UNWRITTEN REGISTRY.

Each, for his own remembering, has a list
Of lovely things, and yours may be unlike Mine as the day from night; a river kissed
By sun is in my own, a flaming spike
Of hollyhocks may be in yours,
while snow,
Light-swirling but persistent, is as fair
To me as music. You have hours that glow
Jewel-like and exquisite, and I have rare
Mornings and afternoons and mid-nights, too.
You've loved a city you cannot forget.
And I a hill and wood in April; you,
Birsong and voices I've not known.
And yet
My list is strangely similar to yours,
Each warms the heart, and comforts,
and endures.

Miss Hughes Weds Edward J. Brinkley

Miss Dorothy Castle Hughes became the bride of Edward Joseph Brinkley in a quiet ceremony at the First Baptist parsonage Friday afternoon, July 6, at 4:30 o'clock, with Rev. E. Norfleet Gardner officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a pearl dress of white crepe with a sweetheart neckline. She used white accessories and her only ornament was a string of pearls, gift of the groom. She wore a shoulder corsage of red roses.

Members of the immediate families and a few close friends of the couple attended the ceremony. Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip to the mountains of North Carolina and points in Virginia.

Mrs. Brinkley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hughes, of Henderson. She is graduate of Henderson high school and Henderson Business College. For the past five years she has been employed in the general office of Ross's 5-10-25 Stores.

Mr. Brinkley is the son of Mrs. C. W. Sneed. He graduated from Henderson high school and entered the armed services in 1940. He has recently been discharged under the point system after serving 33 months overseas. He participated in the Africa, Sicilian, and Normandy invasions and Northern France and German campaigns.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TOPS NOT NECESSARY
MANY otherwise good players still penalize themselves by adhering to some of the bidding requirements proclaimed during the earliest days of contract bridge. Among these is the fetish that a suit, to be biddable, must have a certain amount of high card strength at its top. Many players will not bid a four-card major suit unless it has "at least a trick" at its top, and others will not bid a five-carder except when it has a "queen or better" to head it. When two lower-topped holdings are opposite each other, these players may throw away an easy game.

Simple Cure for Sprains

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

MOST all of us have had a sprain at some time or another and, since sprains are so common, many forms of treatment for this condition have been suggested. There used to be a time, and not so long ago either, that when a sprain developed, the patient was put at rest and the sprained part kept from being moved. This form of treatment, however, has been discarded in most cases.

It would appear that, nowadays, it is considered important, when sprains and minor injuries occur and the skin is unbroken, to have the patient gently move about as soon as possible. However, such motion is painful. Hence Doctor Robert Bingham of the Medical Corps of the Army suggests that the sprained area be sprayed with a substance known as ethyl chloride which deadens pain and, then, active motion of the part encouraged at once.

Recovery Rapid

Strapping with adhesive tape and the use of plaster casts are not required. Doctor Bingham states that six to nine out of every ten patients recover rapidly with this form of treatment so that the period of disability may be less than three days.

Acute sprains respond to this treatment better than those which have been present for a longer time. The relief of the symptoms is also greater when the tissues have not been torn, and bleeding into the tissues has not occurred.

Sprains of the ankle, knee and upper part of the spine respond to treatment best. Those of the shoulder and lower part of the spine were less respondent to treatment.

Using Spray

In using the spray, the container is held about two feet from the skin. The spraying is continued until the skin blanches or is covered with a fine frost. However, the spraying is not continued until never mentioning their spades. If either partner had opened his mouth about the spade suit, game would have been a cinch to bid and make. But there they were, in the wrong contract. They deserved to get set, and they were set.

West led his dummy went South with the club 3 to the A so he could lead the spade 3 toward his K. The A took that and the diamond 2 came back to be won by the J, with which South overtook the 10 because he wanted the lead in his own hand. He successfully finessed the club J and also got three more club tricks and the heart A. But that made only eight tricks for him. When he lost a second spade to the Q East returned his last diamond and West beat the contract with three more tricks.

South thought his K-9 did not constitute enough top strength for a spade bid, and North thought the same of his J-8 in spades. If either had held a different view, the resulting 4-Spade contract would have brought the loss of only three tricks, two in trumps and one in diamonds.

Your Week-End Question

Over a pre-emptive original suit bid of three in a major or four in a minor by your partner why is it usually better to raise the first suit to game, when holding sufficient strength, than to bid your own suit in response?

