EDITORIAL NOTES.

In its present crusade the Reidsville Review is whistling against the wind. But then the Review has a way peculiarly its own for attracting attention to itself.

Small manufacturing enterprises are what we need in Henderson.

The greatest objection the GOLD LEAF has in taking Hawaii, is the fact that the United States Government is obliged to annex Queen Lilioukalani, name and all. And this is not a starter to the labyrinth of syllabistic words that constitute the cognomen of the princess and her presumptive.

Thick Legislature did a wise thing when it decided not to create any new grounds for divorce. The fact is the marriage vow is regarded too lightly and the securing of a divorce is too easy a thing now. North Carolina does not need any Chicago methods planted upon her soil.

Small manufacturing enterprises are what we need in Henderson.

It is probable the State Guard will go in a body to the World's Fair next summer. Adjutant General Glenn in his last annual report recently made, suggests that the soldiers go to Chicago instead of having an incampment. The idea is a good one and will no doubt meet with the favor of a majority of the officers and men.

SCORE ONE MORE for the old North Star. Two North Carolina boys won medals in the postal clerk contest. Last year Postmaster Wanamaker ordered a medal to the clerk in each of the eleven divisions who should make the highest record of proficiency. H. T. Gregory, of Greensboro, won in the Charlotte and Washington division and W. L. M. Austin, of Charlotte, won in the Charlotte and Atlanta division.

The special committee of the National Editorial Association, appointed by the general committee last October to select a time and place for holding the next annual meeting, has decided upon Chicago the time being from May 16 to 29, the first week of the Association to be devoted to the election of officers, etc., and the second week to participation in the World's Public Press Congress, which convenes on May 22.

ADJUTANT GENERAL Cameron, who succeeds Gen. J. D. Glenn, resigned, announces the following staff appointments as made by Gov. Carr: Inspector General, A. L. Smith; Quartermaster General, E. G. Harrell; Surgeon General, Hubert Hayward; Chief of Engineers, W. G. Lewis; Paymaster General, Julian S. Carr; Inspector General of Small Arms Practice, Bennahan Cameron; Judge Advocate General, Thos. W. Strange; Commissary General, Edward B. Engelhard; Aides de Camp, J. Bryan Grimes, N. P. Alston, James H. Holt, Jr., and Clement Manly; Military Secretary, Samuel F. Telfair.

How unfortunate it is for a man to look like a big man—a real important, able man—when in fact he is a small potato.—Danville Times.

Yes, unfortunate for the people he thus imposes upon.

The St. Louis Republic asserts that the brains of the Republican party were buried in the head of James Gillespie Blaine. And this opinion is shared by others. And this leads us to say that Mr. Blaine, now that he is dead, is either being much over-rated, or, during his life, his merits were not appreciated as they should have been, especially by his own party, whose ablest exponent he unquestionably was.

A press dispatch from Little Rock, Arkansas, dated Feb. 3rd, says: "Gov. Fishback has issued a circular letter to the Governors of all the Southern States asking them to join in convention in Richmond, Va., April 2, for the purpose of formulating a plan for developing the resources of the South and offering inducements to capital and labor." Such a motion should meet with a hearty second from the Governors and people generally throughout the South. This is a great country but it needs developing.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE never more distinctly showed himself to be the son of his distinguished father than in the very bright bit of fancy which appears in the February Cosmopolitan "June, 1893," ninety years after the invention of successful aerial machinery, is sketched in a witty and philosophical way that will be found interesting by all classes of readers. If you do not already take this really fine monthly you should. It is printed on superior paper, beautifully illustrated and filled with timely and excellent reading matter.

Small manufacturing enterprises are what we need in Henderson.

A SURPASSINGLY beautiful and tender thought was that expressed by Blaine on the death of Garfield. He said: "Let us think that his dying eyes read a mystic meaning, which only the rapt and parting soul may know. Let us believe that, in the silence of the receding world, he heard the great voices breaking on a farther shore and felt the breath of the eternal morning." And now that Mr. Blaine himself has crossed over the river and solved the mysterious problem of death, let us hope that he too has experienced the same thing he so beautifully said of another.

ONE does not always know what he misses by failing to perform a kind and benevolent act whenever opportunity presents itself, to say nothing of the satisfaction experienced as its reward for having done a good deed. It is related that some time ago an old man fell by the roadside near Kensington, England. Several persons witnessed the fall, and all, except one young woman, concluded that he was drunk, and therefore unworthy of attention. The young woman, whose name is Birch, went to his aid and saw him safely home. A few weeks ago the old man died, and in his will he bequeathed to Miss Birch $750,000.

