DESPITE all reports of Filipino overtures for peace the war in the Philippines goes gloriously (2) on. Gen. Otis wants more troops and thinks with 30,000 additional men he can soon bring the Insurgents to terms. It would be well to make the number 50,000 or even larger, and put a swift and final end to the war and have done with it. This would probably cost the country less in blood and money besides impressing the Filipinos in a way that would give us less trouble from that source in

MR. M. A. COOPER AND THE COOPER GROCERY COMPANY.

A North Carolina Man's Phenomenal Success in the Lone Star State-What has Been Achieved by him in a Few Years-Head of a Great Wholesale Concern Doing a Business Last Year of $2,000,000-Prominent in Commercial, Financial and Railroad Circles.

The following extract from a Durham letter in the News and Observer on Tuesday morning followed by the of last Wednesday, is of peculiar address of Rev. Dr. Ivey which was much interest in more aspects than one. A solid car load of smoking tobacco for one concern looks big, don't it? Yet a car load is no more for this firm to buy at one time than a few thousand pounds for others not having as much enterprise. The car was loaded with the celebrated brand, "Duke's Mixture," and the streamers and banners on the car told where it was going and to whom marked: The Cooper Grocery Company, Waco, Texas" This was what was seen on the Seaboard Air Line a few days ago: enough smoking tobacco, it seemed to me, to supply the whole of Texas for a year or more, but from what I ascertained afterwards, it will be disposed of in great State by this big company, with its eight hustling tourists that are kept constantly on the go.

It was interesting to me, and thinking it would be of equal interest to the readers of the "News and Observer" to know something about this large and prosperous firm, I wrote to an old friend who is now in the Lone Star State, and who is personally acquainted with Mr. M. A. 'ooper, to tell me something about the Cooper Grocery Company, of Waco. Texas, and this is what he said: "The leading spirits in this, one of the leading Texas wholesale companies, are M. A. Cooper, president; E. C. Barrett, vicepresident; H. K. Brewer, secretary; C. W. Smith, buyer, and L. Rogers, treasurer.' The two former members are North Carolinians and the three latter are native

Texans. Mr. Cooper landed in Waco about fif teen years ago, hailing from Henderson, N.C. He was entirely without money upon his arrival, but he soon found employment. His first business venture was dealing in produce, at which he made a snug little capital, after several years diligent application. Fortune smiled upon him, as it has upon all men of his stamp, who have made Texas their home since the war; not so lavishly upon all, however, as upon him. In 1892 he succeeded in purchasing the stock and good will of Moore Bros., wholesale grocers, and up to a year ago he did a thriving business under the firm name of M. A. Cooper & Co. He is not one to wait for opportunities, or, Micawber like, "wait for something to turn under the laws of Texas, the Cooper pass that of last year.

The car in question passed through Henderson and attracted considerable notice. To give some idea of the immense quantity of this one brand of tobacco sold it is worthy of mention in this connection that the output of "Duke's Mixture" is a million pounds a month. Where all this tobacco goes is a question, but go it does, and in car load lots frequently as

Mr. M. A. Cooper is a native of Granville and at one time lived in Henderson. He is a brother to Messrs. James C., David Y. and John D. Cooper, all prominent and successful business men of this place, and among our foremost and most useful

The friends of Mr. Matt Cooper note with pleasure and pride his success in the Lone Star State. He is a man of indomitable energy, full of plack and perseverance—a "hustler" in the strictest sense. And what is more he possesses the qualities of tact and judgment, keen foresight, business sagacity and sterling integritythose qualities which win confidence and success-as illustrated by few

It is not often that four brothers attain to such position and prominence in business outside the great centers of trade and finance. And in the success that has attended them may it not be that there have been other influences at work beside their own individual efforts? We believe it is no less true that the seed of the righteous man shall not beg his bread than it is that the sins of the father are visited upon the children. The parents of the Messrs. Cooper were Godly people. In their deeds of kindness and acts of charity—aiding and sympathizing with the poor and needy, and giving comfort and succor to the widow and orphan-their children have been blessed. The Waco Times-Herald, of May 1st notes the election of Mr. M. A Cooper as a director of the St. Louis & Southwestern Railroad, known as the "Cotton Belt" line, and speaks of him in the following complimentry

In selecting Mr. M. A. Cooper of this ity as the successor of the late Wm. Cameron in the directory of their road the St. Louis and Southwestern railroad has disclosed the fact that they are familiar with the history and accomplishments of the progress in young business men of Central Texas. In all of this section there could have been chosen no man more fitted to represent Waco and its teritory. As a merchant and thorough business man Matt. Cooper is eminently a success. From his early manhood up to date his career has been a succession of successes in the business with which he has been connected. A fifth of a century ago Mr. Cooper in augurated a small business in Waco and to-day he is at the head of the largest wholesale grocery, with possibly one exception, in the State of Texas. This business will of course not be affected by the acceptance of the directorship. Mr. per comes of an old North Carolina family, numbering among the connection winkling with springs for those who many of the most prosperous and wealthy and wise men of affairs in that State. He was educated in Oxford, N. C., and soon thereafter came to Waco, with the determination to succeed in business, and he has succeeded. He will carry to the directory a thorough business training, an acute comprehensive mind and an admirable knowledge of the needs, possibilities and conditions of the country traversed by the railroad. The Cotton Belt and its patrons are to be congratulated on their choice, and we trust that Mr. Cooper will show his appreciation of the distinguished compliment by accepting.

M., and his excellent wife are taken into account we would be surprised if the Littleton Female College did not stand among most successful female colleges in the land. The year that has closed has been in many respects the must successful in the history of the institution."

Dr. T. N. Ivey in an editorial in same paper says: "We had occasion to note the appearance and bearing of the young ladies. They showed that dignity and true breeding which always characterize a refined and well regulated household. The faculty is a well selected one, representing not only the brightest talent but the best training in those schools which offer the best advantages to those taking the post-graduate course. Little ton is a growing town and is in a ver fine section of the State. The health conditions are good.
