

Parker Urges Enforcing Manpower Rules Rigidly

Emphatic and Specific In Grand Jury Charge; C. P. Tanner Foreman

Judge R. Hunt Parker, in his charge to the grand jury at the opening today of the October term of Vance Superior Court, urged strict enforcement of the war manpower act with respect to vagrants, and asked that bodies to take action against able-bodied persons without jobs who refuse to work.

The grand jury was selected immediately after court opened at 10 a. m., and C. P. Tanner was named foreman. It will serve for only one court, which is the only term in the county in the second half of the year. Besides the foreman, members of the jury are:

W. H. Crews, W. L. Moss, J. W. Abbott, Joseph H. Ross, E. C. Morris, G. H. Williams, L. W. Huff, J. H. Tippett, F. E. Stegall, M. S. Mitchell, O. T. Blackley, N. R. Harris, J. W. Coghill, Joe Rupp, P. J. Oliver, W. G. Aycock, C. T. Duke.

In addition to his admonitions about the vagrancy question, Judge Parker outlined briefly the terms of procedure for grand juries in discharge of their duties.

The first said that, although progress is being made toward winning the war, it could be lost by apathy and slackening on the home front. He denounced strikes in war industries, and said those walking the streets refusing to work should be dealt with by law.

Judge Parker read Governor Broughton's proclamation setting up war manpower units in each of the counties, and asked the grand jury to call before it the chairman of the local county group for a report on what it has done, and as to how well the law is being enforced.

Among his fighting for her own defense the same as one of the other democratic nations, and it is not fair to be treated as a conquered nation. It is devastated by the ravages of war, Judge Parker said. Poverty and distress of the thousands are the administration of the world, and wherever our own men are fighting we have overcome the enemy, but we shall march into Berlin and Tokyo only if all of us at home do our part, he declared.

Following the charge to the grand jury, the court took up the schedules and defendants appearing in court.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beryllwood essence by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Relief Load For County Drops Again

Number of Persons And Cost Both Less; 16 in County Home

Vance county's relief load continued to drop in September, both as to outright assistance and also in participation in social security advances, according to the monthly report of Miss Clara McEllis, welfare supervisor, made today to the county commissioners at their monthly meeting for October.

Old age assistance went to 239 persons in the sum of $2,417.75, with the county paying one-fourth, the State one-fourth and the Federal government one-half. Aid to dependent children was shared by 64 children in the amount of $39, and the county paying $13,673 as its share. Aid to the blind went to 14 persons in the sum of $21,164, and the county paid $6,194.

General relief, all paid by the county, amounted to $12,811 for 14 families. Hospitalization was down to $15,142, shared by eleven individuals. Two adults received boarding home care at a cost of $39, and two children were provided boarding school care at a cost of $50.

Sixteen persons were in the county home at the end of the month, with 11 patients in the Scott Palmer Sanatorium for tuberculosis, and eight in the Jubilee convalescent hospital for tuberculars.

Child welfare services were noted in 75 instances. Seven juveniles were in training services, seven in probation from such services, eight on probation from the juvenile court, 12 under supervision of the welfare department and 32 in foster homes. Seven adoptive cases were investigated. Four unmarried mothers were assisted, and there were 14 transient cases.

State pardons numbered 15. Five parolees were released, while 10 parolees in the State penitentiary were transferred to community detention. Sixteen selective service classifications were made. Fifty-three adult labor certificates were granted.

The welfare department staff made 135 investigations and visits, with five out-of-county trips, and mileage of 17,290.9.

DUNLAP WITH STAFF OF TEXTILE SCHOOL

Raleigh, Oct. 4.—Appointment of George H. Dunlap, former associate director of research with the Cotton Textile Institute, as consultant and research supervisor for the N. C. State College Textile School, was announced today by Dean Malcolm B. Campbell.

Dunlap will serve as a consulting link between the Textile School and North Carolina mills, solving the problems and also keeping the staff of the Textile School abreast of latest developments in the industry. He also will supervise a number of applied research projects in the school and in mills.

In addition to the staff was made possible by funds provided by the North Carolina Textile Foundation, Inc., recently established to hasten the coming of higher textile education in North Carolina.

FARMERS DISCARDING COWS NOT PRODUCING

Farmers of Vance county, and especially those living on established milk routes, have realized the advantage of getting out low producing cows, says Hugh D. Borden, assistant agent for the State College Extension Service. With the present feed shortage, the dairy farmers are looking to rid their herds of all unprofitable cows and replace them with young, purebred cows coming into maximum production.