Press Service of the North Carolina Council of Churches

Church Fellowship Sponsors Rural Workshop

Columbia, N. C.—A workshop on cooperative living will be held at the Tyrrell County Training School here, July 13-25. The Fellowship of Southern Churchmen is sponsoring the project which will bring together ministers and other community workers who will seek to learn the cooperative method through practice. Part of each day will be given over to classes and lectures, the rest of the day to workshop projects that will be of benefit to the school and community where the sessions are held.

Leadership for the conference will include Dr. Henry Carpenter of New York, chairman of the Federal Council Committee on the Church and Cooperatives; Dr. Selz Mayo, rural sociologist, State College, Raleigh; Howard McClain, minister, professor at Campbell College, Buies Creek; John Larkin, consultant to Negro work, North Carolina Board of Charities and Public Welfare; and S. P. Dean, principal of the Tyrrell County Training School.

The group will study cooperative philosophy, community problems, the actual working of cooperatives including credit unions, and will make visits to neighboring cooperative projects.

Missionary to Africa Speaks to Churches

Elon College.—Making his headquarters here at Elon College, Dr. Merlin W. Ennis, for the past 35 years a missionary under the American Board (Congregational-Christian) in Elende, Africa, is now on a lecture tour speaking to Congregational-Christian groups throughout this area.

Last week Dr. Ennis taught the mission course at the leadership training school for Negro Congregational-Christian Churches at Franklinton Institute. On Sunday he preached at the First Christian Church of Reidsville, whose congregation has recently undertaken the full support of two missionaries to the mission project served by Dr. Ennis. On Thursday the African missionary addressed the Eastern North Carolina Sunday school convention at Epsom, and on Sunday he will preach at the United Church, Raleigh.

Ennis, whose chief work has been evangelistic, has also become known as an archeologist and has made several significant contributions to the British Museum and to the museum at Harvard University.

Nashville, Tenn.—According to an announcement by Dr. Louis D. Newton, the executive committee of the Southern Baptist Church, has approved a new campaign for 100,000 kits to Russia, the appeal to be made during July, August and September.

The campaign will be carried on in response to a cabled appeal from Russian Baptists signed by Chairman A. I. Zhidkov and other Baptist leaders in Moscow.

Last year Southern Baptists sent 175,000 kits to Russia after appealing to the churches for 100,000. The Russian leaders expressed great gratitude for the kits already received and gave assurance that the additional kits would go to the people most in need of help. Russian War Relief, Inc., will care for the shipping of the kits when they are ready.

Bennett Plans Ministers' School
Greensboro.—According to an announcement by Rev. B. D. Crockett of Bennett College, plans have now been completed and a faculty appointed for the annual pastor's school of practical methods to be held at the college here July 23-27. Mr. Crockett, who is professor of religious education at the college, will act as dean.

Courses of instruction will be offered in worship materials and methods, health, youth and the church, evangelism, stewardship, rural problems, church administration, recreation and counseling.

Members of the faculty will include Dr. William Lloyd Innes, president of Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.; Dr. George M. Bell of Kingston, Pa., and John Sharpe of New York City.

Local Church Sponsors Its Own Camp

Statesville.—"Camp Fellowship" came into being this year because the men of the Broad Street Methodist church here came to the conviction that every child over twelve in their church ought to have the privilege of at least a week at camp this summer. A happy group of church young people spent last week at camp at its own facilities.

Even the transportation to the camp was provided free of charge and the meals were free, too, with the exception of a picnic supper which the campers brought along for their first meal.

Miss Lena Davis served as camp director with the pastor of the church, the Rev. Charles P. Bowles, acting as advisor.

Bible School To Open At Baptist Church Monday

The annual Vacation Bible school of the First Baptist church will open Monday morning at nine o'clock and will continue through Friday morning. It was announced today. James A. Crisp, Jr., assistant pastor, will serve as principal.

On Monday morning, students from ages of four to 16 will register and a general assembly will open the week's school. Classes will be held in memory work, character study, woodwork and handiwork and a recreational period will be held each day in charge of Miss Bebe Bartholomew.

Other officers for the school will be Miss Ruth Bell, general secretary; Mrs. W. W. Parker, pianist; Miss Peggy Barber, song leader; Miss G. W. Knott, superintendent of Beginners department; Mrs. J. C. Gardner, Primary department; Mrs. V. G. Vaughan, Junior department; and Rev. E. Norfleet Gardner, intermediate department. A number of other helpers will assist in the various departments during the week.

Musical Sunday.

There will be a musical program at Spring Street Baptist church Sunday night at 8 o'clock. It was announced today. The Gospel Healers Singers, Heavily Star and Shiloh Kirtell Quartet will appear on the program.
