

67 Vance Men Lost Lives In Army In World War Two

16 Who Died In Navy's Service Are Not Listed

Sixty-seven Vance county men are included in the War Department's official list of dead in World War II, but an additional 16 accredited to navy casualties are not given in the summary. Records compiled here show a total of 83 white and colored military men were killed, died of disease or otherwise lost their lives while in the service.

In preparing the list, the War Department used letters to indicate the type of casualty. Explanation of those letters follows:

- KIA—Killed in action.
- DOW—Died of wounds.
- DOI—Died of injuries, as opposed to wounds, suffered in combat.
- DNB—Died, non-battle, which includes sickness, accidents outside combat areas, etc.
- FOD—Finding of death, which includes men who were carried as missing for the required period of time, usually a year and then were declared as dead.
- M—Still carried as missing.

Following is the War Department's list of dead from this county:

- Alford, Clarence W., Pfc., KIA

Zeb Vance Moves Nearer Loop Top

Zeb Vance moved a notch closer to first place in the Granville county baseball league by defeating Berea 4-2 at Zeb Vance Wednesday.

Nat Moss started on the mound for Zeb Vance, but was bothered with a sore arm and was relieved by Stone after the first inning. Moss allowed three hits and two runs. Les Stone pitched shutout ball, allowing only five hits.

Clark and Wilkins each had two for four to lead Berea. Leroy Rowland with two for three and Stone with two for four led Zeb Vance. Stone, Bill Frazier, Durwood Wells and Marvin Boyd drove in the winning runs in the sixth, after both teams had scored two runs in the first.

Around Capital Square—

By LYNN NISBET.

Asheville, July 4—Taking advantage of another opportunity for a free ride on a quick trip to Asheville your reporter persuaded the host driver to stop at several points for a check up on reaction to OPA's demise. There was little evidence of any effect around Winston-Salem; none at Statesville except in meats; very little at Hickory and practically none around Asheville except in meats and rents. One automobile dealer at Statesville with several cars on hand or in transit said he would not deliver them until he found out about prices. A used car dealer at Hickory was offering a car at $90 less than OPA ceiling.

DISCOURAGING—One of the leading tobacco warehousemen at Winston-Salem evinced fear of the long-time effect of the late congressional campaign in the Fifth District. He said Twin City tobaccoists had spent thousands of dollars developing good will in Stokes and adjoining counties for the Winston-Salem market. "And a bunch of dumb bell politicians had destroyed a lot of it." He declined to discuss the legality of Forsyth county men going into Stokes to watch the conduct of the primary but didn't hesitate to say it would cost the Winston-Salem market a lot of patronage from Stokes.

CAMPAIGN—It was learned at Taylorsville that the Democrats in Alexander county are confident they will "redeem" the county for their part this fall. Alexander has several times in recent years had a Republican representative in the legislature and some of the county offices have "gone wrong." The campaign is getting underway in Alexander ahead of most other sections. Mr. and Mrs. R. Ferguson are giving a big picnic dinner for all the first voters in the county at their Lile-down home on the Fourth of July. Mrs. Ferguson is the Democratic nominee for the senate from that district and the picnic is generally regarded as formal opening of the fall campaign.

SPEAKERSHIP—Tom Pearhill, representative from Nash county and candidate for speaker of the 1947 house is combining a campaign trip with a week's vacation for his family. He spent Monday calling upon legislative nominees in the northwestern counties, Tuesday in Asheville and during the next few days was working his way back home. Pearhill reports almost solid support throughout the mountains. He said he was just calling on the fellows whom he knows will be for him in the caucus to assure them they had picked a winner. His confidence seemed to be justified by independent checking of half a dozen prospective legislators hereabouts.

When the Spanish-American war of 1898 came, the regular army of the United States had but 2,116 officers and 25,706 enlisted men.

DEPT STORE INC
HOLDS THE LINE

It is the general impression of the public today, with the discontinuance of the O. P. A. that prices will advance enormously.

Prices at Leggett's on goods now in our store will not be increased above the ceilings which the O. P. A. established.

It is the further hope of the management of Leggett's that we may be able to secure our goods in the future at such prices that we can continue to "hold the line."
