MADISON FARMER IS REALLY PRODUCING

College Station, Raleigh, Feb. 25.—"Any sacrifice I may make in producing milk, eggs, and poultry here on my farm is small compared with the sacrifice our boys are making on the battlefronts of the world," says J. B. Waller, demonstration farmer of Marshall in Madison county.

He reports that he worked harder and kept longer working hours in 1943 than ever before because he realized the tremendous need for milk, poultry, and eggs...

Waller and his wife made up of the total receipts in Madison county, according to Assistant County Agent John E. Walker...
