IT HAS BEEN WRITTEN.

There was a city built by music; so it has been written, and I can believe. That miracle, as old as Jericho, Viol and flute, by some strange spell, can weave Cables of silver, and the golden wire Of trumpets lift stout walls of cedar wood. Bright domes and marble columns rise in air. Whose builders never toiled and nothing stood. And I have entered these enchanted streets. Unhounded by hands or any marring thought. Knowing how concord, in its hour, completes A music thing than ever we have known. Music remains eternal, after all our evers topple and our rambling falls!

Tea Is Given For Miss Mary Young

Mrs. James P. B. Connell delightedly entertained at a tea at her home on South Garnett street, Wednesday afternoon from 5:30 to 6:30, honoring her sister, Miss Mary Francis Young, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Cameron McRae Plummer, of Mobile, Alabama, has been announced.

Lovely arrangements of pink roses, gladioli and dahlias were used throughout the house. The guests were greeted at the door by little Miss Mary Francis Connell and Master James P. B. Connell. Mrs. Ellen Cooper and Mrs. R. E. Clements received in the hall, and Mrs. Joel T. Chestnam introduced the guests to the receiving line, which was composed of Mrs. Connell, Miss Mary Francis Young, Mrs. J. M. Young, Mrs. Annie Davis, Mrs. Ray Holder and Mrs. D. Boyd Kimball, Sr.

Mrs. Ralph F. Thompson invited the guests into the dining room. The dining room was lovely in its decorations of pink roses and white tapers. Dresden vases of roses were used on the mantle, and white tapers in silver holders were used on the auxiliary tables.

The dining table was covered with a lace Point de Venise cloth centered with a handsome antique silver porcelain bowl. An arrangement of pink roses, fern and tulle was used around the punch bowl. Silver candleabra, holding white tapers, and silver compotes of bridal mints completed the table arrangements.

Mrs. I. T. Young, assisted by Mrs. W. W. Noel, poured fine punch and trays of ham biscuits, cookies, minis and other delicacies were passed by Mrs. H. V. Lawrence, Miss Alice T. Mabey, Mrs. Wesley W. Young and Miss Elvira Chestnam.

After the receiving hour, Mrs. Connell served a delicious two-course supper to those receiving in the house, who were joined by Miss Nannie Smith, Rev. Ray Holder, R. E. Clements, Joel T. Chestnam, Dr. W. W. Noel, and J. P. B. Connell.

DRUGGISTS TO RECRUIT NURSES FOR WAR DUTY

Miss Edna Oliver, of Henderson, and D. D. Hocutt, prominent Henderson pharmacist, have been appointed co-chairmen for Vance county in the state drive to recruit 1500 young women in the United States Cadet Nurse Corps.

The campaign is sponsored by the North Carolina Nursing Council for War Service in cooperation with the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association. Appointments were made by Hazel C. Williams, of Raleigh, state student recruitment officer, and by I. T. Roamer, of Durham, state chairman of the pharmacy committee.

Vance county drug stores and drug stores throughout the State are serving as information centers for the recruiting campaign. Application blanks and informative literature may be obtained from the stores. Other activities planned by the local chairman are window displays in leading drug stores and appearances before local civic clubs.

Young women who wish to apply for the Corps must be between 17 1/2 and 35 years of age, be in good health, graduate of an accredited high school and preferably, to have been in the upper half of their class. The training program consists of 20 months of theory and practice and six months of service in some hospital. All expenses for the student are paid during training plus a monthly cash allowance.

"Thousands of graduate nurses have joined the Army and Navy Nurse Corps, leaving a serious gap in home front nursing," the local chairman said. "This is an opportunity for young women to fill that gap and at the same time prepare themselves for a proud profession."

Accepted applicants may choose any of the hospitals throughout the nation which are conducting the Cadet Nurse Corps program. In N. C. the following accredited schools of nursing are participating: Mission of Asheville; Grace of Banner Elk; Charlotte Memorial, Merry and Presbyterian of Charlotte; Cabarrus General of Concord; Duke, Watts and Lincoln (colored) of Durham; Highsmith of Fayetteville; St. Leo's of Greensboro; Burrus Memorial of High Point; Thompson Memorial of Mt. Airy; N. C. State Hospital, Rex and St. Agnes (colored) of Raleigh; Rocky Mt. Sanatorium and Park View of Rocky Mount; Rutherford of Rutherfordton; H. F. Long of Statesville; Shelby Hospital of Shelby; James Walker Memorial and Community (colored) of Wilmington; Carolina General and Woodard-Hearing of Wilson City Memorial, N. C. Baptist and Kate Bitting Reynolds Memorial (colored), Winston-Salem.
