Seeing the odds of lead from West, East will attempt to neutralize same by with A so he could of some break out of the dummy. The dummy side A which stand as a single suit and try to help the declarer. In the dummy a diamond suit.

That made it easy for South. Not worried about any suit run, he led out of the dummy A left him with all suits covered by promptly winning a trick. He led by leading a low one. If in the dummy East started on and let West set him. All the Q's in the dummy are in the South hand.

Washington Caricature

By MAJOR

You wouldn't say they're gloom, but all three gentlemen above are of stern and determined men, from the studios one or the left to the contemplative at right. And why not? They're the Senate Finance Committee.

JOSIAH MEANS "Given to the Lord." For eight years Josiah Bailey served as editor of the Biblical Recorder. Then for eight years he was Collector of Internal Revenue for North Carolina, thus copping a gander at Mammon. That qualifies him for the finance committee. He has been Senator thirteen years.

THE LIFE of Senator Edwin C. Johnson might well have been written by Horatio Alger. He got a high school education by working as a railroad section hand, was telegrapher, homestead manager of a farm cooperative, and twice Colorado's governor before he was sent to the Senate.

THE GENTLEMAN AT RIGHT wastes no time. David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, was admitted to the bar in 1897. In 1898 he was Camden's chairman of the Democratic Committee, and a year later was moderator. He was elected governor of his state in 1911 and has been in the Senate since 1919.