Short Sales To Continue For Tobacco

No official notice of action of the sales committee of the Tobacco Association of the United States in extending for the season the short sales day on auction markets had been received by Henderson Tobacco Board of Trade authorities today, although they said they had been contemplating such action as has been taken and as contained in press notices over the week-end.

The short sales day, amounting to three and a half hours, has been in effect on the Henderson market since the season began three weeks ago on Monday, September 13. The original decision was for a four-week period. It was designed to relieve congestion on the part of buying companies, due to severe labor shortages. That condition has not been removed, and has not indeed improved during the time the ruling has been in effect. Nor is there any prospect of immediate relaxation of the pressure. It was for that reason that the sales committee, by a vote of six to two, decided to perpetuate the present sales schedule. Sales began at 9:30 a. m. and end at 1 p. m. on the Henderson market.

The committee also decided to hold to the limitations of 300 piles at a time and a maximum pile limit of 300 pounds in weight. It is considered that any increase in the sales day or the speed of sales or size of piles would overtax processing plants, and this was a big factor in the committee's decision to continue the present selling program, it was said.

Alex Lowry Hurt When Power Line Pole Breaks Off

Alex Lowry, lineman for the Carolina Power & Light Company, was seriously injured at Greensboro Sunday morning when a pole on which he was working broke off near the ground and fell, inflicting wounds about the head and shoulders. He was rushed to Morris Parkman hospital, where he was still being treated today. He was reported to be rational at intervals.

It was understood Lowry was not in the employ of the power company and not on duty with that concern at the time of the accident, but was doing a job for the Raleigh Granite Company at Greensboro. It is understood he fell some thirty feet as the pole gave way.

Some articles being transferred from one line to another, due to changes and rearrangements underway at the scene. Other details were not learned.

From where I sit

Grandma Hoskins knows a lot about history—but when we asked her where the first brewery was built in America, she wouldn't take sides. "You see," says Grandma, "wherever the colonists settled, one of the first things they thought about was food and beer... In fact, one reason why the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock was because the Mayflower was rannin' short of beer." Well, that was a new one on us, but Grandma showed it to us —just as it was written in the Mayflower's log. And it seems that all through our early American history beer sort of tempered the hardships and helped to make us a tolerant, moderate people. From where I sit, beer is the American drink of moderation and friendliness—kind of a symbol of our personal liberty.

High School Rally To Launch Effort; $20,000 to Be Goal

Governor Broughton is to open the campaign for raising Vance county's share of the United War Fund, at a nationwide drive, in an address at a rally to be held in the auditorium of Henderson high school the evening of Monday, October 18, it was announced today by J. W. Jenkins, chairman of the Vance county campaign.

All workers in all wards and districts of the city and the county are urged to be in attendance at the meeting, and the general public is to be invited.

Also present at the rally is to be George Goughigan, of Raleigh, an official of the Wachovia Bank & Trust Company, who is district chairman for the campaign, and Gurney P. Hood, State bank commissioner, who is State vice chairman for the campaign.

Vance is being asked for $20,000 in the campaign, the item including some $6,000 for the Vance County Community Chest.

Cards have been prepared for prospective donors, and these will be distributed to workers following the meeting at the high school. Solicitors and officials will be asked to remain for the purpose after program has been concluded.

The drive will be conducted in the county the week of October 25-30, but the advance gifts committee will begin its duties immediately following the rally at which the governor will speak.

County Gets 4 New Cars, 14 Bicycles

Vance county has been allotted four new automobiles and fourteen new adult bicycles for the month of October, the Raleigh office of the Office of Price Administration announced today. Allotments for the State as a whole numbered 454, a cut of 175 from the 29 total in September. At the same time, reserve car quotas were reduced from 70 down to 23 for the month.

Granville county was allotted 11 new automobiles and 18 new adult bicycles. Franklin was given four new automobiles and ten new bicycles, while Warren was allowed three new automobiles and 13 bicycles.

Wake received the largest number of new automobiles, with 24; Durham got 14; Halifax seven and Person seven. New Hanover and Robeson counties, each with 55, got the largest number of bicycles. Some counties were not listed for either automobiles or bicycles.

The automobile quota for the nation as a whole was reduced by about 25 percent, the announcement stated.
