COL. WADDELL TALKS ABOUT NEGRO

And Negro Insolence in the City of Wilmington and the Intolerable Conditions Which Followed—With Negro Magistrates, Negro Police-men, Negro Deputy Sheriffs, and Negro Jurymen It Was Impossible to Convict Negroes of Crime.

(Greensboro Telegram.)

Col. A. M. Waddell, of Wilmington, who is probably more cordially hated and feared by Republican politicians than any other man in North Carolina, made one of his telling and forcible speeches in the court house this afternoon. The court room was filled by a crowd of eager listeners, several ladies being in the audience. Col. Waddell spoke for one hour and was often interrupted by enthusiastic applause.

The speaker was introduced in a few appropriate remarks by Col. John A. Barringer, who referred to the condition of affairs in 1868, when the new constitution of North Carolina was adopted, and when the rights of the best men in the State were deprived of the right of suffrage, at the same time the recently enfranchised negroes—slaves of those who were disfranchised—were allowed the privilege of voting.

Col. Waddell was greeted with tremendous applause, and said, "I have the honor of introducing to you a gentleman, fresh from the field of battle, if such it may be termed, who will tell you what white supremacy and what negro domination in North Carolina means."

LABOR COMMISSIONER'S 13TH ANNUAL REPORT.

Unprecedented Growth of the Cotton Mill Business in North Carolina—New Mills Built This Year Not Included—Average of Wages Paid and Hours Worked—Number of Persons Employed by Railroads and Compensation Received—Agricultural Statistics, Etc.

(Charlotte Observer.)

The thirteenth annual report for the year 1899 of the Bureau of Labor and Printing is on our desk with the compliments of Commissioner of Labor and Printing E. R. Lacy. In the introduction the Commissioner has the following to say about cotton and woolen mills: "There has been an unprecedented growth in the cotton mill business in North Carolina this year, both in new mills and the enlarging of old ones. The statistics, being for the year ending June 1, 1899, do not include the new mills, of which there are about 25 in course of construction. The following figures show the growth of the cotton mill business in the past half century: "In 1849 there were in North Carolina 25 cotton mills, operating 47,900 spindles and 700 looms; in 1859, 28 mills, operating 49,000 spindles and 800 looms; in 1869, 39 mills, operating 11,900 spindles and 800 looms; in 1879, 33 mills, operating 39,900 spindles and 600 looms; in 1889, 49 mills, operating 82,400 spindles and 1,800 looms; in 1899, 91 mills, operating 257,800 spindles and 7,200 looms; in 1899, 181 mills, operating 1,199,258 spindles and 25,765 looms."

Col. Waddell was greeted with tremendous applause, and said, "I have the honor of introducing to you a gentleman, fresh from the field of battle, if such it may be termed, who will tell you what white supremacy and what negro domination in North Carolina means."

The Geography of the Country, the People and their Peculiar Characteristics as Viewed by Some of the Newspapers in the Land of the Dons—Danger Which Threatens the President and His Party from Certain Indian Tribes.

A young Chicagoan who is now making a tour of Spain on a bicycle has been vastly amused by reading some of the inflammatory articles in the Spanish papers and has made free translations of them for the delectation of his parents. Some of the newspapers rejoice mildly over the troubles this country has fallen heir to in its recent acquired possessions, while others fiercely insist that the rule of the United States over Porto Rico and the Philippines will be more autocratic than that exercised by the King of Spain.

SOME PHILOSOPHICAL ADVICE.

Seek peace and pursue it. Be cheerful—a light heart lives long. Don't worry. It never profits anything. Never despair. Lost hope is a fatal disease. Work like a man, but don't be worked to death. Spend less nervous energy each day than you make. Don't hurry. Too swift arrives as tardy as too slow. Simply—make your wants few—you will be happier. Sleep and rest abundantly—sleep is Nature's benediction. Avoid passion and excitement. A moment's anger may be fatal. If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them.

Count the fresh air day and night
