Ave. He has recently been transferred to a Coast Guard unit and will leave the first week in July for an officers' training school. He expects to return from his week on a short furlough for a few days.
