GOVERNORS' DAY ON THE CAMPUS

Politeness exercise of Gardner-Webb college at Boiling Springs was turned into "Governors' Day" for ample reason. Attending were Gov. E. M. Broughton (left) of North Carolina, former Gov. O. Max Gardner (center), and former Gov. Clyde R. Hoey (right). Ex-Gov. Gardner has contributed heavily to reinvigoration of the historic school, and Gov. Broughton and former Gov. Hoey also have taken an active interest in the work.

Government of President Castillo Forced to Flee From Capital to Warship

Buenos Aires, June 1—(AP)—Army unit revolted today against President Ramon Castillo's government of neutral Argentina, marched into Buenos Aires and quickly seized control of strategic points about the city.

There was bloodshed in a clash on the outskirts. General Pedro Ramirez, minister of war in the Castillo cabinet, was identified as the leader of the revolution.

Government quarters described the revolt simply as "a military movement."

Handbills posted in squares distributed early this morning by the revolutionaries stated, however, that the movement was aimed at "complete and total Pan-American solidarity and respect for Argentina's international treaties."

Observers said the latter group particularly to the Rio de Janeiro conference resolution to break relations with Axis countries.

GOVERNMENT IS FORCED TO FLEE TO WARSHIP

Montevideo, June 1—(AP)—President Ramon Castillo of Argentina fled today for his government had been forced to transfer its seat to an Argentine warship as a result of an Argentine uprising.

The radio said this afternoon that Castillo had appealed to the population, public officials, and the police to help suppress the uprising and to remain loyal to the government.

Revolutionary forces were reported to have taken control of the city.

'COOLING OFF' IN HEATED COAL STRIKE BATTLE

AWAITING WORD from negotiators in the strike of 570,000 coal miners, these men from the shafts at Thurgate, Pa., gather in a tavern for a rest, a drink and warm discussion. Many of them have sons in the armed services and declared themselves reluctant to "take sides against the government." (International)

FDR Holds Strikers Are Liable

Idle Miners Slow to Respond to President's Ultimatum; Lewis Is Sullen

Washington, June 1—(AP)—President Roosevelt, who has ordered John L. Lewis' striking coal miners back to work Monday, laid down as a simple rule that a man who quits essential war work thereupon becomes liable for army service.

He brought up this phase of the coal controversy first at a press conference, without saying whether he has any drastic work or fight order in mind.

The nation's 500,000 striking coal miners were confronted today with a momentous choice—whether to obey President Roosevelt's command to return to work by Monday or to stick by the UMW's half-century-old refusal to dig coal without a contract from the operators.

Reaction from the idle coal fields was sparse and wary. The President gave the strikers four days to think it over, and to contemplate these possibilities:

1. Adverse public reaction to coal supplies dwindling, steel production plummeting and Congress action on anti-strike legislation.
2. Loss of their investment in the military duty—which has been already in Alabama and Tennessee by gubernatorial order.
3. Involving of laws affecting aliens. Many coal diggers are aliens.
4. Use of Federal troops to protect men who want to work in the government-operated mines from demoralization by pickets.

Whether any of these possibilities materialize was a matter of pure conjecture. John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, who takes the position he never ordered the walkout, could send the men back, but after a long meeting yesterday he held his own counsel. The men quit Monday night when their contracts expired, the union says.

That the contract was null and void still, except in the case of the President's, that command is not so clear. It is not clear whether it is in several cases, including one in the Pittsburgh section, where they would go back without orders from Lewis himself. This local president, however, was reported to say that the men brought in to work the mines "had better wait."

Cotton Lower Toward Close

New York, June 1—(AP)—Cotton futures opened on a note of caution today, but closed lower, with the May 29 to 30 contract at 19.15, down from 19.25. The May 21 to 22 contract closed at 19.15, down from 19.25.

WEATHER FOR NORTH CAROLINA

Continued hot and sultry this afternoon and tonight, some likelihood of a few isolated thunder showers in the mountains.

New Agreement by Generals DeGaulle And Giraud Made

Paris, June 1—(AP)—General Charles DeGaulle and General Henri Giraud were reported today to have reached a new agreement under which Giraud will remain commander in chief of the French army, but in return will make a number of concessions to the Fighting French Forces.

Officers who cannot be named and Giraud's concessions included the replacement of a number of high officers by generals from the Fighting French Forces, such as Paul Le Gentilhomme, Edouard, Rene de Lamoignon, Marie Louis Koenig and Jacques Lefevre.

It is understood that Giraud's command will be purely a head-quarters job. He will not extend his activities to field command.

The task of directing the general war effort of those parts of the French empire not under his control was taken over by the new "Committee for National Liberation."

Stocks Tend To Decline

New York, June 1—(AP)—Industrial stocks again were pressed lower today, but closed higher.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed at 148.14, down from 148.14. The S&P 500 index closed at 48.14, down from 48.14.

German Loss At Kursk Is 162 Planes

London, June 1—(AP)—The German air force lost 162 planes, out of 200, in the attack on Kursk, it was announced today.

The story of the raid unfolded in a report announced previously that the German air force had been destroyed at Kursk in one of the biggest air battles of the war as aerial forces along the front intensified their air action.

A correspondent for Red Star, the Moscow newspaper, said the Germans attempted an elaborate new plan of attack in the attack on Kursk after their experience last May 22.
