

OPA Makes Ruling On Vet Homes

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—Veterans who buy homes for their own occupancy in OPA rent-controlled areas in North Carolina which have a six-months waiting period for non-veterans may hereafter evict tenant occupants after an automatic four-month waiting period, OPA's State Rent Executive, Frank McInnis, said here today.

In a few other rent areas, where the normal waiting period is three months, such veterans are now authorized by OPA to proceed with eviction after a flat two-month wait, McInnis said.

Previously, OPA area rent directors were permitted to waive any or all of the regular waiting period for home-buying veterans in special circumstances, McInnis explained. The current change still gives veterans a preference, he said, but puts the waiting period on a uniform basis for each rent area.

Both the tenants and home-buying veterans should benefit from this change, since there will no longer be any uncertainty as to the extent of the waiting period, and in practically all cases the veteran who buys a home will know the moment he receives the deed just how long he will have to wait before he can gain possession," McInnis said.

Motordrome Show To Be Feature At Golden Belt Fair

Two of the nation's top-ranking motorcycle daredevils — Teddy and Johnny Barre—present 30 minutes of high speed entertainment replete with thrills from start to finish when they ride the "Wall of Death" motordrome in sensational fashion on Prett's Broadway Shows midway at the Golden Belt Fair from October 7 through October 12.

Teddy, elder of the two daredevil brothers from Garfield, N. J., has been riding the slick walls of the motordrome for the last eight year, and is considered one of the most daring speed demons in the thrill world today.

Barre has titled his show "Hell on Wheels," and the 31-year-old Jersey provides just that type of entertainment. He rides high on the wall, spinning his cycle inches from the top and rides in precision with his brother, Johnny, in a thrilling exhibition of skill and cycle daredevilry.

Barre has had a varied career as a stuntman. Before turning to the motordrome as a means of earning a living, Teddy toured the nation with the leading automobile and cycle thrill shows. He was a personal friend of the late "Lucky" Teter, beloved king of the motor mania, who lost his life on July 10, 1942, in Indianapolis, jumping a stock sedan over a bus.

Ted also had a fling at motion picture "doubling" and was on the payroll of one of Hollywood's leading studios for several years.

The Prett Shows, billed as providing "all the thrills of the big top," feature eleven riding devices and eight big shows, including the "Chez Farce Revue, the Monkey Speedway, the Wild Life Show, The "Parade of Freaks," and numerous other side-shows.

Large Quantities Of Tobacco Here For Monday Sale

Large quantities of tobacco were already rolling into Henderson today for Monday's sale on local auctions and a lot of it appeared to be of high quality leaf. Streets adjacent to warehouses with Monday sales were three deep in places with trucks waiting to unload.

The market Friday stepped up selling hours by half an hour, giving three and a half hours of sales daily or seven hours in all with the double set of buyers. Each set of buyers hitherto has operated only three hours daily. Selling time was extended on all markets as congestion in redrying and packing plants was relieved considerably with close of the Border Belt markets.

Market Is Firmer During Past Week; Sales To Increase

Season tobacco sales on the Henderson market for the first two weeks, ending Friday, amounted to 4,412,750 pounds, which brought $2,101,855.02 for an average price of $47.63 per hundredweight, it was announced today by Blay's W. Britt sales supervisor.

Prices the past week advanced above levels of the previous week, first week of the season, and went to $49.45 per hundredweight for 2,021,200 pounds, which brought a total of $999,679.12.

Friday's sale was 474,562 pounds for $24,135.49 at an average of $50.96 per hundred pounds.

Prices continued strong during most of the week. Poor grades of tips and primings tended to hold down averages the first week of the season, it was said.

Sales time was increased by half an hour for each set of buyers, effective Friday and continuing from this time on. The new selling period is three and a half hours for each set of buyers, making a total of seven hours of sales on the Henderson market for two sets of buyers.

Large quantities of leaf, much of it of high quality tobacco, are already on warehouse floors for sales Monday, and price averages are expected to be better than those hitherto said.
