

Henderson Daily Dispatch

Established August 12, 1914

Published Every Afternoon Except Sunday by
HENDERSON DISPATCH CO., INC.
at 109 Young Street

HENRY A. DENNIS, Pres. and Editor
M. L. FINCH, Secy. Treas., Bus. Mgr.

TELEPHONE

Editorial Office 500
Social Editor 610
Business Office 610

The Henderson Daily Dispatch is a member of The Associated Press and AP Features, Southern Newspaper Publishers Association and the North Carolina Press Association.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for republication all news dispatches credited to or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published therein. All rights of publication of special dispatches herein are reserved.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

(Payable Strictly in Advance)

Mail Carrier
1 Year	$6.00
6 Months	3.00
3 Months	1.50
Weekly by earlier only	2.00
Per Copy	5¢

Entered at the post office in Henderson, N. C., as second class mail matter

If we know that he bears no ill will toward us, we know that we have the petition we desire of him. I do not care.

"Our Bob" Quits

Senator Reynolds' announcement that he will not be a candidate for re-election next year was not altogether surprising yet rather unexpected in a fashion.

The first hint that we even had of his renouncing the title was contained in an article by Mr. Nisbet, of the Dispatch's Raleigh bureau, a month or two ago. There were recurring rumors afterwards to the same effect, and following a trip to Washington early last week Mr. Nisbet became even bolder in his forecasting of the senator's plans for the future, to the effect that he would step aside at the end of his present tenure.

There will, of course, be plenty of opinion that this Senate is going to be in there pitching at the same time and out to get its tail and hind legs of bad things to be had in view of the fact that the same is to be done to us that the same is to be done to them who exist. We will do our best to make it so.

Words of Desperation

Adult Hitler's speech at Munich on the eve of his first visit to America was the scene of his first public pronouncement of his war against Soviet Russia. But we may say that nothing in history has been said or planned against Russia more openly than was by Hitler who is not afraid of his audience. His speech was delivered in a personal manner, and he spoke so seriously about that which he had in mind that even the most ardent supporters of the Nazi regime could hardly believe that he would win the contest.

Reynolds was not only out of step with the administration—though not quite alone in that attitude—but he had run ahead of much of the conservative judgment of substantial citizens of the State. It is hardly rational to suppose that he was not aware of that situation. So that for him especially the decision he had reached is the wise one. By retiring long before the day of judgment, he can never be paid off from that he was defeated for re-election.

The Reynolds renunciation opens the way for others who may be ambitious to sit in the seats of the mighty. Gossips already has brought into the picture the names of three or four outstanding citizens. Marvin Hitch, of Charlotte, announced several weeks ago he would run against both Reynolds and Hoey, but we knew of no one who thinks his candidacy would have signified in such a lineup, or even now that Reynolds has retired.

The State could go far and do infinitely worse than to leave the field to Governor Hoey. He is certainly as well equipped for the office as any who have been mentioned, and in our judgment much more so. It is, of course, every citizen's right to aspire to the high office. But between aspirations and actual victory is a vast gulf. Not a single one of the group is as good a campaigner as Hoey, nor is any one of them as well known, and certainly not nearly so much so personally, over the State as the former governor. Not one of them could carry the appeal to the average man as Hoey will. None of them has the personality nor quite the same cordiality. And any one or all of them would do well to weigh these factors well before deciding to enter the campaign, if they do.

Clyde Hoey, by common assent and approval of the man, was during his term and as he left public life perhaps the most widely popular citizen who ever held the office of governor, at least in recent times. He has been in private life three years but the people have not forgotten him and will not. He would be well advised not to do so, for any candidate could beat him in the final count.

Going After Business

Whatever others may think of what may be regarded as his perniciousness, Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia is setting out to beat others to the draw in postwar competition for business. From Atlanta comes the word that Georgia intends to face the second Southern "reconstruction era" free from antiquated tax laws and ready to cooperate with honest enterprise desiring to locate in that state.

Arnall says that after the war "we will write to every large corporation in America, explain our new simplified tax system, tell of our natural resources, favorable climate, and get some industry in the state that we ever dreamed of before." There will be no need for Georgia concerns to incorporate in other states to avoid Georgia taxes, he said. He proposes to tax structure so simple that it will astound the nation.

The governor's plan would include advertising and promotion of the state on an adequate scale; land and water utilization, land settlement, reforestation and public health and education.

It is a broad and ambitious program, but by no means impossible of achievement if properly approached and directed. Already North Carolina has become engaged in a somewhat similar program, and we understand it is to be reinforced after the war and when it is possible again to return to the pursuits of peace.

Just how strongly this competition for business will become is as yet a matter of conjecture. It will be a fine thing to go after industry from other sections, but the task should never be lost sight of that the best industry is that created by one's own efforts. North Carolina has done much along this line but can and must do even more. It has helped agriculture but can and must help it still more in the years to come if we are to have here a well balanced economy.

As for Georgia, more power to that great state, but North Carolina will be in there pitching at the same time and out to get its tail and hind legs of bad things to be had in view of the fact that the same is to be done to us that the same is to be done to them who exist. We will do our best to make it so.

