

State Backing Of Furniture Mart Advanced

BY LYNN NISBET Daily Dispatch Bureau

Raleigh, July 13.—One of North Carolina's "first" is being challenged, and while the main responsibility is placed on High Point there is some sentiment around capital square that the state should turn the influence of its prestige behind the purpose to keep the furniture market center of the south within the state.

The challenge comes from Atlanta with proposal for erection in that city of a mammoth building housing more than half a million feet of floor space to house furniture and rug displays for the southern trade.

Atlanta's plans to take High Point's place as the furniture capital of the South. The proposition is to erect a new building, providing ample facilities for all furniture manufacturers to display their wares. Supporting this is the statement that Atlanta, being a large city, offers buyers and displays much opportunity for entertainment and recreation than can be found in any other city in the South. Let Business Week tell the story from here.

It is assumed that the proposed Atlanta mart would have little effect upon their business, officials of the High Point mart apparently are more concerned about Atlanta's plans than they care to admit.

To continue the High Point mart as planned plans to make it the largest exhibition the most elaborate in its history. The mart is now being expanded because the office of management records is now being built.

It is generally agreed in the furniture trade that there is not room for two mart centers in the south.

State Hands Out Data On Leaf Crop

The State Department of Agriculture Crop Reporting Service predicted yesterday that the increased tobacco acreage in North Carolina this season "will more than offset decreased yields brought about by droughts in the Central and Eastern sections of the State."

Prospective production of this-cured tobacco was placed at 534,450,000 pounds, two per cent more than the last-year average and considerably above the 342,200,000 pounds produced in 1943. In the Border Belt, yields are expected to be about average and somewhat better than last season.

A summary of indicated acreage, yield and production for the four North Carolina types this year and last season with these items in 1943 follows:

Blue Belt—Acreage this season 253,000, 1943, 230,000, yield this season, 125 pounds to the acre, 1943, 865, total production this year, 106,625,000 pounds, last season, 199,000,000.

Sea Bright Belt—Acreage this season 331,000, last year 253,000, yield 80 pounds to the acre, last season 600, total production in 1944, 26,480,000 pounds, last year, 282,000,000.

Orange Belt—Acreage—79,000, last season 60,000, yield per acre, 976 pounds, last season, 940, total production, 77,023,000, in 1943, 61,100,000.

Roanoke Belt—Acreage, 11,000, last season 6,300, yield per acre, 1,150, last season, 1,225, total production, 12,650,000 pounds in 1943, 10,410,000 pounds.

Johnson Changes Conference Date On Tobacco Sales

Washington, S. C., July 13.—(AP)—Senator Olin D. Johnson has changed the date for a conference on the tobacco-growing state scheduled for Saturday, July 15.

The holding of a conference, originally set for July 15, was deemed impractical because of the postponement of the state's 1944 tobacco auction which opens in South Carolina August 1.

Johnson said the date for the meeting was changed at the suggestion of tobacco men and Agriculture Commissioner Tom Lanier of Georgia, who will represent Governor Ellis R. Hall.

Lanier pointed out that the Georgia harvest would open July 24 and suggested that the conference be postponed to include a discussion of a market holiday if prices were unfavorable.

Lanier said that reports that the Office of Price Administration planned to cut the ceiling price of tobacco from the 1943 average of 45 cents to 30 cents had brought various protests from farmers.
