Stewart Says President's Snub at Correspondent Is Viewed as a Bouquet

By CHARLES H. STEWART

President Roosevelt

Washington, Jan. 2.—The snubbing of Charles H. Stewart, a correspondent for the Henderson Daily Dispatch, by President Roosevelt at the White House on Dec. 29, 1942, is viewed as a bouquet, Stewart says today.

Stewart, who is in Washington on a special assignment, said that he had been invited to the White House on Dec. 29, 1942, to meet with the president and other members of the cabinet.

Stewart said that he had been invited to the White House on Dec. 29, 1942, to meet with the president and other members of the cabinet.

Fire On Henderson-Louisburg Highway December 31

Two and One-Half Miles East of Henderson

Robert Hawkins, owner and proprietor of the Green Star Service Station, wishes to thank the firemen of the Henderson Fire Department; the white and colored friends and neighbors in the community for their assistance, as a destructive fire, of an unknown origin, destroyed the entire building. We will continue to live at our home until further arrangement is made. Thanks for your cooperation.