FARMERS — The University of North Carolina, at the same time that it is pursuing its policy of research and extension, is to increase its efforts to help the farmers of the state. His recent approach to the question of the most efficient way to use the greatest amount of labor force available to agriculture, and to expand its agricultural extension work, has been welcomed by the state legislature. The new law, which was passed in the fall session, authorizes the state to spend $100,000 for the purpose of increasing the efficiency of agriculture.

As for Georgia, more power to that great state, but North Carolina will be in there pitching at the same time and out to get its tail and hind legs of bad things to be had in view of the fact that the same is to be done to us that the same is to be done to them who exist. We will do our best to make it so.

Never before has he been so bold in his ambitions of thorns from sun to sun. And he has lost many of his supporters, who saw danger of internal dissension, helped him into the Senate, inside the Relic. Hitler would not but he could have turned up even to the point of threatening to execute those who show signs of weakening loyalty. It was tampered with all along Hoey would win the contest.

Reynolds was not only out of step with the administration—though not quite alone in that attitude—but he had run ahead of much of the conservative judgment of substantial citizens of the State. It is hardly rational to suppose that he was not aware of that situation. So that for him especially the decision he had reached is the wise one. By retiring long before the day of judgment, he can never be paid off from that he was defeated for re-election.

The Reynolds renunciation opens the way for others who may be ambitious to sit in the seats of the mighty. Gossips already has brought into the picture the names of three or four outstanding citizens. Marvin Hitch, of Charlotte, announced several weeks ago he would run against both Reynolds and Hoey, but we knew of no one who thinks his candidacy would have signified in such a lineup, or even now that Reynolds has retired.

The State could go far and do infinitely worse than to leave the field to Governor Hoey. He is certainly as well equipped for the office as any who have been mentioned, and in our judgment much more so. It is, of course, every citizen's right to aspire to the high office. But between aspirations and actual victory is a vast gulf. Not a single one of the group is as good a campaigner as Hoey, nor is any one of them as well known, and certainly not nearly so much so personally, over the State as the former governor. Not one of them could carry the appeal to the average man as Hoey will. None of them has the personality nor quite the same cordiality. And any one or all of them would do well to weigh these factors well before deciding to enter the campaign, if they do.

Clyde Hoey, by common assent and approval of the man, was during his term and as he left public life perhaps the most widely popular citizen who ever held the office of governor, at least in recent times. He has been in private life three years but the people have not forgotten him and will not. He would be well advised not to do so, for any candidate could beat him in the final count.

Hitler's claim that some things might be possible but that it is impossible that his own nerve shall not be more of his own concern, maybe some of the intuition that he had which led him, against the solemn warning of his generals, not to attack Russia. If he had had less nerve and more common sense, he and his own nation and the world would be better off today than they are.

AROUND CAPITOL SQUARE

By LYNN NISBET
Daily Dispatch Bureau
In The Sir Walter Hotel—Raleigh

BUSY—one of the busiest producers in North Carolina is a single comb Rhode Island pullet on the State test crew at Wilford. For the twelve months ending October 13 that young hen laid 312 eggs. That means an egg for every weekday in the year except one just what holiday the hen observed does not show on the record.

SUBSTITUTE—It often happens that the governor of a state finds it necessary to make somebody to represent him in the Commonwealth, a public function because he cannot go. It is very important for the governor to be designated as the substitute representative, but it has happened. The State Board of Agriculture wanted Commissioner Kerr Scott to attend the meeting of the National Grange at Grand Rapids, Michigan, this month. Scott couldn't go on account of previous commitments to attend some legislative hearings in Washington to defend the Farm Security Administration. Meantime, it developed that Governor Braggs would be in Chicago the week of the Grange meeting sitting in at the executive committee meeting of the National Grange Convention. So Commissioner Scott asked the governor to represent him at the Grange meeting. Then it was found the governor had no funds available for paying his expenses from Chicago to Grand Rapids. So it was arranged that the Department of Agriculture would pay his expenses of the meeting and the expenses of the chairman to Chicago.

GOOD USED CARS AT REASONABLE PRICES—A look here will convince you that these cars are priced to move. Fords—Plymouths—Chevrolets, 1934's to 1940's. Candler-Palmer Motor Co. 15-16

CLOTHES BASKETS—SPLIT wood factory made and willow wood—Clothes hamper. Watkins Hdw. Co. 5-61

WANTED — A SECOND HAND baby carriage. Call Mrs. Bagley at 630. 10-21

GROW YOUR OWN FRUIT—Planting Early Bearing Fruit Trees, Nut Trees, and Berry Plants, offered by Virginia's Largest Growers. Write for New Low Price Catalogue listing extensive line of Fruits and Ornamentals. Waynesboro Nurseries, Inc., Waynesboro, Virginia. M-W-E-f

WE BUY, SELL, AND TRADE CATS—and dogs. W. B. Hight Livestock Market. Phone 157. 9-241

DRY PINE WOOD FOR SALE, CUT staves length and delivered any where in Henderson. D. M. Glover, phone 3621. 1-ead-36

