

Confusion May Result From New Tax

There is a possibility of confusion when the new tax is applied to the tax collection, according to H. Surpate, tax collector, who said that the new tax does not mean that the 1942 tax is to be paid over the 1943 tax. He said that the 1943 tax is to be paid in 1943 and the 1942 tax is to be paid in 1942.

available to a number of plans will result in persons of identical classifications having different amounts withheld although their wages may be identical. This permits the employer to adjust the amount withheld to the amount of the tax credit.

Agency's linen suit looked like an animated flag.

SALE—Despite the downpour which interrupted the meeting and just about ruined the fish fry, the stamp sale went along. Oscar Pitts, State penal director, went back home to act as auctioneer. He sold all kinds of things, the idea being that whatever price was bid was for that amount in war stamps, the boy getting the idea of merchandise sale. A pig brought a hundred thousand dollars; a pair of nylon hose sold the buyer for ten thousand. As told, nearly $100,000 was sold. And the auctioneer got paid off by someone commenting that his head had looked like an Easter egg with that colored dye streaking across it.

COMPENSATION—Frank Parker, head of the state-federal agricultural statistics division reports that recent rains have increased the boll weevil menace in the cotton country and has brought grass into some fields. On the other hand, the rains have greatly helped field crops that had been growing unevenly and they have been the life of pasture lands.

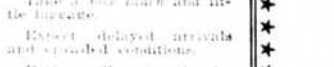

PICTURES—The State news bureau in the Department of Conservation and Development is trying out something new for this section in the way of state publicity. An all-weather photograph machine has been bought that will show several dozen pictures in color photographs of the best places in the state. The machine works on the same principle as the penny or nickel picture show machines, except in each respect is required.

OFFICERS INSTALLED—Oxford, July 8.—J. R. Wood, Jr., has been installed president of the Lions club of Oxford. He succeeds M. S. Clark. Other new officers are Clyde George, Milan Dworsky, Geo. Curran, D. C. Lamer, Samuel Wheeler, L. C. Brothers, J. H. Reynolds, R. C. Severance and John C. Williams.

Nurses Must Observe Law

Employers Observe Law

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In The Star-Walter Hotel, BY LYNN NISBET

It is the duty of employers to observe the law which requires that nurses be paid for their services. The law states that nurses must be paid for their services and that employers must provide them with the necessary facilities for their work.

PARADE

In spite of all the rain, a good show of parade was held at Editor Gilchrist's. The Daily Record entered a parade float for the good old days. It was a float that looked like a car with a motor vehicle in it and a car with a motor vehicle in it.

VACATION At Home And Like It!

Public transportation systems—trains, buses, airplanes—are vital weapons of war.

Over 2,000,000 members of our armed forces are stationed overseas.

Necessary travel and pleasure travel should be "paid" for the duration.

If necessary to travel, use a day train when possible.

Travel your train and air-line tickets.

Travel delayed arrivals and crowded conditions.

Better still, enjoy the facilities of your own park, the "vacation home" of your vacation.

Remember that "vacation" can be just as thrilling at home as it is in the mountains or on the beach, and what could be more exciting for a day's vacation than to get acquainted with the beach home. You will find that little child next door, the one who sits in the night, is really a lovely little kid when building stream castles in his bathtub. There is no "vacation" but you can have it at home.
