West, not a very experienced player, led his diamond K and A in quick succession, then the diamond 9 to the Q. South promptly put forth his heart Q, which West ducked, and then the 8, which West took with the A. Now he led his spade 9 to the dummy's A, and four heart tricks followed. He did not cash his diamond 8 when in the lead, for the very simple rea- | him a chance to make it it was a good trick winner. When the dummy's hearts were run, West had a discarding problem, and made the worst discard of all when he tossed off a second club to blank his K. Thereupon a club to the A felled the K, making the Q good, and a final club was given up to East's 10. South had made exactly 3-No Trumps No wonder a couple of the players, when they saw the score, said that it was impossible for South to make a No Trump game on these cards. It certainly was if West knocked the spade A out of the dummy before hearts were opened, then held up his heart A for the second trick of the suit. That would have held South to one trick in hearts instead of five. Furthermore, South never should have scored more than one club trick. But he got a lot of help from West.
