he Newspapers Should Resent the Imposition Practiced Upon Them by the Politicians and Professional Office Seekers.

The newspapers of the South are gradually awakening to the imposition that has been practised upon them for so many weary years by the politicians and professional office-

The burden which they have borne because of it, here in North Carolina, if footed up at the end of a campaign at regular advertising rates, would appear almost incredible.

The politicians do not presume to ask like "favors" of people engaged in any other business, but have come to the point where they take it for granted that a newspaper must print column after column of purely advertising matter, proper, free-and many of them no longer ask it as a "favor," and do not even say "thank

They do not even stop there-some of them. For they are not only unappreciative, but in many cases positively ungrateful.

Their ingratitude, and worse, is not infrequently manifested by an abuse of newspapers.

Especially has this disposition been manifested in our General Assembly, when a little cross-roads politician who has secured an election to the Legislature through the permanent benefit and aid of his county newspaper, arises on the system. One is a in the House and brays his "indignaon Sense Medical Adviser" tion" to the Speaker and the lobbies paper-bound, for 21 one-cent | because some newspaper has told the

It is a page taken by the national Republican campaign committee and is devoted to Roosevelt. The Post is a weekly FRANCIS A. MACON, publication of wide circulation and the advertising in its columns is the most expensive in the country. No doubt the appearance of this advertisement is a signal for the beginning of extensive paid publicity on the part of the Republican national cemmittee. Four or eight years ago such purchase of space for po-litical advertisements was unheard of. Since that time the New York papers have printed more and more political DR. E. B. In our DR. F. S. HARRIS, tional Presidential candidate. In our opinion the Republican national committee has shown excellent judgment. The Democratic committee should not fail to enter on a similar campaign. Recognizing that this is the proper course to pursue, the Nashville American comments on the above extract as follows:

"There is no valid reason why national and State committees should not advertise their candidates and their speakers. These committees have no right to expect the newspapers to give over their columns to them. Newspapers contrib-ute their share toward the success of their party candidates. They often go to great expense to further the interests of their party, at the same time the party managers are spending money in ways that never benefit the candidate or the party. In Tennessee, for example, the respective party managers seem to think the newspapers should give them space for their announcements free of charge, yet they never hesitate to pay for printing hand-bills, hiring brass bands, etc., in the interest of their candidates and speakers. Whereupon the Atlanta Journal adds this truthful criticism:

"In the South our campaign committees go to work and raise a campaign fund. They spend this fund on stump speakers and in writing letters mainly. For the same amount of money they can reach double the number of voters through the newspapers. But your Southern politician argues that the newspapers will exploit the party nominees anyhow; that it is useless to spend money on them. They not only refuse to pay the newspapers anything for this service, but very often they solicit cam-paign contributions from them as well. In time this will be changed in the South. as it is now changing in the East."

TREATING; WORNOUT LAND.

Practical and Economical Method of Soil Improvement-How Mr. Blacknall Built Up Some Poor Farms That Were Almost Worthless.

orrespondence Progressive Farmer. Messrs. Editors: If having been the owner of poor land fits a man to write about poor land, and if he is competent in proportion to the pov-erty of the land, then I think I am the most competent man in North Carolina to discourse about poor land. Some years ago I bought some so poor that the ownership carried a distinct species of disgrace along with it. For time out of mind owners (and since the war successive tenants) had skinned that land, or tried to, for generally the land did the skinning, the tenants being poorer at harvest than at seed time.

The land lay convenient to me. It was free from rocks, hills and waste places. It was light and indeed somewhat given to sandiness and therefore pleasant to cultivate. bought it, giving the owner considerably less than one-half the price he paid for it a few years previously and set to work to make it productive. I did not intend for that land to break me as it was said to have served its former owners. Therefore I sought to proceed upon economical lines. Aware that of the three elements of fertility, ammonia, potash and phosphoric acid, that ammonia is both the most costly and the easiest to escape the soil, I decided to buy as little ammonia as possible, especially as it costs about three times as much as the other properties per pound. Of course I had to have ammonia, but I knew that I could get it without buying it at so much per ton. In get it free, as the process by which I got it, as will appear, did not cost me anything to get the ammo-nia added. Potash and phosphoric acid I also needed largely. These I had to buy, because there was no other way to get them into the soil.

The land was plowed and run off, in rows three feet apart. In these rows I sowed a mixture of 150 pounds of kainit and 100 pounds of acid phosphate per acre. Listing on this furrow by a furrow from each side, I then split open the list and also threw open the furrow for the rose. In this furrow I sowed evenly the formula (which consists of Buchu, Hydrangea, Mandrake, Yellow Dock, Dandelion, Sarsaparilla, early in June cow peas at the rate of one bushel to the acre and covered has been freely published them lightly with a small tooth cultivator. During the summer, as needed, they were given three plowings with a small tooth cultivator, no hoe work being required.

The result was a fair crop of cow vines for forage.

In September I plowed under the stubble and applied broadcast the same quantity and the same kind of fertilizer used for the peas. This I harrowed in with a disc harrow, leaving a perfect seed bed. On this I was suffering terribly with indigestion and a perfect seed bed. On this I leaving a perfect seed bed. On this I sowed annual (crimson) clover at the rate of three gallons to the acre and dragged it in with a brush.

The following spring the clover yielded a moderate crop of forage, the land being yet too poor to raise clover with much success.

In June I plowed under the crimson clover stubble again and drilled in peas, using the same fertilizer and the same mode of culture as the preceding year. The autumn showed how my land was improving. The crop of both peas and pea vines was good, I might almost say excellent.

In September the pea stubble was the preceding state of the peas and pea vines was good, I might almost say excellent.

again sown, the treatment being the same as that of the fall before. The next spring gave a very good crop of clover hay, indeed. This I again followed with peas, the cultivation and manuring being the same as for the two former crops. The crop of peas and forage that came that summer was a wonder. Its equal had never been seen in this neighborhood. The Big Gampaign Is Opened.
