GOV. AYCOCK TO SPEAK

For Graded Schools in Henderson and Oxford Saturday, May 4th.

On Saturday, May 4th, Governor Aycock will deliver two educational addresses in order to aid in establishing Graded Schools in two of North Carolina's progressive towns.

Yesterday two editors were in Raleigh with invitations to this end. From Henderson came Mr. Thad R. Lear, who extended on behalf of the Board of Trustees of the Graded Schools, an invitation to Gov. Aycock to visit them and speak in the interest of education, as an election for the establishing of these schools is to be held on Monday.

From Oxford came Mr. John T. Britt, editor of the Oxford Public Ledger, on a similar mission, and for the same day.

Gov. Aycock accepted both invitations, although previous engagements prevented an earlier date than Saturday, May 4th. He will speak in Henderson at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and in Oxford at 8 o'clock in the evening.

His acceptance of these invitations is a large gathering of people in Henderson and Oxford next Saturday. Both Messrs. Manning and Britt are delighted at securing his acceptance, and Gov. Aycock is delighted to have an opportunity to speak for education in their town.

WOULD BE A GREAT CALAMITY.

High Carnival of Music, Mirth and Merriment at Cooper Opera House Tuesday and Wednesday Nights.

The Vivian De Monto Vaudeville Company gave two performances at Cooper Opera House, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. They had been advertised to appear Wednesday and Thursday nights instead, in consequence of which they had but a small audience the first night. They departed for a full house. The entertainment was high class throughout, and the speaking being exceptionally good.

Mr. Cooper is the largest individual stock holder and also president of both the cotton mills, thus giving him a double source of income from these institutions. He is, we believe, also the largest taxpayer in the county, and the largest property owner and heaviest tax payer in the county. And yet the Graded School has no stronger champion than this man.

The GOLD LEAF does not make this statement to show Mr. Cooper's spirit of selfishness, or to applaud his generosity, but to show the public that the community at large would prefer that his name be not used at all. But we do it to show the importance such men place upon public education in general, and the Graded School in particular.

The fact that the largest property owners and tax payers in the county are for it argues more eloquently in favor of the proposition than words alone.

But, says some one, it is easier for the rich man to pay $25 or $100 tax than it is for the poor man to pay $1.00 or $2.00. In answer to this we reply that with the Graded School we will be better able to pay the increased tax than to have no school and be exempt from such taxation.

The necessity—aye, the imperative duty—of providing adequate school facilities, the benefits derived from the Graded Schools, and the fact that they are too apparent to need arguing. Therefore, the cause of popular education, the perpetuation of the Graded Schools, the progress of the town and consequent welfare and prosperity of our people are the benefits of the school. Henderson takes no backward step.

Duty of the Adult Population to Train up the Rising Generation to Call Them Blessed—Plea in Behalf of the Graded Schools and General Education.

EDITOR GOLD LEAF:—Just 2,500 years ago the prophet Daniel placed his hands upon his knees and prayed: "Thy shall go to and forth through the earth, and shall increase in knowledge. The index of Daniel's prophetic vision must have pointed to the year of our redemption from the present generation as such facilities of a general going to and fro and for a general increase of knowledge were never offered to the world before, which of course is for the carrying out of special providential purposes for the benefit of the coming millennium age, and it should be understood that it is not irrelevant nor profitable to willfully place selfish obstructions in the way of the providential which it is the duty of all good Christians to have been watching the winding of Providence from the past, and to have all obstructions that may have a tendency to retard the wheels of progress. The system of education can be traced back to remote periods.
