

THE GOLD LEAF.

ESTABLISHED 1881.

BY THAD R. MANNING.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.
One copy one year, $1.25 6 months, .75
3 months, .50

We desire a live agent and correspondent at every postoffice in Vance and adjacent counties.

Concerning small subjects of local and general interest and opinions upon matters of public concern, we invite our readers to contribute.

The editor reserves the right to accept or reject any article he may think proper.

On the side of the paper must be written on the real name of the writer accompanying the contribution. No attention will be paid to anonymous communications.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 29, 1898.

Let the motto of all white men be thorough and effective work to secure good Government in the State.

WHERE men might learn one less son at least from the "reduced brother." He stands by his color in matters of election.

In order to do effective work the Democratic party should be thoroughly organized in every precinct throughout the State.

SINCE they came in the cry that comes from all parts of the State Republicans and Populists who say they will vote with the Democrats to secure white supremacy and decent Government in the State.

Four attempted outrages, and one successful, by negroes in different parts of the State were reported in last week's papers. That does not like either the law or organized vengeance has a deterring effect. One case comes from Mecklenburg, one from Durham, one from Cleveland and one from Brunswick.

The Democrats are putting forward only the best men for the Legislature. With such nominations as Hon. F. Osborne of Mecklenburg, ex-Judge H. G. Connor, of Wilson, Hon. R. B. Glenn, of Forsyth, ex-Judge A. W. Graham, of Granville, and others equally as good if not so well known, they ought to be elected by over whelming majorities.

The Republican county convention of Edgecombe, held in Tarboro, did not have a white man in it. The delegation was made up entirely of negroes and they had things their own way. Commenting on this fact the Reidsville News says:

The negroes are putting forward only the best men for the Legislature. With such nominations as Hon. F. Osborne of Mecklenburg, ex-Judge H. G. Connor, of Wilson, Hon. R. B. Glenn, of Forsyth, ex-Judge A. W. Graham, of Granville, and others equally as good if not so well known, they ought to be elected by over whelming majorities.

In many respects Miss Winnie Davis was identified with the old South and with sectional memories, but her death rather to the surprise of her birth and to the homage of which she was made the recipient on the part of the old soldiers than to any absence of national spirit in her allegiance, and there is something peculiarly suggestive of restored peace and good will between the sections in the fact that this gentle child of the South should have closed her eyes in death under the skies of Narragansett Pier.

In many respects Miss Winnie Davis was identified with the old South and with sectional memories, but her death rather to the surprise of her birth and to the homage of which she was made the recipient on the part of the old soldiers than to any absence of national spirit in her allegiance, and there is something peculiarly suggestive of restored peace and good will between the sections in the fact that this gentle child of the South should have closed her eyes in death under the skies of Narragansett Pier.

By some sort of inadvertence we have failed to note the death of ex-Senator Eaton, of Connecticut, which occurred on the 20th inst. He was in the Senate twenty years ago and was the only Democrat who had been in that body from his State since 1860. A little band of five or six Thruway of Olney, Keene, of New York, Bayard of Delaware, Eaton of Connecticut, Sumner, of Peoria, and one or two others stood up and passed the daily obsequies in the South which was the principal point of that period. They are all gone, except Bayard, and he is dying.

The procession made its way to Hollywood Cemetery. It was a most imposing column and was over a mile in length. The order of the procession then followed the casket past the graves of General Lee, telling him that Richmond had been evacuated. Davis said today that the new white guard and colored regiments were standing over the remains of her daughter. The gallery of the church was thrown open to the public, and was filled to its capacity, but there was no crush as the doors were closed as soon as every seat was taken. The main body of the procession followed the casket to the burial service at the Episcopal church. The hymn first sang was "How Firm Our Foundation, Ye Saints of the Lord." This was followed by "Never, My God, to Thee," and "Art Thou Weak?" As the remains were being borne from the church the choir sang the beautiful hymn, "Peace Perfect Peace."

At the conclusion of the services in the church, the procession made its way to Hollywood Cemetery. It was a most imposing column and was over a mile in length. The order of the procession then followed the casket past the graves of General Lee, telling him that Richmond had been evacuated. Davis said today that the new white guard and colored regiments were standing over the remains of her daughter. The gallery of the church was thrown open to the public, and was filled to its capacity, but there was no crush as the doors were closed as soon as every seat was taken. The main body of the procession followed the casket to the burial service at the Episcopal church. The hymn first sang was "How Firm Our Foundation, Ye Saints of the Lord." This was followed by "Never, My God, to Thee," and "Art Thou Weak?" As the remains were being borne from the church the choir sang the beautiful hymn, "Peace Perfect Peace."

The procession did not reach Hollywood Cemetery until nearly sundown, so some of the spectators were very fatigued. The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely overcome, and the sad sight of the broken-hearted mother weeping over the remains of the fair daughter affected every one who was at the graveside. The continual prayers which were said, and the deep-toned voices of the organists of the various choirs, added to the solemnity of the scene.

The procession reached the Davis section, thence and people had already gathered there and were occupying every place from which might be obtained a view of the grave.

The procession did not reach Hollywood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-

wood until nearly sundown, so some

of the spectators were very fatigued.

The casket was opened by Mrs. Davis

and Mrs. Hayes kissed the cold lips of

the corpse. Mrs. Davis was completely

overcome, and the sad sight of the

broken-hearted mother weeping over

the remains of the fair daughter affected

every one who was at the graveside.

The procession did not reach Holly-