The Israelites were promised the land of Canaan, and Moses reminded them how, at the end of the journey they saw the land the Lord had promised them, and the people asked Moses to choose men to go and explore the land and report to them.

Abiding Values From Israel's History

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Shortly before his death, in the eleventh month of the first year of the journey, Moses spoke to the children of Israel and said to them: "The Lord has brought you out of the land of Egypt, and he has brought you to this land which he has sworn to give to your fathers."

Moses reminded them how, at the end of the journey they saw the land the Lord had promised them, and the people asked Moses to choose men to go and explore the land and report to them.

Moses reminded them how he had chosen 12 men to go and explore the promised land, and how the 12 had gone out and brought back the fruit of the land and told the people that it was a good land.

Even then, said Moses, the people rebelled against the commandment of the Lord and refused to enter the land, murmuring that the Lord hated them and intended that they be destroyed. GOLDEN TEXT: Proverbs 14:34.
