WALKING WITH GOD
 "Enoch walked with God." Gen. 5:24
 Among the fascinating stories of Genesis, none is stranger than that of Enoch. This whole significance of a man who disappears through a single phrase in scripture. The story of Enoch, of whom it is said that "he walked with God."
 "Enoch walked with God" meant to the Old Testament to live in consistently spiritual life. The promise made to the phrase beautifully when it says that what God requires of any man is that he should walk with Him.
 The characteristic path a man follows in his daily walk of life tells more about him than he can say. Some walk a virtuous path, some an evil, some a path, some a viciously evil path, some a Godly path. Many in fact, some doubtlessly walked the other kinds of path, but steadily and consistently, day by day, Enoch "walked with God."
 Spanish people, when they are parting, say to each other, "Good-bye, God." What a beautiful word ours would be if we all walked with God!
