DAISY CHAIN.

I learned to ply a needle
Before I learned to write,
How proud I was that morning,
How my heart glowed that night.

With patient, struggling fingers,
And many a snarl and knot,
Persistently I worked it,
And have not since forgot.

With breathing held I tried it;
Girt by my daisy chain,
How white, how gold, how green
The world.
—And little I, how vain.

Dances At Butner Wednesday Night

Group leaders are asked to call Miss Henrietta Strause, phone 607, Tuesday night between 7 and 7:30 o'clock to notify her of the girls expected to attend the formal dances which will be held at the General Hospital and the Convalescent Hospital at Camp Butner on Wednesday night, it was stated today. Girls are asked to be at the bus station at 6:45 o'clock and the buses will leave Henderson promptly at 7 o'clock. A full attendance for these dances is desired and out-of-town guests are invited to attend. The dance with their hostess, it was said, girls who have guests for the dance are expected to notify either Miss Strause or their group leaders. Special plans have been made for the dances on the holiday and it is reported that Henderson girls will be the only girls on the post at that time.

Miss Macon Given Tea By Mrs. Boyd

Miss Katharine Brice Macon, whose engagement to Guy Thomas Horner has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Macon, was honored last Tuesday afternoon by an informal tea given by Mrs. William H. Boyd at her home on Young street.

Guests were greeted by Miss Macon and Mrs. Boyd and invited into the living room, which was decorated with a profusion of early summer flowers. The dining room, carrying out a color scheme of yellow and pink, had as its focal point of interest an antique crystal bowl filled with small yellow daisies, pink roses and pink snapdragons in the center of the table. The table was covered with a handsome lace cloth, and at one end was placed the punch bowl and a large cake topped with a central nosegay of pink rosebuds, and tiny yellow daisies at the other end of the table.

An antique Watford glass candelabra and single glass candlesticks with tall yellow tapers were placed on one sideboard with tall vases of pink gladioli, pink roses and yellow snapdragons on another sideboard, completing the dining room arrangements.

Mrs. G. W. Macon, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Guy Horner, mother of the groom-elect, presided alternately at the punch bowl.

Individual molded salads, canapes, cheese dreams, pickles, and rolls were served to about 20 guests.

Miss Macon served the cake and with it were passed tartslets of berries and whipped cream.

The hostess presented Miss Macon, honoree, with a guest gift.

POULTRY SCHOOLS NEXT TWO MONTHS

College Station, Raleigh, July 2.—Eight district school of three days each will be held during July and early August at strategic points in the State instead of the usual poultry short course at State College.

This will enable hatcherymen and those who handle their supply flocks to get needed training at points nearer their homes. The schools will be conducted by staff members of the State College Poultry Department, the Poultry Extension Service, and the State Department of Agriculture.

The schools will be held at Greensboro, Monroe, Asheville, Wilkesboro, Windsor, Greenville, Clinton, and Raleigh.

40 Awards Are Given Girls At Camp Ceremonies

At a colorful campfire ceremony at Camp Indianhead Saturday night approximately forty awards were presented to members of the Henderson Girl Scout troops, bringing to a climax the ten-day camping period for girls in Girl Scout Troop No. 3. The camp fire was laid close to the lake, which served as a picturesque background for the program.

Girls of troop number three, dressed in their camp uniforms, arranged themselves in a semi-circle between the fire and the lake. Mrs. Gideon Lamb presided at the court of awards with Rev. E. N. Gardner giving the invocation. Mrs. Lamb then presented Rev. Ray Holder who gave a short talk on the equality of girl and boy scouting. He stated that the citizens of Henderson should be grateful for the capable leaders, Mrs. W. W. Noel and Mrs. H. H. Bass, Jr., who have given so unselfishly of their time and talents in offering these girls an opportunity to learn to live together in camp and to work harmoniously as well as the building of character and acquiring of skills that will prove useful in later life.

After his talk Mr. Holder gave the merit awards with an accompanying synopsis of the work received in earning each award. The following awards were given to Troop No. 1: Tenderfoot badge, Alice Jones, Betsy Rooker and Faye Hall. Girls from Troop No. 3 were given the second class rating: Anne Maricham, Sarah Rose Hobgood, Mishew Cooper, Nancy MacLemore, Virginia Morris, Betty Rawles, Jane Woodliet, Barbara Coghill, Hazel Edwards, Ida Rose Neathery, Amy Lee Stainback, and Beth Duke.

Merit badges were presented girls from Troop No. 3.

On Mount Moriah Topic Of Gardner At First Bpatist

In an observance of the Lord's support at the morning service at the First Baptist church yesterday, Rev. E. Northcutt Gardner, pastor, brought a brief message on the topic, "On Mount Moriah."

The minister compared Mount Moriah and Mount Calvary, in the old testament and new, as standing as the supreme proof of a father's love. On Mount Moriah, Abraham was asked to sacrifice his first-born son, Isaac, as a test of his declared loyalty to Jehovah.

"Abraham rose obediently early and made preparations for the altar. Taking Isaac, they spent three days going toward Mount Moriah," the pastor stated. "The supreme moment of the test came as Abraham was about to kill his son, Abraham did not hesitate, but raised his hand to slay Isaac, but was stayed by the voice of an angel of the Lord, telling Abraham that he had proved his loyalty to God. Abraham then looked and saw a ram caught in a thicket; this he used as a burnt offering."

"Yet on Calvary another Son was not spared," the minister concluded. "The Son of God was sacrificed that our sins might be atoned. And today we think of His sacrifice as we gather around the Memorial Table."