As will be seen by reading the article printed on the first page of the GOLD LEAF, another poor wretch has been sacrificed on the altar of public indignation, for committing a great and heinous double crime. This brute in human form merited the severest penalty the law could visit upon him, but his treatment at the hands of an outraged and indignant populace may be said to have been too severe. Not content with burning him at the stake, they tortured him for nearly an hour before they finally put the torch to the pyre and freed his spirit from its earthly sufferings. This was an awful punishment, but just so long as crimes like that for which Henry Smith was summarily put to death in the little Texas town are committed, just so long will similar acts of mob law be witnessed.

Small manufacturing enterprises are what we need in Henderson.

News comes of another important industrial enterprise to be added to the list of similar ones already established in this State. The News and Observer states that a company of capitalists, including the Messrs. Odell, the well-known North Carolina cotton manufacturers, are preparing to erect a large cotton mill at Lockville, Wake county. The property purchased by the company includes the water power at Lockville, which is estimated at something like 5,000 horse power, a portion of which is ready for use, also the widely known Lockville river and Gorgan dams together with 2,350 acres of the surrounding land, with the flouring mills and village of Lockville. This is valuable property for the purposes in view and the GOLD LEAF is glad to know that it will be developed. Thus the industrial growth of the Old North State goes on.

THE BALTIMORE SUN.

Of the many able and excellent newspapers throughout the country we know none superior to the Baltimore Sun, taken all in all. While not as large and bulky as some others its news service is full and complete, presented in a compact form, free from sensational features. Its editorial opinions are able and forcibly expressed, its manner dignified, its tone conservative, its course straightforward and direct. In short, the Sun might justly be styled a model newspaper. It is closely allied with the interests and development of the South and devotes much attention to Southern news. As such we commend it to our readers. Price $6.00 a year.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

The Hickory Press and Carolinian has changed hands, H. A. Murrill selling out to E. A. Thornton. Both the retiring and incoming editors have the best wishes of the GOLD LEAF.

Mr. Howard A. Banks, who has been associate editor of the Winston Sentinel since that paper has been under the proprietorship of Mr. Burbank, leaves it to go to the Charlotte Observer.

The Newberne Daily Current, by R. R. and J. B. Hill, is a five six-column folio and improves with age. It gives evidence of newspaper experience and ability and merits well at the hands of its people.

The North Carolina Baptist, published at Fayetteville, is two years old and with a circulation of 3,000 copies is apparently prospering. It is a good paper, filled with choice reading matter and deserves well not only of Baptists but others.

The Albemarle News is much improved by discarding its patent odor and coming out as an all-home-print with new type. Editor J. D. Bivins shows by this stroke of enterprise that he is up with the balance of the boys in the line of progress and prosperity.

JIM LINDSAY'S paper the Charlottesville (Va) Daily Progress, is what its name indicates. It is bright, newsy and well edited, and gathers strength as it gathers age. The editor will be kindly remembered by the brethren in this State as the former popular and efficient Secretary and Treasurer of the North Carolina Press Association and publisher of the Kernersville News.

The last issue of the Warrenton Gazette appears with new reading matter type and the appearance of the paper is greatly improved as a consequence. The GOLD LEAF is pleased to note this indication of thrift and progressiveness on the part of Editor Foote. He has labored long and earnestly in behalf of the people of his town and county and deserves a liberal patronage at his hands.

EDITOR ROSCOVER, of the Goldsboro Midnight, has been investing in new type and a power press and promises that his paper will soon be printed all at home and put on other airs. By the time he does this we dare say that bank account he was wont to boast of will be a thing of the past—an iridescent dream as it were. But we note with pleasure that he is able to make these contemplated improvements.

The Shelby Review is a prime favorite with us. It is bold, aggressive, newsy and interesting. Col. John C. Tipton has editorial experience and ability of the kind to make a paper "go," and the GOLD LEAF is not surprised at the success he has met with since establishing his paper in Shelby. The Review has recently entered upon a new volume and gives promise of attaining a ripe old age, crowned with honor and usefulness.

The Greenville Reflector is one of the most sterling, wide-awake, fearless and outspoken papers in the State. It is edited with industry and ability and has cause to rejoice over its success and prosperity. It deserves all it gets—and more. Editor Whichard has opinions of his own and he is not afraid to express them. We note the fact that the Reflector has entered upon its twelfth year and the GOLD LEAF hopes it may live to be one hundred under the same management.

Brother Marshall, of the Gastonia Gazette, does not want his reputation as a grammarian to suffer, he had better take his editorial chair along with him to keep the "devil" out of it next time he leaves the office to visit the State capital. The GOLD LEAF feels kindly toward him and wants to see him keep up his end of the log in the "bout" with Dr. Kingsbury, of the Wilmington Messenger, Old Man Scott, of the Lenoir Topic, Col. Robinson, of the Asheville Citizen, and Joe Caldwell, of the Charlotte Observer, even if he can't use its plan to increase his subscription list to advantage.

