YEARS OF INTENSE PAIN.

Dr. J. H. Watts, druggist and physician, Humboldt, Neb., who suffered with Rheumatism for four years, trying every remedy and all treatments known to him, writes: "I consulted you in the GOLD LEAF of last week. It is a portion of an address delivered by Rev. Frank L. Bardsen on the seventy-seventh anniversary of the founding of the Order, which was celebrated by the various lodges of that city in appropriate style."

Rheumatism of the Heart.
It was almost unendurable; with shortness of breath, palpitations, severe pains, unable to sleep, especially on the left side. No pen can describe my sufferings, particularly during the last months of those four years. I finally tried Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and was surprised at the result. It put new life into me and made a new man of me. I never had a symptom of trouble since and I am satisfied your medicine has cured me. I have now enjoyed, since taking it, three years of splendid health.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, restores health.

ONE BOTTLE
Will effect a cure in some mild cases, but do not claim that one will do it every case. It often requires from four to six bottles of

ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS.

An Organization Which is Spending Annually $3,500,000 in Relieving Its Distressed Members.

The following interesting article in which the tenets of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows are briefly but accurately set forth, is taken from the Golden Era (the independent Gazette), of last week. It is a portion of an address delivered by Rev. Frank L. Bardsen on the seventy-seventh anniversary of the founding of the Order, which was celebrated by the various lodges of that city in appropriate style.

As interest is being revived in Odd Fellowship in Henderson just at this time we publish the article for the benefit of those concerned. We quote:

"We need not go into an elaborate dissertation to prove that Odd Fellows are bound to love one another. Paul, in language in I Thess., 4th chapter and 9th verse, is explicit. Through this is spoken emphatically in Christ, every Odd Fellow will recognize its authority as teaching a duty incumbent on him, even if he be not a confessed Christian. How often we are asked what Odd Fellowship does for the individual. No one sees its silent work and no one heralds its beneficence to the world. But it does work, for all that. If not seen, it works in the hearts of men."

"(1) It gathers together a group of men, from the several grades and classes of respectable society, and instructs them in the fundamental principles of social duty, and enjoins them to go out into the world and practice according to their instructions."

"(2) Under the influence of these instructions they do mingle in the crowd of human beings, and as a necessary consequence impart something of their own principles and feelings to those they all tend to be brothers, and as such to be entitled to consideration and respect."

"(3) Seeking to rule the world by kindness rather than by hardness and force, it gradually assimilates the character of its members to its principles, so that they more and more feel that it is good and pleasant for brethren to dwell together in unity."

"(4) By the influence now exerted upon society in almost every village and hamlet of our country, the influence is brought to feel its common bond of union, and the well tempered current of brotherly love unites the different stones that constitute the living temple into one common mass."

"This is what our Order is doing. This is what it can do. This is what it will do, and must do. With no flourish of trumpets does it go on its mission, but still as the 'small voice' of truth, but mighty and powerful as that of truth in its most potent phase, it overtures error, subdues position, conquers all foes, and he who opposes its progress must also oppose that march of truth which is even now causing misery to flee, the mourners' tears to cease, the dead to be raised to lighten up with the smile of hope, and hope herself to anticipate a better day than has yet dawned on earth."

"The permanency of Odd Fellowship is dependent upon the active influence of its disciples. A Judas may betray, a Peter may deny, but let others remain steadfast and the gates of hell cannot prevail against it. The truest of Odd Fellowship is developed when a brother's hand is extended to cool the fevered brow and administer to the suffering body of a brother Odd Fellow, and as the last sands drop the hour glass of life, wiping away the cold dews that settle in the valley of death, and to the bereaved widow affording consolation which her wounded spirit requires, and taking the orphan by the hand, directing and persuading him to walk only in those paths which lead to eminence and happiness."

"No other hand can so cement, so Naught else so close can bind. As these three simple, magic words, Love, Friendship, Truth, combined, 'The mission of Odd Fellowship, therefore, is extensive. (1) It reaches over all of life. (2) It aims to establish friendship among men. (3) It manifests itself in all life situations. (4) And truth in everything."