CLOSE-OUT LOT OF BEAUTIFUL pattern wall paper. Regular price 15c to 30c. Close out 10¢ per roll. Your choice. Watkins Hdw. Co. 5-61

NOTICE OF SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

Under and by virtue of an order of the Superior Court of Vance County, made in the special proceeding entitled "D. T. Beckham, administrator of the estate of C. B. Beckham, deceased vs. C. L. Beckham, Mrs. Flora B. Wilson, D. T. Beckham, and wife, and A. Garland Beckham, heirs at law of C. B. Beckham and J. C. Kittrell, trustee," the same being proceeding No. 4366 upon the special proceeding docket of said court, the undersigned commissioner will on the 29th day of November 1943 at 10 o'clock noon at the courthouse door in Henderson, North Carolina, offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash, that certain lot of land near the Vance Milling Company, known as the home place of the late C. B. Beckham and described as follows:

Begin at an iron stake 147 1-2 feet South 10 1-2 west, from an iron stake corner of the N. C. Cotton Oil Company lot on the east side of the Kittrell road just south of Henderson, runs thence S 10 1-2 deg. W 104 2-3 feet to an iron stake on the east side of said road, thence S 79 1-2 east 203 2-3 feet to an iron stake, thence N 10 1-2 E 104 2-3 feet to an iron stake, thence N 79 1-2 W 206 2-3 feet to the place of beginning see deed book 62 page 80 register of deeds office of Vance County.

This the 27th day of October 1943.
A. A. Bunn, Commissioner.
27-3-10-17

ANSWERS TO DAILY QUIZ

1. True.

2. Casus belli.

3. The United States (State Department).

4. George Washington.

5. False.

6. Ceiling zero, visibility zero.

7. False.

8. The building as well as its contents was destroyed by the bombing.

9. Yes.

10. Frederie.

WATCH ON THE RHINE!*WANT ADS Get Results

DUE TO DELIVERY CURTAINMENTS we cannot accept coal or wood orders for less than $2.00. Thank you for your cooperation. H. O. Falkner & Son, phone 260. 6-11

ALADDIN LAMP SUPPLIES—OLD and new type chandeliers—mantles and wicks. Watkins Hdw. Co. 5-61

MUST LEAVE FARM—AND HAVE nice young mare mare for sale. Weight 1000 lbs. If interested apply A. C. Hedgepath, route 1, Kitterell, N. C. 10-31

FULLER BRUSHES ARE HERE—I am now agent for the famous line of Fuller Brushes. Come in and see complete display. H. R. Tanner at Sewing Machine Shop. Phone 116 W. 13-274

OFFICIAL TIRE INSPECTION STATION. Cars washed, lubricated, polished, batteries recharged, Gulf gas and oils. L. T. Harris Gulf Service Station, Garnett and Horner Sts., phone 1198-W. 26-11

JUST RECEIVED — 1000 REED fishing poles—20c each. Watkins Hdw. Co. 5-61

FOR SALE — BABY STROLLER and play pen, both practically new. R. J. Corbitt, Jr. 10-31

HELP WANTED — MAY STAY ON 1st $1000 week. Mrs. B. H. Mixon, County Club road. 9-11

Insurance DIVIDEND SAVINGS When you insure with us, you save money because our policies are participating. See us before insuring or renewing—and save. CATES INSURANCE AGENCY Phone 800. 13-11

JUST RECEIVED 200 GALLONS of good paint and five barrels of replacement linseed oil to meet government specifications. Alex S. Watkins, "The Place of Values". 10-11

WANTED — CLEAN, SOFT RAGS 2 1/2 cents pound at Dispatch Office.

FOR SALE: HORSE WEIGHT 1250 lbs, eight years old. One horse wagon and harness. Apply Mrs. R. L. Savage, route 1. 9-31

FOR ADEQUATE PROTECTION buy automobile liability insurance with medical payment coverage. Call our office for revised rates. Insurance Department, Citizens Bank and Trust Company. 23-11

YARD RAKES — BAMBOO AND steel. Watkins Hdw. Co. 5-61

WANTED COOK, MAN OR WOMAN, white or colored. Good salary. Hotel Warren, Warrenton, N. C. 10-101

WANTED — UNFURNISHED apartment close in. Phone 9114. 9-31

FOR PROMPT AMBULANCE SERVICE call Barnes & Williams Funeral Home. Walter Barnes, manager, day phone 435, night phone 625-J-306 Andrews Ave., Henderson. 5-141

WE HAVE A FEW BABY STROLLERS on hand. Get yours now. R. E. Satterwhite & Sons, next to Fire Station. 3-11

THERE'S PLENTY OF ASPHALT roll roofing in three grades at "The Place of Values". Extra heavy slate surface mica roofing and our special Flintkote roofing at $1.19 per roll. Alex S. Watkins. 10-11

WANTED — FURNISHED APARTMENT close in. Phone 9114. 9-31

WE BUY AND SELL COUNTRY EGGS according to grade, wholesale and retail. If your eggs are fresh and clean they will bring you more money. Henderson Hatchery, phone 371. 23-261

IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US FOR your needs in Furniture. Good assortment at present. See us—save money. R. E. Satterwhite & Sons. 29-15

FOR SALE

50,000