The Charlotte Observer has completed its first year under the ownership of Messrs. Caldwell and Tompkins. The GOLD LEAF has always been very partial to the Observer's editor Mr. J. P. Caldwell, and when he entered the arena of daily journalism it predicted that his work would be even more brilliant in his enlarged field and broadened sphere than it had been on the Statesville Landmark, which was conceded to be the best weekly paper in the State, and it has no cause to feel that it played the part of a false prophet. The Observer is one of the best papers we get. It is well and carefully edited, gotten up in good style, and shows vim, vigor and enterprise all over. We trust its success has been as gratifying to the management as the paper has been pleasing to its patrons and friends.

READ this and then attend the meeting at the court house here next Saturday in the interest of good roads. Our people need to do something along this line. There is no more important question to consider now one in which the farmers especially are more directly interested than that of better public highways. The Edenton Fisherman and Farmer says:

The farmer pays his tax on roads in the winter by being compelled to haul his loads at a far greater cost than if the roads were in good condition. The winter teaches, from the book of experience, the advantage of good roads, and during the next road making period of the year every farmer should take a personal interest in seeing that the roads in his neighborhood are in the best possible condition for travel and transportation.

The intelligence of the death of Mrs. Whitney, wife of Hon. Wm. C. Whitney, of New York, ex-Secretary of the Navy under President Cleveland, will be received by the people of the country with genuine regret.

She was a woman of exalted character and rare virtues, whose name was only mentioned to be praised. Her noble acts of benevolence in behalf of the people of Charleston, S. C., when that city was so sorely stricken by the earthquake some years ago, and a subsequent gift of $500 the following Christmas to make bright the lives and homes of those who had suffered most, are fresh in the minds of the public. Mrs. Whitney was the daughter of ex-Senator H. B. Payne, of Ohio, and was about 40 years old. She died at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, of heart disease.

WHILE the resignation and retirement of Adjutant General Glenn will be regretted by many of the officers and men composing the State Guard, there will be general satisfaction at the appointment of Col. E. H. Cameron as his successor. Gov. Carr could not have selected a man better fitted for this responsible office. Col. Cameron is a thorough soldier, a polished and admirable gentleman, and his long service and experience as Inspector Major Duncan O'Hanlon, Dr. A. D. Lindsay, Thomas F. Wood, M. D., L. L. D., Judge Joseph J. Davis, L. L. D., Rev. N. B. Hunnicutt, Col. Paul N. Hillig, Dr. Charles Duffy, Sr., Rev. James D. Hall, Dr. Robert Galloway, Donald McRae, Capt. J. B. Whitaker, Cr. A. R. Vann, Dr. S. S. Satchwell, Chief Justice Morrison, Col. Charles E. Shober, Basil Manly, State Treasurer Donald W. Bain, Judge George Green, Reddin G. Pittman, Gen. John C. Gorman, and Capt. Chas. D. Myers.—Wilmington Messenger.

THE NEW YORK WORLD.

The New York World is truly a great newspaper—great in many respects. It is great in ability, in the number of papers printed, in the amount of news published, in alertness, in enterprise, and so on ad infinitum. It now boasts a circulation greater than that of any other newspaper in the English language, having printed 139,262,685 copies during 1892, or an average per day of 380,499 copies. The average gain per day over the previous year was 63,958 copies, a number equalling the entire circulation of many metropolitan dailies and exceeding that of the GOLD LEAF by many copies. We repeat, the World is a great newspaper, and while it does not want the earth with a fence around it, yet it goes right on circling the globe with its phenomenal circulation.

The St. Louis Republic says "the Alabama Senate has refused to vote a pension to Mrs. Jefferson Davis. And that is good." But Mrs. Davis would not take a pension if it were voted. And that is better." The Republic should have added that it was because it was understood that Mrs. Davis would not accept the pension that it was not voted her.—Bellefontaine (Ohio) Examiner.

HOW TO GROW TOBACCO.

Writing on this subject Maj. R. L. Ragland, of Hyco, Va., the well known authority on tobacco culture, says:

Having put the land in nice "order" lay off the rows with a shovel plough, three feet three inches apart, and follow drilling along the furrow, a good fertilizer at the rate of some two hundred and fifty to four hundred pounds per acre, according to the natural strength of the soil and the quantity of manure previously applied; then follow with one-horse turning plows, lapping for furrows on the fertilized trench, and when finished the manner your lot is ready to be planted with the beds have been "platted" with hoes, with "spats" two feet ten inches apart to make points for setting the plants. In the older portions of the fine yellow Tobacco country the applications are becoming heavier from year to year, some planters using as much as six hundred pounds to the acre.