Diogenes' Man Found at Last.
[From Toledo Union.]
By some strange mischance an honest man broke into the United States congress at the last election. He soon found he was out of place and resigned and his State (California) was the loser. He was old-fashioned—in fact, thought he was there to serve his constituents—and could not appreciate modern methods of legislation. The Associated Press and the United Press ignored and effectually smothered all mention of his action and his ringing speech. Even the Congressional Record had no mention of the executive session at which Congressman Neimander resigned. He concluded his denunciation of the politicians as follows:

"Gentlemen, when I was elected to this Congress I had high ideas of statesmanship and duty to my country. For I had read of a certain Randolph, a Calhoun, a Clay and a Webster. But my resignation has been given in. I have also read of Ananias and Judas Iscariot. As I look about me, Mr. Speaker, upon yourself and this house, full of living lungs and palsied consciences and fraudulent designs on the Congressional Record, I myself get into the green goods way. When I am far away I shall think of you, and the more I think of you the better I shall like Bill Dalton."

Man a Creature of Habits, Woman Utilizes Anything That is Handy.
Man is a creature of cast iron habits; woman adapts herself to circumstances. This is the foundation of the moral difference between them.

A man does not attempt to drive a nail unless he has a hammer; a woman does not hesitate to use anything from the heel of a boot to the back of a brush.

A man considers a corkscrew absolutely necessary to open a bottle, a woman attempts to extract the cork with the scissors. If she does not succeed readily she pushes the cork in the bottle, since the essential thing is to get at the fluid.

Shaving is the only use to which a man puts a razor; a woman employs it for a chiropodist's purposes.

When a man writes everything must be in apple pie order—pen, paper and ink must be just so; a profound silence must reign while he accomplishes this important function. A woman gets any sheet of paper, tears it perhaps from a book or portfolio, sharpens a pencil with the scissors, puts the paper on an old atlas, crosses her feet, balances herself on her chair and confides her thoughts to paper, changing from pencil to pen and vice versa from time to time, nor does she care if the children romp or the cook comes to speak to her.

A man stores if the blotting paper is not conveniently near; a woman dries the ink by blowing on it, waving the paper in the air or holding near a lamp or fire.

A man drops a letter unhesitatingly in the box; a woman re-reads the address, assures herself that the envelope is sealed, the stamp secure and then throws it violently into the box.

A man can cut a book only with a paper cutter; a woman deftly inserts a hairpin, and the book is cut.

For a man "goodby" signifies the end of a conversation and the moment of his departure; for a woman it is the beginning of a new chapter, for it is just when they are taking leave of each other that women think of the most important topics of conversation.

A woman ransacks her brain trying to mend a broken object; a man puts it aside and forgets that for which there is no remedy. Which is the superior?—Lippincott's Magazine.

SHORT TALKS ON ADVERTISING.
(Copyright by Charles Austin Bates.)
Probably no other single sentence ever hurt business so much as the remark by P. T. Barnum that "the American people like to be humbugged."

Comparative Value of Foods.
Prof. Atwater's exhaustive studies and experiments have led him to the conclusion that the greatest nutritive value in any kind of food of the same specific cost is to be found in cornmeal. He finds that in ten pounds of the latter there are slightly over eight pounds of actual nutriment; in eight and one-third pounds of wheat flour there are over six and three-fourths pounds of nutriment; in five pounds of white sugar there are four and one-half pounds of nutriment; in five pounds of beans there are four pounds of nutriment; in twenty pounds of potatoes there are three and three-fourths pounds of nutriment; in twenty-five cents' worth of fat salt pork there are three and one-half pounds of nutriment; in the same value of wheat bread there are two and one-fourth pounds; in the neck of beef, one and three-fourths; in skinned milk cheese, a trifle more than one and one-half pounds; in smoked ham and leg of mutton, about the same; in eggs at twenty-five cents a dozen, about seven ounces, and in oysters at thirty-five cents a quart, about three ounces.

