

Institutions Win Changes On Rationing

In the Sir Walter Hotel, the Dispatch Bureau. BY LYNN NISBET. Raleigh, April 12—Arrangements for the post rationing rules recently promulgated by the office of the administration are expected to take care of the problem of institutional farms, producing large quantities of rationed produce for the use of their own people.

The question is of vital importance to the State prison farm department as well as some of the other State institutions. Original OPA rationing plans would have required hundreds of post rationing stamps for each and every pound of produce.

Several conferences are being held at Washington by representatives of the State institutions, the OPA and other State agencies. The purpose of these conferences is to get a preliminary agreement on the new rationing plan. It is expected that the final agreement will be reached by the end of the month. It is also expected that the OPA will issue a new set of rationing stamps which will be valid for all State institutions.

The new rationing stamps will be valid for all State institutions. It is expected that the OPA will issue a new set of rationing stamps which will be valid for all State institutions. This will be a great relief to the institutions, which will no longer have to worry about the problem of obtaining stamps for their produce.

TRANSIENT LABOR CAMP PREPARED

Raleigh, April 12—Plans for a new transient labor camp for housing emergency labor for harvesting strawberries and other truck crops are being prepared by the State Department of Agriculture. The camp will be located near the town of Wallace and will be ready for occupancy by the end of the month.

Approximately ten million additional pounds of heavy tobacco will be made available to manufacturers since the 1943 crop has exceeded the Department of Agriculture's estimate.

AROUND CAPITOL SQUARE

By LYNN NISBET, Daily Dispatch Bureau, In The Sir Walter Hotel—Raleigh

HOLIDAY April 12, although one of the State holidays honored by a piece on the North Carolina flag, was not generally observed. The date commemorates the adoption of the constitution at the Halifax convention, April 12, 1776. The Continental Congress was in session at the time.

JEFFERSON—April 12 is not a legal holiday in North Carolina, but as the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, it is celebrated with enthusiasm. It is a day of national significance and is observed throughout the country.

ACTUALLY THOMAS Jefferson was born on April 13, 1753. The date of his birth is celebrated in many parts of the country. He is considered one of the greatest statesmen in American history.

THE WOLF RAMP early last week was the scene of a battle between the State Department of Agriculture and the State Department of Health. The battle was over the issue of whether or not the wolf ramp should be used for the purpose of testing the State's stock of sheep.

BONDER—A mass meeting of state, federal, county and city employees in the Raleigh area has been called for Monday afternoon in the hall of the house of representatives for the purpose of starting the war bond drive. Oscar Pitts, prison director, is chairman of this group.

COOPERATION—John Bray, superintendent of State buildings and grounds, and Hugh Wilson, director of industrial and State parks, are cooperating in a program to improve the State's public buildings.

act of members and each afternoon they take turns pulling the garden plow. With one man pushing and the other pulling they claim to get a great deal more work done than both could do working individually.

REVENUE—Since adoption of the so-called "permanent revenue act" in 1939, lawyers have had to check the original act and all amendments appearing in separate law books in order to find what State taxes their clients owe. This year, following numerous changes in the "permanent" act, it has been decided to print the revenue law in one paper-bound volume, with changes and amendments fitted in the right places. That book will be in the press and available for distribution about the middle of June, according to present plans.

"ONE WORLD"—Governor Broughton got another book a day or two ago, the "One World" anthology edited by Wendell Willkie. The book is based on Willkie's "around-the-world" trip some time ago and seeks to emphasize the necessity of all democratic nations working together. Early last week the governor got a copy of Eddie Rickenbacker's "One Day in the Pacific Ocean" which he said "they are like a family" and "they are like a family" and "they are like a family".

BATH "The State's" chief executive is called upon to deliver many sets of commencement addresses each year, and each year the tradition is to have a speech. This year he has chosen to give a speech on the occasion of the graduation of the State's first class of nurses.

war bond campaign now under way deals in such big figures that the average newspaper reader and small bond-buyer can't take them in. The office of war information has broken down these figures so anybody can understand them. It takes about eight and a quarter $25 bonds (net $18.75) to outfit one soldier or marine, and more than five to set to fix up a sailor. Just multiply that by eight and a half million soldiers and some two million sailors and you get an idea what it costs to clothe our armed forces. Add food and equipment, including tanks, ships, airplanes, and all the other fighting implements—and don't forget to add the cost of the war bond drive itself.

PAN AM—Wednesday, April 14, is to be observed as "Pan-American Day." Four Liberty cargo ships will be launched at Wilmington as a part of the observance. One of them will be christened by the wife of the secretary of the Brazilian embassy, Governor Broughton, unable to attend the launching, designated by S. E. Leavitt of the State university faculty to represent the State.

EGGS—Twelve million eggs is a lot of hen fruit. The recently organized poultry cooperative association has handled, since February 3, according to State division of statistics, 32,000 cases of eggs. There are 30 dozen to the case, which figures 960,000 dozen or about eleven and a half million eggs. These eggs came from 135 receiving stations in 60 counties, and brought the producing farmers an average of 31 cent a dozen—nearly $30,000.

READING—For many years morning and afternoon daily newspapers have conducted a sort of friendly feud among themselves, each claiming more reader interest. According to compilation made by John Fain, publisher of the Raleigh Times, the afternoon are winning the argument, so far as North Carolina is concerned. Using the most authentic circulation figures available, Park finds that state morning papers have increased aggregate circulation by about eight and one-half per cent during the past two years. For the same period afternoon dailies have jumped more than 15 per cent in circulation. From the standpoint of cost per page, however, the afternoon papers have it all over the morning dailies. Only one community in the state has morning dailies, while there are 31 afternoon papers with an average circulation of nearly 10,000 each.

BEANS—The bean crop in North Carolina is expected to be the best in a long time. In 1942, the bean crop was about 100,000 bushels. This year it is expected to be about 150,000 bushels. The bean crop is an important source of food and is also used for animal feed.

NAVY TESTS GIVEN HIGH SCHOOL BOYS

W. K. Crawley, recruiting officer of the Navy recruiting station at Raleigh, is giving alertness tests to high school seniors in a high school at Vance county this week, in connection with the new program which enables high school seniors to be enlisted at the present time and still receive high school diplomas. Under the arrangements, Crawley said, youths who pass the Navy mental and physical tests and who will be 18 years of age before graduation may be enlisted before graduation and receive their diplomas by passing a state school examination.

THE 2nd WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

Are you a Part-time American?

IT ISN'T HARD to figure your percentage as an American. Just check what you are doing against what you could do if you gave every minute of your day, every ounce of your energy . . . and, yes, every drop of your blood . . . toward winning this war.

Why a lot more money is needed NOW With every foot of ground taken . . . with every bombing mission against the enemy . . . the costs of war increase. This takes money. More money and still more money. That's why the Government of the United States is asking us to lend it 13

How to invest your share Some time soon, you may be called on by a War Loan Drive volunteer. But don't wait for him. Decide now to dig down—dig down deep. Then take every penny you can and go to your nearest bank or post office and turn the money into War Bonds. Sure, it may hurt. But a lot of clean-cut young fellows in uniform are going to be hurt a lot worse than you are before this war is won. And don't ever forget this! You're not giving your dollars—you're lending them. Your money's going to come back to you—and bring more money with it. Money that can mean plenty of peacetime jobs and peacetime goods for you and yours. So don't wait. For your Country's sake—for your own sake—invest all you can!