New ground, or old field that has grown up and been cut down, will require different preparation from the old smooth land. But on the former our best brights are raised. Any preparation that clears the soil in the winter condition, clear of roots tufts and trash, is all that is required. Experience teaches that if land is cut down two or three years previous to its being prepared for Tobacco, it greatly facilitates the preparation and helps its fertility. Much of the vegetable material, both in and upon the soil, the roots break easily and the soil is altogether lighter and finer.

Furs and Winter Styles.

With the advent of the winter season which has begun during Yuletide, the subject of "furs" becomes, as a matter of fact, of permanent importance to all. The most desirable furs are in great vogue this year and fur trimmings are more used than they have ever been. They are seen in a very great variety of combinations, and since they ornament outside garments as well as walking costumes, evening and ball dresses, and moreover adorn hats and bonnets of every form, one has need of a sure guide to understand what are really the correct combinations of the season. The Mc-Dowell Fashion Journals are of invaluable service in this respect, giving with unerring good taste, and a profusion of practical illustrations and all the necessary information. La Mode de Paris and Paris Album & Fashion, which only cost $3.50 per year, or 35 cents per copy, each, have the finest Parisian styles, and La Mode de New York, or 34 cents per copy, gives the most practical French fashions. Yearly subscribers to either of these Journals are entitled to a Premium Book on Dress-making, published, valued at $7.00. La Mode $1.50 per annum, or 15 cents a copy, is the best family Journal of Fashion in this country. It is not procurable at our newsdealers send direct to the Publisher, A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th Street, New York City.

A Beautiful Calendar.

The Columbia cycling calendar for '93 is the most exquisite and truly artistic of practical calendars for the year. It begins with February, '93, and ends with February, '94. It consists of a circular piece of cardboard, 4 inches in circumference, the calendar picture being framed with a reproduction of the most artistic rubber tire. The picture is in fifteen water colors, and represents a country scene with a bicycling couple in the foreground resting in a cozy nook under a delightful tree. The original picture is by a celebrated American artist, and the reproduction is so close to the painting that one hardly realizes that the delightful tones and shades are not the true brush marks. This calendar, issued by the Pope Mfg. Co., of Boston, is adapted for the library, dining-room, parlor, or business office.

The Phrenological Journal.

The Phrenological Journal and Science of Health for January is out in a new cover and is an unusually interesting number. It starts off with a remarkably life-like portrait of Jay Gould and a description of his character by Prof. Sizer, followed by a pertinent biographical sketch. Mrs. Charles Fowler writes an able another article to the list of her charming biographical sketches, this time discussing the careers of B. J. Gray and Prof. Stanley Greimes. Practical Phrenology stands out conspicuously in this issue. "Human Pursuits, and How to Study them Phrenologically," is to constitute a series of articles by one who has had an extensive experience not equaled by any other phrenologist, Prof. Nelson Sizer, in this number the topic being "The Lawyer." The same author writes about "Heads and Faces, and What They Indicate," amply illustrated, the first of a systematic series under this title which will add much to the interest of the Journal. "Modern Football" is an illustrated article, with terse and well taken remarks upon the influence of character in the choice of sports and upon the usefulness of muscular exercise. The Columbia Exposition is further considered, this issue containing illustrated descriptions of the United States Navy Exhibition and Machinery Hall. Mrs. Annie Besant, a lady whose interest in Theosophy and allied psychic phenomena has made her well known, is now in this country and lecturing on topics related to the above. The Phrenological gives her portrait, description of her character and an appreciative notice of her work. The several departments of the Journal are well filled, as usual, with matter that is appropriate to the season and of special value to the reader. All the world knows the usefulness of the Phrenological, yet it is not superfluous to say that everybody should subscribe and read it with care. It is published at the popular price of $1.50 per annum, or 15 cents a number. Address the publishers, Fowler & Wells Co., 25 East Twenty-first street, New York.

HOW?

Can the world know a man has a good thing unless he advertises the possession of it.—VANDERBILT.

If You Thought

You could increase your business and make your profits larger by the expenditure of a small amount of capital, without special effort on your part:

If You Believed

This had been done by your competitor in business and by every other man who has pursued the same policy:

And If You Knew

That success would as surely come to you as them—all things being equal:

Wouldn't You Invest

A little money in an attractive and well displayed advertisement in a neatly printed and widely read newspaper?

Wouldn't You Think

Your investment a paying one if your name and business should be carried into places where it had not been heard before, or was forgot, and trade should be brought to you as a consequence?