What We Inherit.
We are not to blame for. We cannot be held responsible for the dispositions and tendencies which we derive from our ancestors. It is our responsibility for the germs of disease which may manifest themselves in our blood as a heritage from former generations. But we are responsible if we allow these germs to develop into serious diseases which will impair the vitality of the system. The natural advantages of the South exceed the natural advantages of the North. In view of these facts, it is well worth while for the South to give its attention to immigration, to spend its money, to give its time and energy in seeking to draw people from other sections into this favored region.

Who Should Advertise.
Every one who has anything to sell, whether it is the product of the head, brain or machine, and in cases where those who wish to buy, or secure, or exchange anything that they cannot get conveniently, should advertise. Advertisements should be treated precisely as any other investment, and in nine cases out of ten it pays a better profit than anything for which money is spent.

Patronize Those You Know.
Some people are so anxious to avoid paying the home merchants a legitimate margin they readily believe any fairy tale told them by slick-tongued travelling frauds who are entire strangers to them. Ninety-nine out of a hundred of these "soft snaps" offered by these fellows are swindles. The best plan is to patronize home merchants. They help pay a very large part of the taxes, help support the churches, the schools, etc., and are citizens among us. They are responsible for the goods they sell, and could be found at any time should anything be wrong or the goods not as represented.—Exchange.

VALUE OF IMMIGRATION

To the Southern States—Ways and Means of Securing It.

In discussing the value of immigration to the South, the Southern States magazine says: "A dispatch from Portland, Ore., states that that city has raised $32,000 to promote immigration, and that it has invited the State of Washington to join with Oregon in the work of bringing settlers to the Pacific Northwest, instead of each State laboring separately."

The Southern States has repeatedly pointed out how remiss the people of the South are in spending money to attract immigration. With the exception of a few railroads, which are doing something in this line, although very few of them are carrying out this work as comprehensively as Western roads do, the South itself is practically doing nothing. Here is one town of moderate population which has raised $32,000 for immigration work, or probably more than the whole fourteen Southern States in their official capacity have put up for such a purpose during the last five years. If the South wants to get the people it must use the same means which other sections have found profitable. That population is coming South rapidly is true; but this is being done because of the South's advantages and despite the utter failure of the South to do its part. Did the Western States possess such advantages as the South has, they would double their population in ten years. Every village in the whole country would be flooded with literature, and every man, woman and child would hear of their advantages. Unfortunately, the people of the South have not yet learned the value of advertising, whether that advertising be through newspapers or by other means, nor have they fully appreciated that to get immigration they must exercise broad-minded liberality, backed by untiring energy.

The Pacific coast recognizes the value of immigration. It recognizes that the incoming of new people builds up a country, enhances the value of its property, gives opportunity for the creation of wealth, opportunity for social advancement, and in general, opportunity for the building of churches, the establishment of schools, the improvement of roads and the general advancement of civilization.

The most important question before the South—the one upon which its future more largely depends than anything else—is immigration. The incoming of new people in great numbers will settle all the perplexing problems that have confronted this section. It will sweep away all trade questions, questions relating to possible race difficulties; it will open to the rising generation of the South opportunities for advancement scarcely dreamed of now; it will bring about the establishment of more schools, more churches, and the building of better roads, the increasing facilities for travel, and it will give to this section all of the comforts and conveniences of the most advanced civilization and development possessed by the North, added to and increased in proportion as the natural advantages of the South exceed the natural advantages of the North. In view of these facts, it is well worth while for the South to give its attention to immigration, to spend its money, to give its time and energy in seeking to draw people from other sections into this favored region.

These facts should be pressed upon the South by every paper in this section. They should be reiterated and reiterated until every man is so stirred to a full realization of the vital importance of attracting settlers as to be willing to give of his time and money in behalf of this work.—Baltimore Manufacturers' Record.

Terrible prostrations of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and was highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Melville Dorsey's Drug Store. Regular size 50c, and $1.00.

Marvelous Results.
From a letter written by Rev. J. Gundersman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in some cases. I was pastor of the Baptist Church at River Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible prostrations of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and was highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Melville Dorsey's Drug Store. Regular size 50c, and $1.00.
